4 Arrested For Death Of Negro

FBI Says Slayers Of Penn in Klan

ATHENS, Ga. (AP) — Four white men were arrested by the FBI Thursday night in connection with the slaying of a Washington, D.C., Negro educator who was killed by a shotgun blast as he drove through a rural Georgia area.

U. S. Commissioner Girard Hawkins said one of the four — James S. Lackey, 28 — admitted complicity in the death of Lemuel Penn, an Army reserve lieutenant colonel slain July 11. Hawkins said Lackey implicated the others.

Held in Jail

The FBI identified the men as Ku Klux Klansmen. They were held in jail under bonds of $25,000 each after arraignment before Hawkins on charges filed under the new Civil Rights Act.

State authorities looked into the possibility of filing murder charges against Lackey, a gas station attendant; Herbert Guest, 37, a garage operator; Cecil William Myers, a yarn-picker and laborer, and Joseph Howard Sims, 41, a machinist, all of Athens.

A deputy sheriff from Madison County appeared at the Clarke County jail here with murder warrants, but said no information on the warrants would be disclosed immediately.

Both Gov. Carl Sanders and Solicitor General (prosecutor) Clete Johnson, whose judicial circuit includes Madison County where Penn was slain, promised state court action if they determined the men were responsible.

To Check Evidence

"The state most certainly will prosecute the murder charge very vigorously if the evidence is there," said Johnson. He said he first would have to determine what evidence the FBI has.

The federal charge against the men carries a maximum penalty of a $3,000 fine and 10 years imprisonment while a first-degree murder charge filed under state laws can carry the death penalty.

FBI Director J. Edgar Hoover announced the arrests in Washinton climaxing an intensive three-week hunt for the slayers.

2 Shotgun Blasts

Penn was killed when a vehicle pulled alongside and two shotgun blasts were fired into his car. One blast struck him in the left side of the neck and he died instantly.

The FBI complaint said three of the men, Lackey, Myers and Sims "did shoot and kill" Penn. All four were charged with conspiring to "injure, oppress, threaten and intimidate" Penn and his companions, Charles E. Brown and John D. Howard, also reserve officers.

Hoover said Sims was arrested at the Athens headquarters of the Clarke County Klavern, No. 244, of the United Klans of America, Inc., Knights of the Ku Klux Klan.

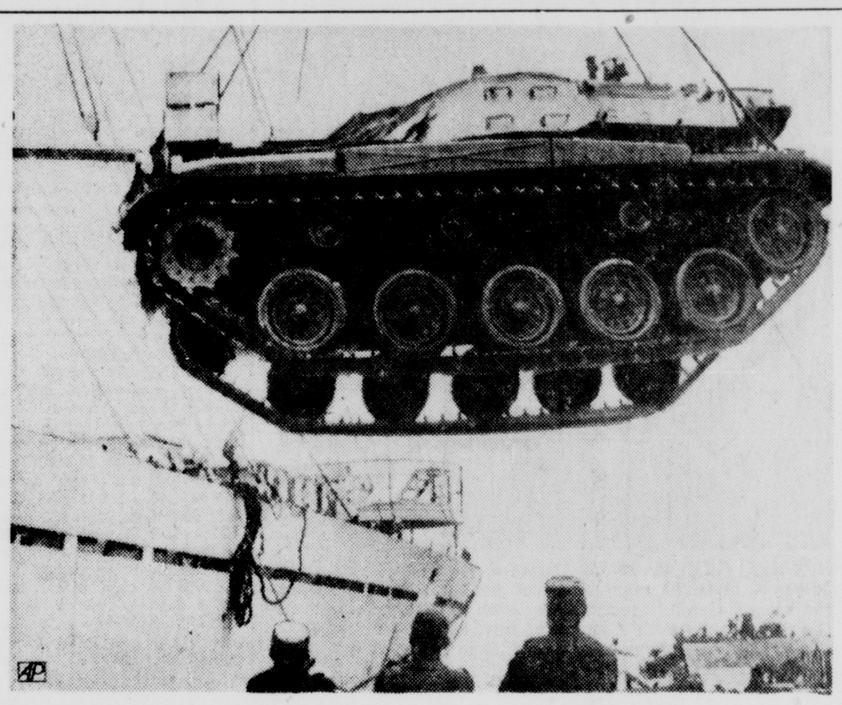

Gather at Garage

Hoover said Guest's garage has been a frequent gathering place for members of the Klan. He said Guest and two other men were arrested June 21, 1964, in a shooting incident when gun shots were fired into a Negro residence in Athens.

Subsequently, Guest was found guilty of disorderly conduct and sentenced to serve 100 days or pay $150 fine. He paid the fine.

Congress For LBJ Over Asia

House for Move, 2 Senate Blasts

WASHINGTON (AP) — Congress voted overwhelming approval today of the resolution backing President Johnson's actions in the Southeast Asian crisis.

First the House, on a 414-0 roll call, and then the Senate adopted the resolution in a display to the world of bipartisan unity behind Johnson's firm military response to attacks by Communist North Vietnamese on U.S. warships.

The Senate vote was 88 to 2.

In the Senate, there were protests against the resolution from Sens. Wayne Morse, D-Ore., and Ernest Gruening, D-Alaska.

Morse said it was giving Johnson "blanket authority to wage war." Gruening argued, as did Morse, that "All Viet Nam is not worth the life of a single American boy."

House Unanimous

In the House, there was no outright dissent, but Rep. Adam Clayton Powell, D-N.Y., voted "present" when his name was called.

Powell, asked by newsmen to explain his vote, said: "I have always been a pacifist. I have been for 34 years as a minister. But when my country is absolutely in danger as in time of war, then I will support it."

The resolution had the support of Republican as well as Democratic leaders.

"This is one of those occasions when all of us, whatever our political persuasion, unite behind our commander in chief," said Rep. Frances P.

Manpower, Mobilized Resources

Coming Weeks to Be Vital: Khanh

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP)—Premier Nguyen Khanh decreed a state of emergency today and ordered general mobilization of manpower and resources with a declaration that "the coming weeks will be decisive" in South Viet Nam's struggle against the Communists.

Tense Night on Frontier

Military courts were empowered in this offshoot of the Tonkin Gulf crisis to impose summary death sentences on all terrorists, saboteurs and black-market speculators, with no right of appeal.

A tense night passed quietly on the northern frontier and American advisers with the Vietnamese 1st Division in that danger zone said they doubted that the Communist North Vietnamese would attempt an invasion.

"If they had moved in anger, they would have hit us one way or another by now," said Maj. William McMullen of Long Island, N.Y.

But reinforced defense units kept up a sharp watch all along the 50-mile border, which cuts across inland mountains to Laos from a swampy plain on the South China Sea. Tanks, artillery and camouflaged riflemen stood guard aground; U.S. reconnaissance jets sped constantly overhead.

Pursues War of Words

Across the way, North Vietnamese regulars presumably kept a similar watch. At North Viet Nam's front-line posts visible from 1st Division positions, people could be seen moving about freely.

Behind the Red lines, the Hanoi regime pursued a word war against the United States and South Viet Nam.

Radio Hanoi attributed to the Viet Cong command in South Viet Nam a broadcast statement calling for intensified guerrilla action.

North Viet Nam's cabinet, without mentioning the damage incurred in American retaliatory strikes against North Vietnamese PT boats and bases Wednesday, said, "All provocations and aggressions against the Democratic Republic of (North) Viet Nam will certainly be defeated by the strength of the entire Vietnamese people."

Differ on Activity

Intelligence sources in Hong Kong and Formosa offered different ideas about Red China's activity in the crisis.

Nationalist Chinese military sources on Formosa said Peking sent nearly 100 Soviet-built MIG fighters to Hanoi Thursday.

In British-run Hong Kong, a trading center considerably closer to China, U.S. military intelligence sources said they

Council Votes Down Walks Near School 7-5

Mayor John J. Schwenk, noting defeat Thursday night by the Common Council, in special session, of a $6,000 bond issue for sidewalk and curbing near the new John F. Kennedy School, today said he will shbmit a request again in September, hoping that "public opinion will alter the position taken by those aldermen, who opposed the appropriation."

Seven alderman, including two Republicans, Donald P. Tucker, Fourth Ward, and Anthony J. Alecca, Fifth Ward, opposed the measure, and five voted for it. Robert Gallo (D) Ninth Ward, was absent. The council is made up of seven Republicans, five Democrats, and one Democrat-Liberal.

Those opposing installation of sidewalks and curbing on Gross Street and a section of Delaware Avenue near the new school, argued that the city should be required to pay 25 per cent of the cost, instead of imposing all of it on the taxpayers in special assessment. It was held that on some occasions in the past taxpayers were assessed only 75 per cent.

They're Confused: Armater

Against the claim that only 75 per cent had been charged in the past Alderman Raymond Armater (R) 11th Ward said that those making such claims were either "confused, or they are using several unusual, and probably illegal exceptions of the past, to argue their point.

Certain type street work, he noted, has been assessed on a 75-25 per cent basis, "in accordance with the city charter."

Such, he said, dealt with construction of new streets and installation of sewers.

Those opposing, he felt, might be confused with this type work or with ,"special instances when real estate developers have put up several square blocks of homes, and have entered into a package agreement with the city to provide new streets, sewers, sidewalks and curbs, at a 75-25 per cent basis." Even some of these, he felt, might have been illegal under charter provisions.

Cites Mary's Avenue

If he were a property owner who had paid full cost for sidewalks and curbs, he said, he would be disturbed about the attempt to make an exception of the downtown project, and added: "If I were a property owner on Mary's Avenue, who had just finished paying for a sidewalk put in for the children attending the Sophie Finn School, I would be very much upset, if my alderman voted for special privileges for the property owners on Gross Street and Delaware Avenue."

After citing the property owner's responsibility for the repair and maintenance of sidewalks, he held that the important factor to be dealt with now "is whether or not you are going to provide the necessary funds to give the children of the new John F. Kennedy School, the sidewalks and curbing, which is vital to their safety."

Mayor Schwenk, in his statement today, said:

U.S. Shares View With Thant That U.N. Cannot Act

WASHINGTON (AP) — U.S. officials agreed today with Secretary-General U Thant's view that the U.N. Security Council is not the unit to bring about a Southeast Asian settlement now.

Thant voiced this opinion, and tossed in some other ideas about the Viet Nam crisis, in a day of talks Thursday with President Johnson, Secretary of State Dean Rusk and other high officials.

Gets Gala Treatment

Johnson climaxed Thant's one-day visit with a gala White House banquet. The special entertainment and honors, normally accorded only to a chief of state, were designed to stress U.S. support for the United Nations.

On the business side, U.S. sources said the talks on a variety of U.N. problems generally went well and on most items the U.S. government position was in stride with Thant's.

Thant told newsmen that "for the moment, as I see it, the Security Council cannot be usefully involved in a settlement" of the Southeast Asia difficulty. This was so, he said, because the council has limited authority under the U.N. charter, because of the "peculiar" problems in the Southeast Asian picture and because "one of the parties (North Viet Nam) is not a member" of the United Nations.

U.S. officials said today that the United States asked for U.N. Security Council consideration of the North Viet Nam PT boat

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Barry Goldwater, the Republican presidential nominee, has spurned the support of people who act "in a violent way against law and order."

"We don't want the backing of the Ku Klux Klan and I don't think we're going to get it," the Arizonan said Thursday in response to reporters' questions. "It's been a Democratic organization all its history."

At another point the senator declared: "I want the support of anybody in this country who hasn't advocated the violent overthrow of the government or who hasn't acted in a violent way against law and order."

Goldwater was questioned by reporters at Gettysburg, Pa., airport after he and running mate William E. Miller of New York conferred for two hours with former President Dwight D. Eisenhower and former Vice President Richard M. Nixon.

"He's very enthusiastic and very anxious to get going," Goldwater said of Eisenhower. He said the former president already has two speaking dates — in Illinois and Oklahoma — and there may be others.

Vols Elect Tonight, Will Parade Saturday

With a record breaking attendance of fire officials and volunteer firefighters, the 29th annual three-day convention of the Ulster County Volunteer Firemen's Association opened Thursday night with a banquet.

400 at Banquet

The event, attended by more than 400, was held at Sportsmen's Park, Rosendale, and it proved the most successful in the history of the organization, a spokesman said.

The annual business meeting will be held tonight at the Bloomington Firehouse, starting at 8 o'clock. Fire Chief Oscar Hahn will welcome delegates. Election of officers and reading of annual reports by incumbent officers, will be on the agenda.

The parade, with 47 fire companies and auxiliaries and 21 musical units—comprising more than 2,000 persons—will step off at 5 p. m. on Saturday, and it promises to be the largest the UCVFA has ever conducted.

Former Fire Commissioner Edward Thompson of the New York City Fire Department, who was expected to be the guest speaker at tonight's session, has informed the committee he will be unable to attend. Thompson, who will be succeeded in the fire commissioner's office by Chief Fire Marshal Martin Scott, a 40-year career man and one of the nation's foremost experts on arson and sabotage, was designated last week as Democratic candidate for Supreme Court in Queens.

Guest speaker at last night's banquet was Fire Chief Charles Stressler of New York City, who noted problems encountered by firemen in the metropolitan area, and gave a vivid account of the recent serious fire in the New York subway in the 42nd Street area.

Other Speakers

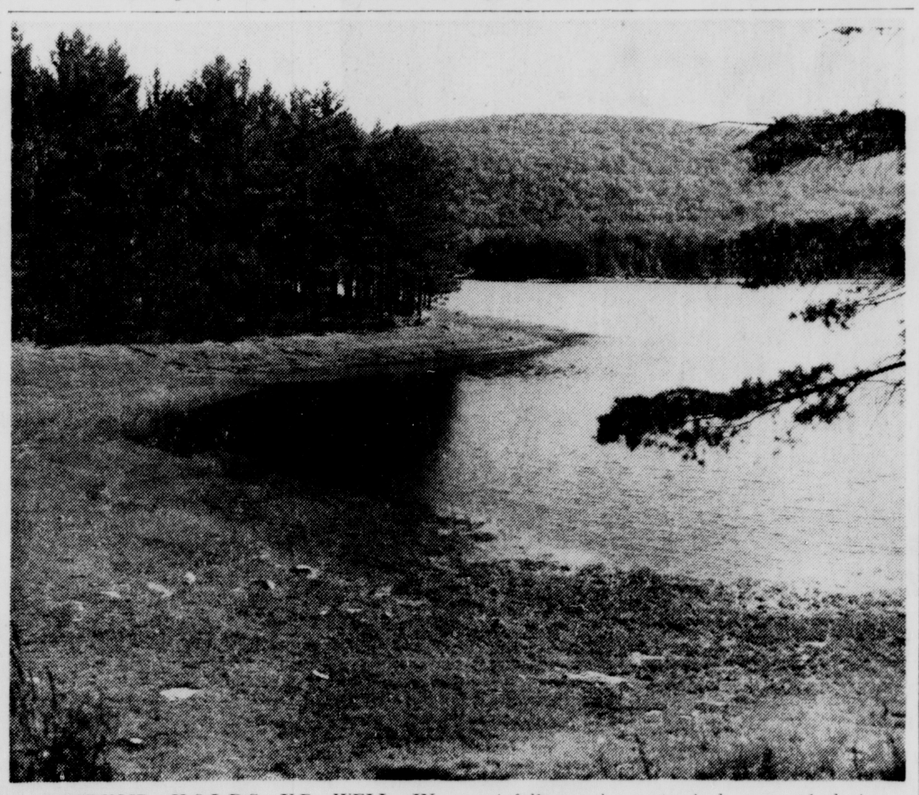

Other speakers were George Memmen, supervisor of the Division of Repairs and Transportation for the New York City Fire Department and Albert Belle Isle, a trustee of the Firemen's Home of the State of New York, who noted the operation of the home, and invited the firefighters to make frequent visits there.

Guests included Charles M. Fales, secretary of the Hudson Valley Volunteer Firemen's Association; Colin Jackson, a past president and financial secretary of the HVVFA; Fred Sauer, grand marshal of tomorrow's parade and past president of the Bloomington Fire Department; Joseph Wicker, president of the Orange County Volunteer Firemen's Association and Paul Blanchard, of the law committee of the Orange County association.

Entertainment and refreshments followed the annual banquet.

Vols' president, Herbert Faurote and Charles Peterson of Bloomington are co-general chairmen of this year's convention committee. Hosts for the three-day event are the Bloomington, Binnewater, Cottekill, Rosendale and High Falls fire

RESERVOIR HOLDS UP WELL IN DROUGHT—Cooper Lake, the city's main reservoir, despite a drought nearly as draining as that which badly depleted the reservoir supply in 1957, is holding up well in gross storage, Edmund T. Cloonan, water department superintendent, reported at a water board meeting Thursday night. Despite the drought, he said, the reservoir, as of July 31, was at 910 million gallons, or approximately 80 per cent of full capacity. Measured from spillway crest, it was 5.35 feet down (above) as compared to 6.35 feet in the drought year of 1957 at the end of July. In the latter year, however, it was down 17.45 feet in October. Rainfall, Cloonan noted, "continued deficient for the third successive month. Although July rainfall of 2.19 inches, exceeded the totals of both May and June, it was still over two inches below the 38-year average. The four-month total for April, May, June and July of 8.26 inches, was 4.84 inches below the normal for this period. The last appreciable rainfall on the watershed occurred during a four-day storm of April 18 through 21 of this year." A comparison of the withdrawal from the reservoir during the drought year of 1957, and this year, he said, "reveals that city consumption in 1957 exceeded 1964 by almost 220 million gallons, which, at present consumption rate of about four million gallons per day, would be a 55-day supply. Metering of the city in 1960, and modern conservation methods, now practiced by commercial and industrial consumers, were prime factors in this drastic reduction in city water usage. Although the present drought situation has not been cause for alarm at the present time, with regard to water supply, a close check of water storage will be maintained, and the public will be kept informed of any and all changes, if the situation should warrant it." Coonan noted that the June-July rainfall a year ago was 9.13 inches, compared to 3.84 inches this year. The latter figure is close to the 3.49 inches in the drought year of 1957.

SLA Lifts Lid, Will Issue New Licenses

NEW YORK (AP) — The State Liquor Authority (SLA) has lifted the 16-year-old moratorium that limited the number of liquor stores in the state to 4,300.

The SLA says that starting next Dec. 1 it will issue up to 2,000 new store licenses a year.

Lifting of the store limit and other actions announced by the SLA Thursday were in line with revisions of the liquor control laws enacted at a special session of the Legislature last April. Gov. Rockefeller had pressed for the law revisions after investigation of charges of graft and other corruption in SLA operations.

The SLA imposed the limit on the number of package stores in 1948, primarily to combat cut-throat competition in the industry.

The program putting the law revisions into effect was announced by SLA Chairman Donald S. Hostetter, a former FBI agent who was named chairman by Rockefeller after the scandals.

The program for relocating liquor stores and issuing additional licenses contains these points:

— Effective immediately, the SLA will accept applications for moving package stores to other locations within the same county or within the same city.

— Starting Oct. 1, it will accept applications for moving stores from one county to another or from New York City to spots outside the city.

Landfill Method Ordered By Columbia Health Dept.

Owners of a dump in the Town of Ghent have been informed by the Columbia County Health Department that immediate action must be taken to convert the site to a landfill operation.

A landfill project, which has been a controversial subject in Kingston recently, came to a head Wednesday night when the Board of Public Works passed a resolution directing the superintendent of public works to proceed with preparation of a sanitary landfill site in swamplands of Kingston Point.

Mayor John J. Schwenk on Thursday said, "as of this moment, the city has secured all agreements, approvals, and appropriations necessary to proceed with its plans for a sanitary landfill—land reclamation project in the Fifth Ward."

The Columbia county dump is now being used by the townships of Ghent and Chatham and the Village of Chatham as a garbage disposal site. The county health department reportedly has forwarded a letter to Mrs. Sophie Talarico directing her to desist from open burning of refuse in violation of air pollution regulations.

The state has mandated that

35 Ulster Growers Sign for Rainmaking

Pledges from more than 35 Ulster County growers Thursday night signaled strong support for rainmaking operations which have already been set in motion.

Generators releasing silver iodide smoke into clouds at strategic locations in Ulster County will have been installed by late today. The firm of W. E. Howell Associates of Lexington, Mass., was retained for the project.

Melford G. Hurd of Hurd Cold storage plant at Clintondale said pledges had been received from more than 35 growers to support the program at Thursday night's meeting at the plant. He said more farmers and fruit growers are expected to sign up for the program.

The area to be affected is from Newburgh to Highland and west to Shawangunk mountain range.

Hurd reported that Howell Associates under the direction of Anthony Lamb, meteorologist had set up 10 generators Wednesday. Generators affecting Ulster County are being set up at Minnewaska, Mohonk, Washingtonville and Hurley.

Although results are difficult to attribute to rainmaking operations, it is significant to note that at least 10 generators of Howell Associates were in operation during Wednesday when Poughkeepsie was deluged with rain and hailstones.

Unofficial reports recorded 1.50 inches of rain Wednesday afternoon in the center of the city. However, at Central Hudson Gas and Electric Corp., plant on South Road only .23 of an inch was measured.

Hurd said Highland area experienced a good rainfall Wednesday afternoon, but the Clintondale area received only a light shower.

If the cloud formations are cooperative today, results may prove more beneficial to the drought-parched farm lands.

Dutchess and Columbia started in the rain stimulation program on Wednesday.

Howell Associates was hired earlier this summer by groups in Saratoga, Montgomery and Washington Counties and part of Rensseler, to stimulate rain. It was reported that area received between two and three inches of rain during a 20-day rainmaking program.

The event, attended by more than 400, was held at Sportsmen's Park, Rosendale, and it proved the most successful in the history of the organization, a spokesman said.

The annual business meeting will be held tonight at the Bloomington Firehouse, starting at 8 o'clock. Fire Chief Oscar Hahn will welcome delegates. Election of officers and reading of annual reports by incumbent officers, will be on the agenda.

The parade, with 47 fire companies and auxiliaries and 21 musical units—comprising more than 2,000 persons—will step off at 5 p. m. on Saturday, and it promises to be the largest the UCVFA has ever conducted.

Former Fire Commissioner Edward Thompson of the New York City Fire Department, who was expected to be the guest speaker at tonight's session, has informed the committee he will be unable to attend. Thompson, who will be succeeded in the fire commissioner's office by Chief Fire Marshal Martin Scott, a 40-year career man and one of the nation's foremost experts on arson and sabotage, was designated last week as Democratic candidate for Supreme Court in Queens.

Guest speaker at last night's banquet was Fire Chief Charles Stressler of New York City, who noted problems encountered by firemen in the metropolitan area, and gave a vivid account of the recent serious fire in the New York subway in the 42nd Street area.

Other Speakers

Other speakers were George Memmen, supervisor of the Division of Repairs and Transportation for the New York City Fire Department and Albert Belle Isle, a trustee of the Firemen's Home of the State of New York, who noted the operation of the home, and invited the firefighters to make frequent visits there.

Guests included Charles M. Fales, secretary of the Hudson Valley Volunteer Firemen's Association; Colin Jackson, a past president and financial secretary of the HVVFA; Fred Sauer, grand marshal of tomorrow's parade and past president of the Bloomington Fire Department; Joseph Wicker, president of the Orange County Volunteer Firemen's Association and Paul Blanchard, of the law committee of the Orange County association.

Entertainment and refreshments followed the annual banquet.

Vols' president, Herbert Faurote and Charles Peterson of Bloomington are co-general chairmen of this year's convention committee. Hosts for the three-day event are the Bloomington, Binnewater, Cottekill, Rosendale and High Falls fire

Manpower, Mobilized Resources

Coming Weeks to Be Vital: Khanh

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP)—Premier Nguyen Khanh decreed a state of emergency today and ordered general mobilization of manpower and resources with a declaration that "the coming weeks will be decisive" in South Viet Nam's struggle against the Communists.

Tense Night on Frontier

Military courts were empowered in this offshoot of the Tonkin Gulf crisis to impose summary death sentences on all terrorists, saboteurs and black-market speculators, with no right of appeal.

A tense night passed quietly on the northern frontier and American advisers with the Vietnamese 1st Division in that danger zone said they doubted that the Communist North Vietnamese would attempt an invasion.

"If they had moved in anger, they would have hit us one way or another by now," said Maj. William McMullen of Long Island, N.Y.

But reinforced defense units kept up a sharp watch all along the 50-mile border, which cuts across inland mountains to Laos from a swampy plain on the South China Sea. Tanks, artillery and camouflaged riflemen stood guard aground; U.S. reconnaissance jets sped constantly overhead.

Pursues War of Words

Across the way, North Vietnamese regulars presumably kept a similar watch. At North Viet Nam's front-line posts visible from 1st Division positions, people could be seen moving about freely.

Behind the Red lines, the Hanoi regime pursued a word war against the United States and South Viet Nam.

Radio Hanoi attributed to the Viet Cong command in South Viet Nam a broadcast statement calling for intensified guerrilla action.

North Viet Nam's cabinet, without mentioning the damage incurred in American retaliatory strikes against North Vietnamese PT boats and bases Wednesday, said, "All provocations and aggressions against the Democratic Republic of (North) Viet Nam will certainly be defeated by the strength of the entire Vietnamese people."

Differ on Activity

Intelligence sources in Hong Kong and Formosa offered different ideas about Red China's activity in the crisis.

Nationalist Chinese military sources on Formosa said Peking sent nearly 100 Soviet-built MIG fighters to Hanoi Thursday.

In British-run Hong Kong, a trading center considerably closer to China, U.S. military intelligence sources said they

SLA Lifts Lid, Will Issue New Licenses

NEW YORK (AP) — The State Liquor Authority (SLA) has lifted the 16-year-old moratorium that limited the number of liquor stores in the state to 4,300.

The SLA says that starting next Dec. 1 it will issue up to 2,000 new store licenses a year.

Lifting of the store limit and other actions announced by the SLA Thursday were in line with revisions of the liquor control laws enacted at a special session of the Legislature last April. Gov. Rockefeller had pressed for the law revisions after investigation of charges of graft and other corruption in SLA operations.

The SLA imposed the limit on the number of package stores in 1948, primarily to combat cut-throat competition in the industry.

The program putting the law revisions into effect was announced by SLA Chairman Donald S. Hostetter, a former FBI agent who was named chairman by Rockefeller after the scandals.

The program for relocating liquor stores and issuing additional licenses contains these points:

— Effective immediately, the SLA will accept applications for moving package stores to other locations within the same county or within the same city.

— Starting Oct. 1, it will accept applications for moving stores from one county to another or from New York City to spots outside the city.

Landfill Method Ordered By Columbia Health Dept.

Owners of a dump in the Town of Ghent have been informed by the Columbia County Health Department that immediate action must be taken to convert the site to a landfill operation.

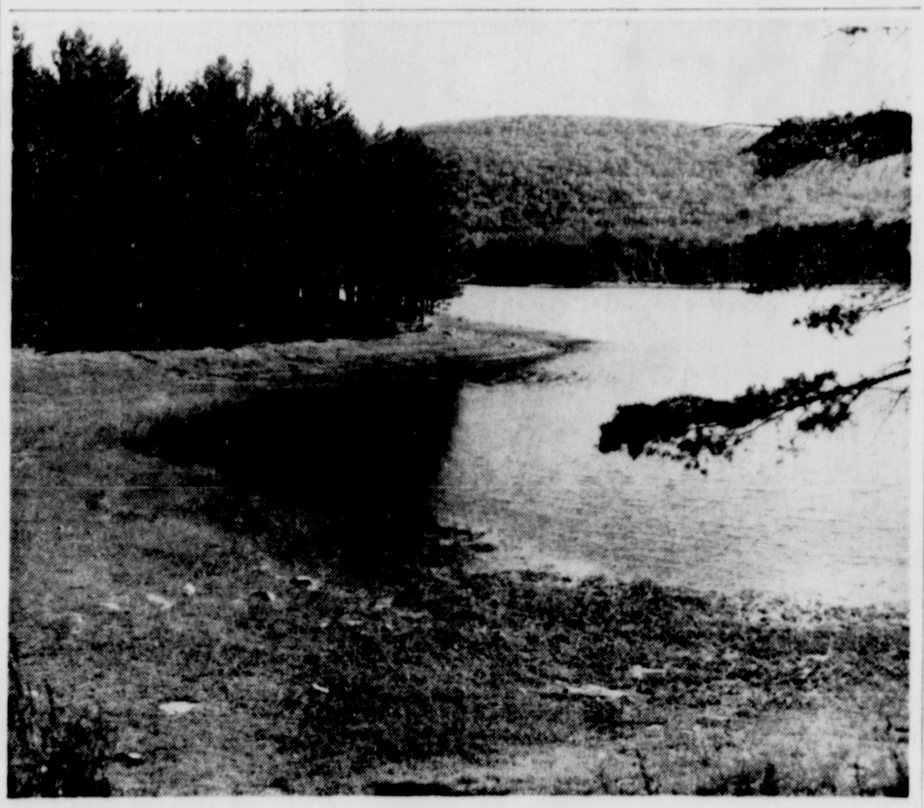

A landfill project, which has been a controversial subject in Kingston recently, came to a head Wednesday night when the Board of Public Works passed a resolution directing the superintendent of public works to proceed with preparation of a sanitary landfill site in swamplands of Kingston Point.

Mayor John J. Schwenk on Thursday said, "as of this moment, the city has secured all agreements, approvals, and appropriations necessary to proceed with its plans for a sanitary landfill—land reclamation project in the Fifth Ward."

The Columbia county dump is now being used by the townships of Ghent and Chatham and the Village of Chatham as a garbage disposal site. The county health department reportedly has forwarded a letter to Mrs. Sophie Talarico directing her to desist from open burning of refuse in violation of air pollution regulations.

The state has mandated that

RESERVOIR HOLDS UP WELL IN DROUGHT—Cooper Lake, the city's main reservoir, despite a drought nearly as draining as that which badly depleted the reservoir supply in 1957, is holding up well in gross storage, Edmund T. Cloonan, water department superintendent, reported at a water board meeting Thursday night. Despite the drought, he said, the reservoir, as of July 31, was at 910 million gallons, or approximately 80 per cent of full capacity. Measured from spillway crest, it was 5.35 feet down (above) as compared to 6.35 feet in the drought year of 1957 at the end of July. In the latter year, however, it was down 17.45 feet in October. Rainfall, Cloonan noted, "continued deficient for the third successive month. Although July rainfall of 2.19 inches, exceeded the totals of both May and June, it was still over two inches below the 38-year average. The four-month total for April, May, June and July of 8.26 inches, was 4.84 inches below the normal for this period. The last appreciable rainfall on the watershed occurred during a four-day storm of April 18 through 21 of this year." A comparison of the withdrawal from the reservoir during the drought year of 1957, and this year, he said, "reveals that city consumption in 1957 exceeded 1964 by almost 220 million gallons, which, at present consumption rate of about four million gallons per day, would be a 55-day supply. Metering of the city in 1960, and modern conservation methods, now practiced by commercial and industrial consumers, were prime factors in this drastic reduction in city water usage. Although the present drought situation has not been cause for alarm at the present time, with regard to water supply, a close check of water storage will be maintained, and the public will be kept informed of any and all changes, if the situation should warrant it." Coonan noted that the June-July rainfall a year ago was 9.13 inches, compared to 3.84 inches this year. The latter figure is close to the 3.49 inches in the drought year of 1957.

35 Ulster Growers Sign for Rainmaking

Pledges from more than 35 Ulster County growers Thursday night signaled strong support for rainmaking operations which have already been set in motion.

Generators releasing silver iodide smoke into clouds at strategic locations in Ulster County will have been installed by late today. The firm of W. E. Howell Associates of Lexington, Mass., was retained for the project.

Melford G. Hurd of Hurd Cold storage plant at Clintondale said pledges had been received from more than 35 growers to support the program at Thursday night's meeting at the plant. He said more farmers and fruit growers are expected to sign up for the program.

The area to be affected is from Newburgh to Highland and west to Shawangunk mountain range.

Hurd reported that Howell Associates under the direction of Anthony Lamb, meteorologist had set up 10 generators Wednesday. Generators affecting Ulster County are being set up at Minnewaska, Mohonk, Washingtonville and Hurley.

Although results are difficult to attribute to rainmaking operations, it is significant to note that at least 10 generators of Howell Associates were in operation during Wednesday when Poughkeepsie was deluged with rain and hailstones.

Unofficial reports recorded 1.50 inches of rain Wednesday afternoon in the center of the city. However, at Central Hudson Gas and Electric Corp., plant on South Road only .23 of an inch was measured.

Hurd said Highland area experienced a good rainfall Wednesday afternoon, but the Clintondale area received only a light shower.

If the cloud formations are cooperative today, results may prove more beneficial to the drought-parched farm lands.

Dutchess and Columbia started in the rain stimulation program on Wednesday.

Howell Associates was hired earlier this summer by groups in Saratoga, Montgomery and Washington Counties and part of Rensseler, to stimulate rain. It was reported that area received between two and three inches of rain during a 20-day rainmaking program.

Cornell Scientists Study Buzzing Beetles

ITHACA, N.Y. (AP) — Beetle buzzing is bugging the Boy Scouts and Cornell University scientists are studying the buzzing beetles.

University entomologists said Thursday they were doing research on small beetles that crawl into the ear and cause severe pain and create a buzzing sound.

The bettles, the researchers noted, actually would crawl into any ear, but the Scouts make their ears more available to the little creatures by sleeping in tents and lying on the ground.

Jailed After Raid

BAKERSFIELD, Calif. (AP) Federal, state and Kern County authorities raided the home of 93-year-old Otis Sledge Thursday to climax a three-month investigation.

They found 15 gallons of moonshine corn whisky and 250 empty bottles.

Killed in Car Mishap

AUBURN, N.Y. (AP)—Eldred C. Emerson, 41, of Auburn, was killed late Thursday night when his car left Route 34 and rolled over several times about seven miles south of this Finger Lakes city.

Congress About to Agree On Kind of Wilderness Bill

By BENNETT WOLFE

WASHINGTON (AP) — After years of consideration and controversy, Congress is about to agree on something called the wilderness bill.

What's it all about?

It is a bill that would provide for preservation of a vast system of wilderness areas in as nearly their natural state as possible. Soothing of men's souls is one of the objectives.

The stated purpose is to keep for present and future generations areas of unspoiled, pristine wilderness, unmarred by roads, buildings, automobiles or motorboats.

Systems of trails would provide access for hikers, mountain climbers, hunters, fishermen and—as Sen. Frank Church, D-Idaho, once put it in Senate debate — for "all those who find, in high and lonely places, a refreshment of the spirit and life's closest communion with God."

Only minor differences remain to be smoothed out between bills passed by both Houses and Senate before Congress sends the Wilderness Act of 1964 to the White House for President Johnson's certain approval.

Lands on List

What lands would be included in the system? Initially, more than 9 million acres of National Forest lands, principally in Wyoming, Montana, California, Idaho, New Mexico, Washington, Oregon,Arizona, Colorado, Minnesota and Nevada. An additional 5 million acres, including some forest lands in North Carolina and New Hampshire, may be added later.

Since the Forest Service, an agency of the Agriculture Department, now has control of the areas, why is the legislation needed? Because, in the words of Rep. John P. Saylor, R-Pa., "such areas now enjoy only the protection of the secretary of agriculture, who at some future time could, by the stroke of the pen, remove all or part of such areas" from what protection they now enjoy.

What about commercial activities in the wilderness areas? Provision is made for commercial services necessary "for activities which are proper for realizing the recreational or other wilderness purposes."

There Are Opponents

Who opposed the legislation? Such groups as livestock grazers, minerals prospectors, miners and loggers. They feared loss of rights to use of federal lands.

What of their rights under the Wilderness Act? Provision is made for such activities under controls designed to keep them compatible with preservation of the wilderness character.

What about the cost? The legislation does not call for any money. It would simply give statutory protection to existing wilderness areas, establishing a national policy to be carried out by existing agencies. Congress would have the power, however, to vote future appropriations for acquisition of privately owned lands within the boundaries of any wilderness area.

Today's Business Mirror

By SAM DAWSON

AP Business News Analyst

NEW YORK (AP) — Americans suddenly are showing more zeal in repaying old debts and less enthusiasm for taking on new ones.

Since World War II especially, installment credit has become a way of life for more and more American families. Can this be changing? Or so the latest figures, surprising to some, reveal just a passing readjustment before a new sprint in extending the "enjoy now — pay later" vogue?

Less On-the-Cuff

The Federal Reserve Board reports that in June on-the-cuff purchases had their slowest growth in nine months. And repayments of old loans is termed quite high. The board also calls cash payments in department stores more active than just a few months back.

The U.S. Treasury joins in with a report that government savings bond sales in July rose above the June figures.

The Federal Reserve Board of New York adds that in addition to paying old bills, consumers are saving a large portion of the federal income tax cut.

The U.S. Census Bureau this week also has revised its earlier figures on retail sales in June. Earlier it had estimated they set a record. Now it finds they fell slightly below sales in May. But the $71 million cut in the previous figures still leaves retail sales in June at an impressive $21,675,000,000 and retailers are confident that sales will rise this fall.

While consumers were spending the near record amount in June in the stores, they were also putting out $5,029,000,000 to repay their installment debt. The Fedeal Reserve Board terms the average repayments in the second quarter of the year "the best on record."

The wonderment arises because in the first three months of the year there was a big jump in outstanding consumer credit and also in retail sales. Most of this period was before the income tax cut went into effect. The increase in take-home pay was supposed to pep up both activities markedly.

Trend Is Watched

Since then, neither sales nor installment credit expanded as had been predicted.

Extensions of installment credit in June came to $5.4 billion. But taking into account the repayments, this brought total consumer installment credit outstanding to $55.9 billion, up only $370 million from May. This was the smallest gain since the $341 million last September.

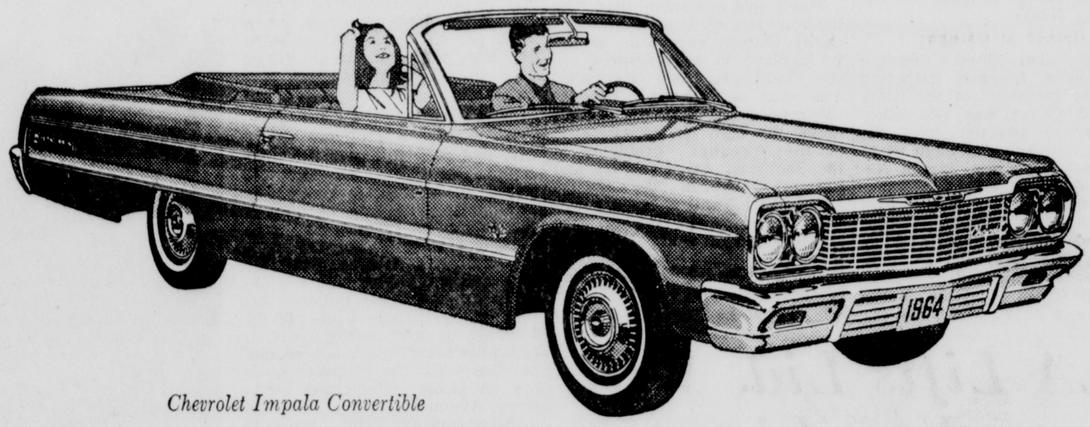

And it's the trend that businessmen are watching just now, more than the record total. They know that Americans owe a great deal which they expect to repay at regular intervals. What the businessmen are watching is how fast, or how slow, this total is growing.

Do You Remember by Sophie Miller

John Reichert of 159 Hunter Street brought in an interesting item to show me. It was in an old wooden frame, with wooden back, and square nails. The frame was about 28 by 33 inches. It is an illustrated coverage of the scenes and incidents of the life of Gen. James A. Garfield, who had been assassinated. This large picture was copyrighted by J. W. Sheehy of New York in 1881. Garfield was the 20th president of the United States. He was born in Orange, Ohio on Nov. 19, 1831 and died in Elberon, N.J., Sept. 19, 1881. There is a handsome portrait of President Garfield, also of his wife and mother, children and other relatives. The title of the picture is "From the cradle to the grave" showing him in his youth, his home, Hiram College telling about his German and Dutch origin. I wish that we had kept the DeWall Tavern for display of such historical finds, until the owners sold them. I enjoy seeing them, and wish I could share the pleasure with my readers, but they appear, like meteors, brought in by my readers, and once they are gone from here, I never see them again.

Garry Shook stopped in the store, and we got talking and he told me he is interested in pictures and cards of the D&H Canal. I remember someone giving me a postal card, a photograph of the docks of Rondout. The Wayne County Historical Society, of Honesdale, Pa., put out a very nice illustrated book by Edwin D. LeRoy on the Delaware and Hudson Canal, copy of which can be found in our Kingston City Library. I am always enthused at the interest readers take in pictures and books on days gone by of Kingston and Ulster County, I hope that the powers that be do not destroy the few landmarks left, for what they consider progress.

I seldom write about the railroads, although the trains meant a great deal to our section. I went to the World's Fair in New York in 1939 on the West Shore. It was a $2 round trip on Sundays, and like everyone who is young, I thought it would go on forever. I should have gone every nice Sunday, but I did then make the trip once or twice and once by car. On a train, you can walk around and visit, I always found it most comfortable and safe.

I have two magazines called "The Railway Conductor, one of May 1914 and one Oct. 1915, published monthly at Cedar Rapids, Iowa by the order of railway conductors." I remember how the conductors used to collect tickets on the train, and slip them on the back of the upholstered seats or put them in the bands of men's hats, so they could keep tabs on where the passengers were going. I remember how the trains would pull in the small stations, and boys or men with arm baskets of candy, sandwiches and drinks would come aboard to sell the items. I used to watch the conductors exchange pleasantries at the station. They weren't great talkers, and usually sat in back of the cars reading a paper some passenger left

I also have a book called The Locomotive Catechism, dated 1900, with questions and answers and many pictures of locomotives and even the famous 999 is in it which had been in Kingston on exhibition some time ago. It did 112 miles an hour in 1893, between Batavia and Buffalo. One item tells about the duties of the fireman who "should be on hand from one-quarter to one-half hour before the engine is to leave the roundhouse, clean the cab, clean the windows, sweep deck, water coal, fill oil cans, look at water supply, check gauges, fill lamps, see ash-pan free from cinders, check flags, lanterns, torpedoes and sand-box full of clean dry sand."

WASHINGTON (AP) — Rep. Ogden J. Reid, R-N.Y., has announced he will support the national Republican ticket but will run for re-election on his own record.

Reid, in a statement Thursday, said he would support the GOP ticket despite his differences with the party platform.

Reid said he took his action because the future of the two-party system requires that "moderate and forward-looking Republican stay in responsible positions in the party and in our government..."

Dear Abby . . .

Just Ask

Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: I was going through my daughter's dresser drawers looking for something I had misplaced when I came across a letter she had written to you, but not mailed. In it she thanks you for helping her out of some "mess" she had gotten herself into. We are very close, my daughter and I, and she has always come to me with all her little problems. I don't want to ask her what the "mess" was she had written to you about because I don't want her to get the impression that I was snooping through her things, but I want your explanation of that "mess" whatever it was. Please don't feel that you would be betraying her confidence by anything you tell me, Abby, because we are just like sisters, and she tells me everything anyway. She signed herself "OLD ENOUGH."

HER MOTHER

DEAR MOTHER: Since she tells you everything, why don't you ask her?

• • • •

DEAR ABBY: Will you please help settle an argument between my mother and me? A friend of ours to whom I had sent an announcement of my high school graduation sent me a very nice card and on it she wrote: "I did not know what to get you so I have enclosed a five dollar bill." Abby, the envelope was sealed up tight (I opened it myself) but there was no five dollar bill inside. I am writing my thank-you notes and my mother says I should just thank her for the gift and let it go at that. I think I should tell her there wasn't any five dollar bill inside because maybe she forgot to put it in, or someone opened the envelope, took it out and sealed it back again. What do you think? I don't want her to think I am hinting for the money.

PUZZLED

DEAR PUZZLED: Write and thank her for remembering you on your graduation, and tell her frankly that no money was enclosed.

• • • •

DEAR ABBY: I was asked to be a bridesmaid. The bride's mother is making all the bridesmaids' dresses in the same style, but in different colors. I am the only redhead in the bunch, and she gave me the pink dress to wear. Abby, redheads can't wear pink! I asked her if I could have another color, but she said all the other colors were taken. Should I wear pink and look terrible or should I drop out of the bridal party? I've never been a bridesmaid before and hate to pass it up, but I am afraid I'll look like a freak.

DEAR HATES: You just THINK you can't wear pink. Thanks to modern art, colors that have been clashing for years are now on good terms, and very smart. Wear pink, and think Picasso.

BABSON on BUSINESS

By ROGER W. BABSON

BABSON DISCUSSES ADVICE FOR YOUNG INVESTORS

BABSON PARK, Mass., Aug. 7—From time to time the younger element among my readers write in asking advice about how to get started on an investment program. Hence, I would like to devote this column to this group who are just starting out to build their future. Readers who are further along in years may also find this column useful in assisting their children and grandchildren to start out on a firm footing financially.

First Things First

I earnestly beseech young people to use their heads and not their emotions in financial matters. My first principle, therefore, is to establish a firm foundation before embarking on building an investment program. This means acquiring adequate insurance protection for your family in case an accident or illness should result in your untimely death. My general recommendation is "straight" life insurance without the expensive frills.

Of course, home ownership should be an early consideration. I urgently advise young people not to overextend themselves by buying a home beyond their means. They should, however, endeavor to locate in a good and growing community so that their home can be a real asset in years to come.

Build Up Reserves

Sad to say, too many young people are overanxious to acquire a fortune. In their haste, they make a few purchases of stocks without first building up a nest egg of savings. Hence when some unforeseen emergency arises, they find they must part with their investments either at a loss or before the maximum profit potential is realized.

My second principle, therefore, is to carefully build up a savings fund as a reserve against a rainy day. Many young people today find it hard to save anything, but sensible budgeting and steadfast resistance against indiscriminate spending can produce surprising results. A gradual but persistent accumulation of savings, morever, will provide you with funds to pick up good stocks when the market is low. Most investors could achieve greater investment gains if only they had the patience to store up reserves to invest when bargains appear.

Earning a Living

In times such as this, when the stock market had had a prolonged rise, it is easy for investors to expect quick and large profits. All too often the stock market is viewed as a medium for supplementing one's income. I cannot stress enough that your livelihood and the foundation for financial independence lie in the building of a good career which will produce a higher level of income over the years.

By and large, the wealthy people I have met in my lifetime did not build their fortunes by speculating in the stock market. Rather, they speculated on themselves, either by working hard in their own business or by making themselves more valuable to their employers. As their earning capacity grew, they were able to channel their surplus funds into wise investments and thus compound their financial progress.

Investing Versus Trading

Most readers lack the training, experience, temperament, and time to make a success of trading in the stock market. On a short-swing basis, it is difficult to spot the turning points of the market and of individual stocks and to "pick winners." The average investor attempting to trade the market will more often than not find himself kicking up a lot of dust but making little real progress. Certainly, buying on margin and selling short are not for the average investor!

My advice, therefore, is to adopt the long-range approach and put your hard-earned money to work by investing in sound growing industries and companies. This especially applies to young investors, who have the advantage of a long life span ahead of them. They should allow time and the growth of the economy to work for them. By gradually purchasing a few shares of stocks now and again, particularly when the market is flat on its back, it is possible to build up a portfolio which can eventually show satisfactory growth. This requires patience, persistence, and courage, but the rewards are well worth the effort.

Worked for Awhile

HOPKINSVILLE, Ky. (AP)—Dick Harrison wanted to slow down traffic on Lafayette Road in front of his home so he put up a sign similar to ones used by the state Highway Department that said "Dinosaur crossing" and had an illustration of one of the beasts on it. The sign produced results. In fact it brought one motorist to a complete stop long enough to swipe the sign.

Restaurant Man Charged, Downed Trees Near Sign

LAKE GEORGE, N. Y. (AP)—A restaurant owner is free today in $500 bail after being charged with malicious mischief, a felony, for allegedly cutting down 45 trees that blocked a sign on his establishment from the view of motorists on the Northway.

State Police arrested Alfred Einstein, 57, Thursday night. Troopers said the State Department of Public Works estimated the value of the trees, which were on the Northway right-of-way, at $7,750.

The entrance to Einstein's restaurant is on Route 9, but the back of the building is about 100 yards from the expressway that is being built through the Adirondacks.

2 Men Injured As Plane Drops

LAKEVILLE, N. Y. (AP)—Two men were injured last night when their single-engine plane, preparing to land, plummeted suddenly to the ground and crashed at an airfield near this Livingston County community.

Sheriff's deputies said the craft made a half-circle, dived to the ground at a sharp angle and burst into flames.

The cause of the crash was not learned, deputies said.

The occupants of the plane, Francis Brown, 50, of Livonia, and Gordon Larson, 37, of Lakeville, suffered head and facial injuries. They were taken to Strong Memorial Hospital in Rochester.

NYU Dean Dies

NEW YORK (AP) — Paul A. McGhee, dean of the New York University's division of general education, died of cancer Thursday in the University Hospital. He was 63.

McGhee was born in Bellona and educated in Rochester public schools and the University of Rochester. He received a master's degree at Princeton University.

He joined the NYU faculty in 1930 as an English instructor. He was appointed dean in 1946.

Partially Blind Columbia Man Is Killed by Auto

A 76-year-old partially blind Columbia County man was fatally injured Thursday afternoon, when struck by a car as he was walking across Route 9 in the Town of Livingston.

Claverack State Police reported Archie Shepherd, who died in Columbia Memorial Hospital at 3:27 p. m. was hit by a car driven by Theodore F. Hulslander, 61, of 9 Alden Avenue, Albany. Death was due to massive internal injuries.

Columbia County Coroner Robert H. Near Jr., withheld a verdict pending further investigation.

Troopers noted that Shepherd was the sixth traffic fatality in Columbia County in six days.

Hulslander is an examiner for the State Department of Taxation and Finance.

Newsman Named AOH President, Youngest Ever

McEnery, a makeup editor for the Providence Journal Bulletin, became the youngest president in the Hibernians' history Thursday when he was elected to succeed Justice James J. Comerford of New York State Supreme Court.

The election marked the end of the 72nd biennial convention of the nationwide organization of Roman Catholic laymen of Irish descent. About 3,000 persons attended the five-day meeting.

Walter J. O'Leary of Watertown, Mass., was elected vice president for the United States and Gerald Carroll of Montreal was elected vice president for Canada.

John F. Geoghan of Brooklyn was re-elected secretary and Edward J. Fay of Pittsburgh, Pa., was elected treasurer.

King Assails Decision

WASHINGTON (AP) — Rep. Carleton J. King, R-N.Y., has accused the U.S. Supreme Court of ignoring history, logic, legality and the constitution in ruling that membership of both houses of a state legislature must be based on population.

In a statement filed Thursday with the House Judiciary subcommittee, King urged approval of a proposed constitutional amendment to permit states to apportion one branch of their legislature on other than a population basis.

Do You Remember by Sophie Miller

John Reichert of 159 Hunter Street brought in an interesting item to show me. It was in an old wooden frame, with wooden back, and square nails. The frame was about 28 by 33 inches. It is an illustrated coverage of the scenes and incidents of the life of Gen. James A. Garfield, who had been assassinated. This large picture was copyrighted by J. W. Sheehy of New York in 1881. Garfield was the 20th president of the United States. He was born in Orange, Ohio on Nov. 19, 1831 and died in Elberon, N.J., Sept. 19, 1881. There is a handsome portrait of President Garfield, also of his wife and mother, children and other relatives. The title of the picture is "From the cradle to the grave" showing him in his youth, his home, Hiram College telling about his German and Dutch origin. I wish that we had kept the DeWall Tavern for display of such historical finds, until the owners sold them. I enjoy seeing them, and wish I could share the pleasure with my readers, but they appear, like meteors, brought in by my readers, and once they are gone from here, I never see them again.

Garry Shook stopped in the store, and we got talking and he told me he is interested in pictures and cards of the D&H Canal. I remember someone giving me a postal card, a photograph of the docks of Rondout. The Wayne County Historical Society, of Honesdale, Pa., put out a very nice illustrated book by Edwin D. LeRoy on the Delaware and Hudson Canal, copy of which can be found in our Kingston City Library. I am always enthused at the interest readers take in pictures and books on days gone by of Kingston and Ulster County, I hope that the powers that be do not destroy the few landmarks left, for what they consider progress.

I seldom write about the railroads, although the trains meant a great deal to our section. I went to the World's Fair in New York in 1939 on the West Shore. It was a $2 round trip on Sundays, and like everyone who is young, I thought it would go on forever. I should have gone every nice Sunday, but I did then make the trip once or twice and once by car. On a train, you can walk around and visit, I always found it most comfortable and safe.

I remember how the conductors used to collect tickets on the train, and slip them on the back of the upholstered seats or put them in the bands of men's hats, so they could keep tabs on where the passengers were going. I remember how the trains would pull in the small stations, and boys or men with arm baskets of candy, sandwiches and drinks would come aboard to sell the items. I used to watch the conductors exchange pleasantries at the station. They weren't great talkers, and usually sat in back of the cars reading a paper some passenger left.

I also have a book called The Locomotive Catechism, dated 1900, with questions and answers and many pictures of locomotives and even the famous 999 is in it which had been in Kingston on exhibition some time ago. It did 112 miles an hour in 1893, between Batavia and Buffalo. KINGSTON, NEW YORK, AUGUST 7, 1964

HOOVER'S 90TH BIRTHDAY

It is not given to many men to enter the ninth decade of life. Even fewer are those who reach that age still capable of purposeful work, who still have goals ahead of them and things they want to accomplish.

Even rarer is the man who can reflect that in his lifetime he has received the highest honors his fellows can accord him.

Rarest of all is the man who can look back with the knowledge that, because he lived, literally tens upon tens of millions of other human beings live.

There is one man, however, who qualifies for each of these categories — Herbert Clark Hoover, 31st president of the United States, now 90 years old.

It was the misfortune of Herbert Hoover to be president on Oct. 29, 1929, when the New York stock market crashed and ushered in the worst depression in history.

Given the simplistic nature of popular politics, it was inevitable that Hoover, who had warned Congress about the dangerous trend of the market, should be blamed and his party go out of national power for the next 20 years.

But it has been the good fortune of Herbert Hoover to live not 20 but 32 years after those dark days. Now that the events which wrought his downfall have faded into the flat perspective of history, the real achievements of the man stand out in clearer relief.

The young Hoover was the very model of the self-made man, the brainy, pluck-and-luck fellow who makes the world his oyster —the type who, rather than the cowboy, is the real American hero.

Born Aug. 10, 1874, at West Branch, Iowa, Hoover was an orphan at the age of 10. He was later taken to Oregon by an uncle.

Like a proper fictional hero, he worked his way through the new Leland Stanford University in California and in 1897 went to Australia as a mining engineer.

In 1899, still following the script, he married Miss Lou Henry of Monterey, his one and only love affair, and went to China as a mining expert. He manned a machine gun at the siege of Tientsin during the Boxer uprising.

By the age of 30 he was rich. At the outbreak of World War I, he was in London directing 50,000 employes in mining enterprises around the world.

When the Belgian Relief Commission was formed in 1915, Hoover was appointed its head and is credited with saving the lives of some eight million persons. Called home in 1917 by President Wilson to become U.S. food administrator, he imposed "meatless Tuesdays" and "wheatless Wednesdays" on Americans and made them like it.

Following the war, he fed whole nations, including Russia, spending more than $600 million with an overhead cost of less than one-half of 1 per cent.

After serving as secretary of commerce under Harding and Coolidge, Hoover entered the White House in a landslide in 1928. He went out under an avalanche in 1932.

For 13 years he was simply an aging ex-president, until President Truman sent him on a tour of a famine-stricken world in 1946. Hoover's administrative genius saved the lives of more millions.

Then, in 1947, Truman put him to work heading a commission on government reorganization, a task which received bipartisan acclaim, even if all Hoover's recommendations were not followed.

Herbert Hoover has written 30 books. His collection of 20th-century documents at Stanford will place historians in his debt for generations to come. He is just completing the fourth and last volume of his "An American Epic," the story of his World War I relief work.

We hope he will pause long enough from his busy day to accept the sincere birthday congratulations of his fellow Americans.

WILLY OR WONTY?

Gov. John Connally of Texas, replying to reporters' questions as to whether or not he was going to nominate President Lyndon Johnson at the Democratic convention, replied:

"As far as I know, it's just a rumor."

There's something about this answer that brings to mind the cautious congressman who, when asked, "Will you vote for or against this bill?" replied:

"That's correct."

REPUBLICAN STUPIDITY IN NEW YORK

In their haste to hurt the little Conservative Party of New York State, which was formed to lend support to any Republican who measures up to conservative standards and to keep Republican leftism to a minimum, the Republican State Committee of New York has set in motion a train of events that could claim as its chief victim no less a person than Senator Kenneth B. Keating, a good Republican liberal.

This irony stems from the action of Republican State Chairman Fred A. Young, who has rejected a Conservative Party request that a common set of electors be used by both Republicans and Conservatives for the Goldwater-Miller ticket next November. If the Young decision stands, the Conservative Party, which would certainly do nothing to jeopardize the chances of a Goldwater victory, would have to leave the top line of its ticket on the voting machine blank.

To an outsider, the Conservative Party claim that this might make it impossible for 140,000 to 200,000 voters to find their way to pulling a Goldwater lever is something of a mystery. But it could be true that some votes would be lost to Goldwater and Miller simply because ticket splitting always poses mechanical difficulties. In a close election this might be fatal.

Since the Conservative Party is actually far more of a Goldwater party than the New York Republican organization, which has been a Rockefeller grouping, there could be some measure of lingering Convention spite in State Chairman Young's refusal to accommodate the Conservative Party's request for common Goldwater electors. At least there are conservatives who interpret it this way. And, since spite breeds resentment, the Conservatives could take it out on Ken Keating, whom they do not particularly love anyway, by presenting their own candidate for the U. S. Senate in the Autumn sweepstakes. Clare Luce has been mentioned as a possible Conservative choice.

This business of diluting the Keating vote is something that Barry Goldwater himself would surely like to avoid. Keating has worried about running with Goldwater, but the feeling has not been reciprocated. Indeed, at the Madison Square Garden conservative Republican rally last Spring, Goldwater went out of his way to praise Ken Keating for signing a Republican congressional statement of position back in 1962 that had Barry's own endorsement. The crowd booed the name of Keating, but Goldwater did not retract.

For myself, I like Ken Keating for the same reason I like Senator Tom Dodd, a Democrat, of Connecticut. They are both good men on foreign policy. And, since the future of the American Republic depends on foreign policy more than it does on anything else, one can forgive both Keating and Dodd for domestic lapses.

Keating was especially sound on Cuba in the days prior to the missile crisis. When John F. Kennedy was still denying that the Russians were putting dangerous weapons into Cuba, and attacking Senator Capehart of Indiana for being a silly armchair strategist in his insistence that the menace of Fidel Castro ought to be a campaign issue, Ken Keating was busy documenting the truth about the Cuban missiles. He kept at it night and day, and when the Kennedy Administration was compelled to face Khrushchev in the eyeball-to-eyeball confrontation Ken Keating was vindicated. He is still calling for tough sanctions against Cuba.

He did another worthwhile thing last spring when he ripped into the State Department for permitting Sukarno to send Indonesians to this country for training in the sort of tactics that would be useful in guerilla warfare against Malaysia, a new country that is friendly to the western anti-Communist cause.

This column didn't start out to be a valentine to Keating. It did start out to be a warning that the machine Republicans ought to accept Conservative Party help in putting Goldwater across. In accepting that help, they would probably be saving Ken Keating, too.

Goldwater might be asked to try to pound some sense into New York machine Republicans. But it is a ticklish business for an out-of-state leader to interfere in local matters. So let's hope that the New York Republican organization will come to its senses on its own.

The Doctor's Mailbag

Repair to Hernia Is Now Usually Safe Procedure

BY WAYNE G. BRANDSTADT, M.D.
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

Q — Are injection treatments for hernia of the groin successful?

A — The injection of an irritant chemical into hernias was tried about 25 years ago and abandoned by all top flight surgeons as an unsafe procedure. In order to repair what is essentially a defect in your abdominal wall, the surgeon must be able to see what he is doing. The injection treatment, still practiced by very few surgeons, is truly a shot in the dark. With the modern choice of effective anesthetics, increased surgical know-how and precautions for avoiding infection, hernial repair can now be safely performed on persons who used to be considered poor risks because of their age or other adverse factors.

Q — What causes a ruptured diaphragm? Will an operation correct this condition?

A—A diaphragmatic or hiatus hernia is a protrusion of part of the stomach through a weakened diaphragm. Many persons have a mild form of hiatus hernia that causes them little or no discomfort. In others, persistent pain makes it necessary to seek relief. The operation to repair this type of hernia has been greatly improved in recent years. Another form of treatment, the gastric freezing that has been used to treat peptic ulcers, has been used to correct these hernias with excellent results. But this treatment is still considered experimental.

Q — My daughter, 29, has multiple sclerosis and can't move her hands or feet. Her doctor is giving her Doriden pills to relax her so she can sleep. Do these pills contain any narcotic? Is it dangerous for her to take them?

A — Doriden, a brand of glutethimide, is a habit - forming drug that should be used only under close medical supervision.

Q — Is the daily use of a sun lamp harmful? What if it is used for an hour or longer at a time? What effect would it have on the eyes if they are not shielded?

A — Daily exposure to the sun or a lamp that emits ultra-violet light can be beneficial if the exposure is not too great. Eight or 10 minutes a day is enough to satisfy your body's needs. Exposures of an hour or more can be tolerated only by persons who have developed a deep tan. The eyes should be shielded at all times because this type of light will irritate the retina and overexposure can cause blindness.

Please send your questions and comments to Wayne G. Brandstadt, M. D., in care of this paper. While Dr. Brandstadt cannot answer individual letters he will answer letters of general interest in future columns.

The Paper Tiger Strikes Back

Washington News

BY BRUCE BIOSSAT
Washington Correspondent
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

CHICAGO — (NEA) — Important elements of the white backlash seem not to be well understood. Inquires in this great urban melting pot bring them into sharper focus.

It is nearly impossible to exaggerate the significance that immigrant ethnic groups, among whom the backlash is strong, attach to owning a home free and clear in a sound, stable neighborhood.

Home ownership is not sought as a status symbol in the shallow social sense we employ today. To the immigrant Pole, Italian, German or other European, it is a mark of economic independence equated with the achievement of personal freedom.

It is the dream unfulfilled in Europe but realized in America. Months before these current researches were undertaken, this reporter was closeted with a well-known governor. Though we were entirely alone, at one point he leaned forward and almost whispered:

"My wife's father is an immigrant European. Coming to have his home in this country was a great step for him, the proof of his freedom. Because he sees the Negro as a threat to this, he is strongly against the trend of events."

IN THE BIG INDUSTRIAL CITIES, the Polish or Italian's family home is truly its castle. Misleading plain exteriors often conceal costly interior improvements. Sons marry, and the newlyweds live with parents until they can find a home within a few doors or blocks of the family place.

Nothing is more stunning to these people than to look up and see "outsiders" moving into the neighborhood.

Charles Percy, GOP nominee for goveruor of Illinois, was astonished to learn that Chicago has 78 separate German language organizations.

Says a University of Chicago political scientist: "These people don't understand what integration is all about. To many, if not most, segregation is a way of life. They like to live unto themselves, apart not only from Negroes but from all others."

In fact, while each national minority puts Negroes at the low end of the scale as most lacking in education and good habits, the so-called Appalachian whites are placed next lowest.

These folk, fleeing the poverty of the Middle Atlantic and Southern highlands, pour into Chicago steadily. The minorities take alarm when they hear horror stories about poor whites ripping out mouldings and other house fittings to burn as firewood.

IT IS FEAR OF THESE THINGS that leads these nationality groups to resist the encroachment of the poorer city dwellers, including hill country whites, Negroes, Puerto Ricans and Mexicans.

The minorities loudly oppose urban renewal, not as a people worried over the growth of federal power, but as homeowners who see slum clearance scattering Negroes and others in a wide arc and leading them to push into better and more stable areas.

Sociologists used to hail close-knit ethnic groups as contributing heavily to stability and order in our cities. Today these societies loom as fortresses trying to grid against a rising tide of Negro and other "outsiders."

Obviously these fortresses were erected originally with good purpose. The question now is how to cope with them in an age which sees a fairly shapeless mass of urban Negroes making a tremendous push toward higher levels.

Ability to Reach Verge Without War Is Real Art

BY DAVID LAWRENCE

WASHINGTON — President Johnson and the Congress of the United States have given the world a dramatic example of "brinkmanship" that reflects the determination of the American people to use military force, if necessary, to repel aggression.

The joint resolution authorizing the use of American naval, land and air forces in Southeast Asia to prevent further aggressive acts is exactly in line with the policies advocated by the late John Foster Dulles, Secretary of State in the Eisenhower administration.

Yet the word "brinkmanship" has been associated with criticism of Mr. Dulles and has repeatedly been taken out of context to imply that those who support the Dulles idea are "trigger-happy" people bent upon starting a war.

In January, 1956, in an article published in Life magazine, Mr. Dulles was quoted as having said:

"You have to take chances for peace, just as you must take chances in war. Some say that we were brought to the verge of war. Of course we were brought to the verge of war. The ability to get to the verge without getting into the war is the necessary art. If you cannot master it, you inevitably get into war. If you try to run away from it, if you are scared to go to the brink, you are lost. We've had to look it square in the face—on the question of enlarging the Korean War, on the question of getting into the Indochina War, on the question of Formosa. We walked to the brink and we looked it in the face. We took strong action."

Naturally the above quotation attracted world-wide attention, and in a press conference on Jan. 17, 1956, Mr. Dulles said that the statement was not exactly a direct quotation, but he added:

"I have said the substance of that, I think, on a good many occasions: that I believe that peace is not won by seeming to retreat when an aggressor threatened; that it was important to make clear the fact that we were going to stand firm even though that might involve war. That is a sentiment which I have expressed a good many times over a great many years, and I think that this particular statement attributed to me, when read in the light of its context, is a fair reflection of my views."

Mr. Dulles said he wished, however, to clear up one point—that we had been "brought" to the verge of war, not by our own choice, but only by "threats which were uttered in relation to Korea, in relation to Indochina, and in relation to Formosa."

Sen. Goldwater a few weeks ago, in an interview published in a German newspaper, was quoted as having said:

"My ideas for a successful American foreign policy correspond generally to the policy of the Eisenhower government and Secretary of State Dulles. You must always show yourself ready to throw in everything if you want to be respected and you are fighting for peace."

He was then asked: "So, a policy of 'up to the brink of war,' as Secretary of State Dulles long held to be correct?" His reply was:

"Yes; the only person who is respected is the one who clearly says—when necessary—that he is determined to go to extremes. That is a policy that your country and all successful countries have followed throughout the past thousand years."

The misuse of the word "brinkmanship" arises from the mistaken theory that the American government would deliberately create a crisis in order to rattle a sword or threaten another country. The true meaning of "brinkmanship" is a policy of readiness—a willingness to fight if necessary and to indicate clearly to the other side that aggression will be repelled.

The erroneous impression is often conveyed that efforts to solve disputes by peaceful means are a reflection of unwillingness to fight or a craven attitude. Secretary of State Rusk, in a television interview on ABC's "Issues and Answers" on July 26, said:

"Now the problem here is to make it very clear that the vital interests of the free world will be defended with whatever is necessary. But the problem also is to defend these by peaceful means if possible . . . Therefore we've got to act with prudence and sobriety and judgment, certain patience and persistence. . . .

"Our problem at the present time is that Pekin is pursuing this world revolution dogma with a militancy that is threatening the peace. And our immediate problem is to bring Hanoi (North Viet Nam) and Pekin to the necessary decision to leave their neighbors alone before it is too late."

It is interesting to recall that when President Eisenhower and both parties in Congress united on a resolution to authorize the use of military forces to protect Formosa, the Red Chinese took note of the action and discontinued their aggression. It is hoped that there will similarly be a cessation now of acts of aggression and military threats in Southeast Asia.

Jim Bishop: Reporter

The tremors picked up by seismographs in Tokyo and Juneau mark Jackie Gleason's departure from New York. The Pharoah of Fat left by choo-choo, accompanied by his chief of staff, Jack Philbin, a jazz band, publicity agents, writers, commentators, dancing girls and a Pullman car full of champagne. Some make fun of Mr. G. for this. It comes out envy.

As a serious actor, as well as comedian, Gleason is one of the world's enormous talents. He is greater than anyone has ever assessed him, and not quite as great as he thinks he is. He lives for this minute, because he is not sure that the next one will arrive on time. Sociologically, Jackie is a growing boy. Artistically, he is alone on the highest mountain.

New York is going to miss him, because wherever Gleason is, there is action. The lights will be a little dimmer at Times Square, the pace a little slower. Gleason has discovered the perpetual sunshine of Miami Beach, and Miami Beach has discovered him. From now on his show will originate there, through Mitchell Wolfson's Channel 10.

Not that the Beached Whale in the Blue Suit would think of letting Miami Beach off lightly. He will pay his hotel bills, and he will tip as lavishly as Toots Shor taught him, but when it comes to television equipment, The Greatest demands the most. It is costing Miami Beach more than $200,000 in auditorium changes and alterations just to please Jacques the Gleasone.

Wolfson will invest in a half million dollars worth of new t.v. cameras with hot and cold running lenses; the Doral Country Club, where The Greatest will live, has installed a special switchboard, redecorated a suite of rooms, and the owners — Alfred and Howard Kaskel—have invented a new golf cart for Gleason's personal use. The cart has a bar, complete with booze, a television set, and a walkie-talkie so that Fatty can call headquarters and simper: "How swe-e-e-et it is!"

No one who has a golf cart needs a caddy, except Jackie Gleason. This particular ball hawk goes with the cart. He is also a licensed bartender. The golf course happens to be under the final approach of jet liners to Miami International Airport. It may turn out to be easier to reroute them than Jackie.

My guess is that Miami Beach is in for a treat, and a treatment. Gleason has developed a short fuse, and none of his love affairs last more than a season. The Gold Coast of Florida will get its money's worth in entertainment from Mr. G. (and publicity too), but there will come a time when Jackie will order the sun to go away, and it will refuse.

That constitutes a breach of contract. He will begin to sense a monotonous beauty in Florida, and he will hide behind heavy drapes and emerge only at night. When that happens, Mr. Philbin will phone Mr. Hank Meyer, director of Miami Beach public relations, and the ultimatum will be whispered: "Either the sun goes, or Jackie goes. Take your pick, pal."

I think I know Mr. G. pretty well. I spent a year in and out of his company writing his biography, a flop called "The Golden Ham." Normally, the subject of a writer's steady gaze diminishes with time. This was not so in my case. I left Gleason's presence with the conviction that I had been privileged to observe one of the theatrical greats of all time.

Few men are so generous with money and so stingy with time. He is easily bored and he squirms unless the conversation is lively. His hunger for knowledge almost matches his yen for roast beef and gravy. I have known him to read two books in one night, and he is not afraid to face questions about them in the morning.

He lives like a Caesar—who else would build a six-room house for $600,000? — and he thinks like a compassionate poet. He writes music, conducts a band, can rap out a plot, give to several charities without publicity, direct and star in a film, maintain his obligations to his family, give extra bows to performers who do not deserve them, and still find time to become furious because the carnation in his lapel is wilting.

When he left New York by special train, Gleason had the warm company of newspaper and magazine writers. One of the group left Miami to fly north just to get on the train and head south. He is Larry King, who taped interviews and observations en route, to be played back to the palpitating public in Miami. This will give you an idea of the respect Fatso commands.

Who knows? Maybe the sun will disappear on command. One thing is certain: Gleason will fight it, beam for beam . . .

The crowd booed the name of Keating, but Goldwater did not retract.

For myself, I like Ken Keating for the same reason I like Senator Tom Dodd, a Democrat, of Connecticut. They are both good men on foreign policy. And, since the future of the American Republic depends on foreign policy more than it does on anything else, one can forgive both Keating and Dodd for domestic lapses.

Keating was especially sound on Cuba in the days prior to the missile crisis. When John F. Kennedy was still denying that the Russians were putting dangerous weapons into Cuba, and attacking Senator Capehart of Indiana for being a silly armchair strategist in his insistence that the menace of Fidel Castro ought to be a campaign issue, Ken Keating was busy documenting the truth about the Cuban missiles. He kept at it night and day, and when the Kennedy Administration was compelled to face Khrushchev in the eyeball-to-eyeball confrontation Ken Keating was vindicated. He is still calling for tough sanctions against Cuba.

He did another worthwhile thing last spring when he ripped into the State Department for permitting Sukarno to send Indonesians to this country for training in the sort of tactics that would be useful in guerilla warfare against Malaysia, a new country that is friendly to the western anti-Communist cause.

This column didn't start out to be a valentine to Keating. It did start out to be a warning that the machine Republicans ought to accept Conservative Party help in putting Goldwater across. In accepting that help, they would probably be saving Ken Keating, too.

Goldwater might be asked to try to pound some sense into New York machine Republicans. But it is a ticklish business for an out-of-state leader to interfere in local matters. So let's hope that the New York Republican organization will come to its senses on its own.

Repair to Hernia Is Now Usually Safe Procedure

BY WAYNE G. BRANDSTADT, M.D.
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

Q — Are injection treatments for hernia of the groin successful?

A — The injection of an irritant chemical into hernias was tried about 25 years ago and abandoned by all top flight surgeons as an unsafe procedure. In order to repair what is essentially a defect in your abdominal wall, the surgeon must be able to see what he is doing. The injection treatment, still practiced by very few surgeons, is truly a shot in the dark. With the modern choice of effective anesthetics, increased surgical know-how and precautions for avoiding infection, hernial repair can now be safely performed on persons who used to be considered poor risks because of their age or other adverse factors.

Q — What causes a ruptured diaphragm? Will an operation correct this condition?

A—A diaphragmatic or hiatus hernia is a protrusion of part of the stomach through a weakened diaphragm. Many persons have a mild form of hiatus hernia that causes them little or no discomfort. In others, persistent pain makes it necessary to seek relief. The operation to repair this type of hernia has been greatly improved in recent years. Another form of treatment, the gastric freezing that has been used to treat peptic ulcers, has been used to correct these hernias with excellent results. But this treatment is still considered experimental.

Q — My daughter, 29, has multiple sclerosis and can't move her hands or feet. Her doctor is giving her Doriden pills to relax her so she can sleep. Do these pills contain any narcotic? Is it dangerous for her to take them?

A — Doriden, a brand of glutethimide, is a habit - forming drug that should be used only under close medical supervision.

Q — Is the daily use of a sun lamp harmful? What if it is used for an hour or longer at a time? What effect would it have on the eyes if they are not shielded?

A — Daily exposure to the sun or a lamp that emits ultra-violet light can be beneficial if the exposure is not too great. Eight or 10 minutes a day is enough to satisfy your body's needs. Exposures of an hour or more can be tolerated only by persons who have developed a deep tan. The eyes should be shielded at all times because this type of light will irritate the retina and overexposure can cause blindness.

The Paper Tiger Strikes Back

Washington News

BY BRUCE BIOSSAT
Washington Correspondent
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

CHICAGO — (NEA) — Important elements of the white backlash seem not to be well understood. Inquires in this great urban melting pot bring them into sharper focus.

It is nearly impossible to exaggerate the significance that immigrant ethnic groups, among whom the backlash is strong, attach to owning a home free and clear in a sound, stable neighborhood.

Home ownership is not sought as a status symbol in the shallow social sense we employ today. To the immigrant Pole, Italian, German or other European, it is a mark of economic independence equated with the achievement of personal freedom.

It is the dream unfulfilled in Europe but realized in America. Months before these current researches were undertaken, this reporter was closeted with a well-known governor. Though we were entirely alone, at one point he leaned forward and almost whispered:

"My wife's father is an immigrant European. Coming to have his home in this country was a great step for him, the proof of his freedom. Because he sees the Negro as a threat to this, he is strongly against the trend of events."

IN THE BIG INDUSTRIAL CITIES, the Polish or Italian's family home is truly its castle. Misleading plain exteriors often conceal costly interior improvements. Sons marry, and the newlyweds live with parents until they can find a home within a few doors or blocks of the family place.

Nothing is more stunning to these people than to look up and see "outsiders" moving into the neighborhood.

Charles Percy, GOP nominee for goveruor of Illinois, was astonished to learn that Chicago has 78 separate German language organizations.

Says a University of Chicago political scientist: "These people don't understand what integration is all about. To many, if not most, segregation is a way of life. They like to live unto themselves, apart not only from Negroes but from all others."

In fact, while each national minority puts Negroes at the low end of the scale as most lacking in education and good habits, the so-called Appalachian whites are placed next lowest.

These folk, fleeing the poverty of the Middle Atlantic and Southern highlands, pour into Chicago steadily. The minorities take alarm when they hear horror stories about poor whites ripping out mouldings and other house fittings to burn as firewood.

IT IS FEAR OF THESE THINGS that leads these nationality groups to resist the encroachment of the poorer city dwellers, including hill country whites, Negroes, Puerto Ricans and Mexicans.

The minorities loudly oppose urban renewal, not as a people worried over the growth of federal power, but as homeowners who see slum clearance scattering Negroes and others in a wide arc and leading them to push into better and more stable areas.

Sociologists used to hail close-knit ethnic groups as contributing heavily to stability and order in our cities. Today these societies loom as fortresses trying to grid against a rising tide of Negro and other "outsiders."

Obviously these fortresses were erected originally with good purpose. The question now is how to cope with them in an age which sees a fairly shapeless mass of urban Negroes making a tremendous push toward higher levels.

Ability to Reach Verge Without War Is Real Art

BY DAVID LAWRENCE

WASHINGTON — President Johnson and the Congress of the United States have given the world a dramatic example of "brinkmanship" that reflects the determination of the American people to use military force, if necessary, to repel aggression.

The joint resolution authorizing the use of American naval, land and air forces in Southeast Asia to prevent further aggressive acts is exactly in line with the policies advocated by the late John Foster Dulles, Secretary of State in the Eisenhower administration.

Yet the word "brinkmanship" has been associated with criticism of Mr. Dulles and has repeatedly been taken out of context to imply that those who support the Dulles idea are "trigger-happy" people bent upon starting a war.

In January, 1956, in an article published in Life magazine, Mr. Dulles was quoted as having said:

"You have to take chances for peace, just as you must take chances in war. Some say that we were brought to the verge of war. Of course we were brought to the verge of war. The ability to get to the verge without getting into the war is the necessary art. If you cannot master it, you inevitably get into war. If you try to run away from it, if you are scared to go to the brink, you are lost. We've had to look it square in the face—on the question of enlarging the Korean War, on the question of getting into the Indochina War, on the question of Formosa. We walked to the brink and we looked it in the face. We took strong action."

Naturally the above quotation attracted world-wide attention, and in a press conference on Jan. 17, 1956, Mr. Dulles said that the statement was not exactly a direct quotation, but he added:

"I have said the substance of that, I think, on a good many occasions: that I believe that peace is not won by seeming to retreat when an aggressor threatened; that it was important to make clear the fact that we were going to stand firm even though that might involve war. That is a sentiment which I have expressed a good many times over a great many years, and I think that this particular statement attributed to me, when read in the light of its context, is a fair reflection of my views."

Mr. Dulles said he wished, however, to clear up one point—that we had been "brought" to the verge of war, not by our own choice, but only by "threats which were uttered in relation to Korea, in relation to Indochina, and in relation to Formosa."

Sen. Goldwater a few weeks ago, in an interview published in a German newspaper, was quoted as having said:

"My ideas for a successful American foreign policy correspond generally to the policy of the Eisenhower government and Secretary of State Dulles. You must always show yourself ready to throw in everything if you want to be respected and you are fighting for peace."

He was then asked: "So, a policy of 'up to the brink of war,' as Secretary of State Dulles long held to be correct?" His reply was:

"Yes; the only person who is respected is the one who clearly says—when necessary—that he is determined to go to extremes. That is a policy that your country and all successful countries have followed throughout the past thousand years."

The misuse of the word "brinkmanship" arises from the mistaken theory that the American government would deliberately create a crisis in order to rattle a sword or threaten another country. The true meaning of "brinkmanship" is a policy of readiness—a willingness to fight if necessary and to indicate clearly to the other side that aggression will be repelled.

The erroneous impression is often conveyed that efforts to solve disputes by peaceful means are a reflection of unwillingness to fight or a craven attitude. Secretary of State Rusk, in a television interview on ABC's "Issues and Answers" on July 26, said:

"Now the problem here is to make it very clear that the vital interests of the free world will be defended with whatever is necessary. But the problem also is to defend these by peaceful means if possible . . . Therefore we've got to act with prudence and sobriety and judgment, certain patience and persistence. . . .

"Our problem at the present time is that Pekin is pursuing this world revolution dogma with a militancy that is threatening the peace. And our immediate problem is to bring Hanoi (North Viet Nam) and Pekin to the necessary decision to leave their neighbors alone before it is too late."

It is interesting to recall that when President Eisenhower and both parties in Congress united on a resolution to authorize the use of military forces to protect Formosa, the Red Chinese took note of the action and discontinued their aggression. It is hoped that there will similarly be a cessation now of acts of aggression and military threats in Southeast Asia.

Timely Quotes

I don't think (President) Johnson can attack me one-half as hard as some people in my own party and the press.
—GOP presidential nominee Barry Goldwater.

Jim Bishop: Reporter

The tremors picked up by seismographs in Tokyo and Juneau mark Jackie Gleason's departure from New York. The Pharoah of Fat left by choo-choo, accompanied by his chief of staff, Jack Philbin, a jazz band, publicity agents, writers, commentators, dancing girls and a Pullman car full of champagne. Some make fun of Mr. G. for this. It comes out envy.

As a serious actor, as well as comedian, Gleason is one of the world's enormous talents. He is greater than anyone has ever assessed him, and not quite as great as he thinks he is. He lives for this minute, because he is not sure that the next one will arrive on time. Sociologically, Jackie is a growing boy. Artistically, he is alone on the highest mountain.

New York is going to miss him, because wherever Gleason is, there is action. The lights will be a little dimmer at Times Square, the pace a little slower. Gleason has discovered the perpetual sunshine of Miami Beach, and Miami Beach has discovered him. From now on his show will originate there, through Mitchell Wolfson's Channel 10.

Not that the Beached Whale in the Blue Suit would think of letting Miami Beach off lightly. He will pay his hotel bills, and he will tip as lavishly as Toots Shor taught him, but when it comes to television equipment, The Greatest demands the most. It is costing Miami Beach more than $200,000 in auditorium changes and alterations just to please Jacques the Gleasone.

Wolfson will invest in a half million dollars worth of new t.v. cameras with hot and cold running lenses; the Doral Country Club, where The Greatest will live, has installed a special switchboard, redecorated a suite of rooms, and the owners — Alfred and Howard Kaskel—have invented a new golf cart for Gleason's personal use. The cart has a bar, complete with booze, a television set, and a walkie-talkie so that Fatty can call headquarters and simper: "How swe-e-e-et it is!"

No one who has a golf cart needs a caddy, except Jackie Gleason. This particular ball hawk goes with the cart. He is also a licensed bartender. The golf course happens to be under the final approach of jet liners to Miami International Airport. It may turn out to be easier to reroute them than Jackie.

My guess is that Miami Beach is in for a treat, and a treatment. Gleason has developed a short fuse, and none of his love affairs last more than a season. The Gold Coast of Florida will get its money's worth in entertainment from Mr. G. (and publicity too), but there will come a time when Jackie will order the sun to go away, and it will refuse.

That constitutes a breach of contract. He will begin to sense a monotonous beauty in Florida, and he will hide behind heavy drapes and emerge only at night. When that happens, Mr. Philbin will phone Mr. Hank Meyer, director of Miami Beach public relations, and the ultimatum will be whispered: "Either the sun goes, or Jackie goes. Take your pick, pal."

I think I know Mr. G. pretty well. I spent a year in and out of his company writing his biography, a flop called "The Golden Ham." Normally, the subject of a writer's steady gaze diminishes with time. This was not so in my case. I left Gleason's presence with the conviction that I had been privileged to observe one of the theatrical greats of all time.

Few men are so generous with money and so stingy with time. He is easily bored and he squirms unless the conversation is lively. His hunger for knowledge almost matches his yen for roast beef and gravy. I have known him to read two books in one night, and he is not afraid to face questions about them in the morning.

He lives like a Caesar—who else would build a six-room house for $600,000? — and he thinks like a compassionate poet. He writes music, conducts a band, can rap out a plot, give to several charities without publicity, direct and star in a film, maintain his obligations to his family, give extra bows to performers who do not deserve them, and still find time to become furious because the carnation in his lapel is wilting.

When he left New York by special train, Gleason had the warm company of newspaper and magazine writers. One of the group left Miami to fly north just to get on the train and head south. He is Larry King, who taped interviews and observations en route, to be played back to the palpitating public in Miami. This will give you an idea of the respect Fatso commands.

Who knows? Maybe the sun will disappear on command. One thing is certain: Gleason will fight it, beam for beam . . .

Consensus of County Chairmen:

Keating Should Heal Split With Goldwater

By CHARLES DUMAS

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP) — U.S. Sen. Kenneth B. Keating was under strong pressure today from Republican party leaders in his home state to heal his open split with presidential nominee Barry Goldwater.

The reported consensus of a closed meeting of the state's GOP county chairmen and vice chairmen here Thursday was that Keating should declare his support for the Goldwater-Miller ticket as quickly as possible.

Assemblyman Kenneth L. Wilson, of Woodstock, Ulster County GOP Chairman, attended the meeting along with Rose LeFever, county vice chairman, Wilson earlier this week announced his endorsement of the Goldwater-Miller candidacy and said he joined others in urging party leaders to do the same.

With all but one of the state's 62 counties represented, the chairmen unanimously adopted a resolution pledging to "support vigorously" the national campaign effort in New York State.

Urged to Run Again

The same resolution, which was made public, urged Keating to stand for re-election and also promised him "our full support."

Several county chairmen arose at the meeting, however, to criticize Keating for saying he could not support the Goldwater - Miller ticket "at this time" because of basic differences in philosophy.

Assembly Speaker Joseph F. Carlino, the Nassau County GOP leader, reported that Gov. Rockefeller, who sat in on the session, came to Keating's defense.

Carlino said that Rockefeller "generally defended Keating's right to express his views" but that the governor also expressed the hope that there could be greater unity in the party.

Applaud Mention of Barry

The chairmen applauded when Rockefeller mentioned Goldwater's name during his appeal for party unity.

An informed source said a chairman expressed concern about reports that Keating might not run again. Rockefeller, the source said, told him that the senator would make a statement shortly and that the chairman should not worry.

This was taken to mean that Keating would stand for re-election.

Rockefeller, who has pledged his support of the Goldwater ticket, declined comment after the meeting, saying only he wanted to "stand on the resolution" adopted by the chairmen.

Carlino and others agreed the consensus of the meeting was that Keating should submerge his personal views, close ranks with Goldwater and get started right away on his own campaign.

Keating Pleased

The message was conveyed quickly to Washington, where Keating said he was "enormously pleased and heartened by their (the chairmen's) vote of confidence..."

When reporters asked Young why Keating was delaying an announcement on his campaign plans, Young replied:

"I think the reason is that, as a senator, he can go on radio and TV and say whatever he wants. As a candide, he might have to pay for it, and his opponent might be given equal time."

Carlino reported several chairmen from the Hudson Valley and Western New York areas arose at yesterday's meeting to criticize Keating for his split with Goldwater. He would not name them.

Only the Bronx was not represented at the meeting. Rep. Paul Fino, the Bronx chairman, session in Washington.

Boy's Hand Severed, Attacked by Gang

NEW YORK (AP) — A 15-year-old boy's hand was cut off at the wrist last night, apparently when he was set upon by a gang of youths.

The boy, James Billy, a Negro of Brooklyn, was in critical condition today in Kings County Hospital. A spokesman said it would be days before it could be known whether the operation to re-attach the hand was successful.

Police said a gang of Negro youths attacked Billy in the Bedford-Stuyvesant section. The boy ran a block to a policeman who telephoned for an ambulance.

Family to Continue Grossinger Resort

LIBERTY, N.Y. (AP) — Harry Grossinger's widow, son and daughter say they will abide by his wishes and continue active management of the Catskill Mountain resort he founded 50 years ago.

Grossinger's will, filed for probate Thursday, urged them to continue to run the $8-million-a-year Grossinger's Hotel and country club.

Hung Rebuilds, Elmer's Inn May Open in October

Elmer Hung, of Mt. Marion, operator of Elmer's Inn at Ruby which was leveled by an early-morning fire July 28, said construction of a new restaurant was well underway.

He told The Freeman that he had expected that he might be open in about two months at a site behind the ruined inn.

Flames of undetermined origin destroyed the popular eating place, located a short distance from the Ruby Firehouse, shortly before 5 a. m., although three fire companies responded. However, fire fighters were hampered by a lack of water and had no chance to save the structure. Damage was estimated at between $50,000-$60,000.

Hung's son Walter, and Walter's wife, Helen, who occupied an apartment over the inn, fled the blaze with the couple's two-year-old child. Mrs. Walter Hung discovered the blaze when she was awakened by the baby's cries. The family fled the burning building with only their night clothing and shoes.

Elmer Hung said the new restaurant will be a one-story structure and plans call for an increase in both length and width over the demolished restaurant. He said the new inn also is set considerably back farther from the Ruby-Sawkill Road to provide for more ample parking place for customers.

Woodstock Man, Hurt Wednesday, Reported Critical

A 75-year-old man, injured in a two-car collision on Route 28 near Zena Road, Town of Woodstock, which also resulted in injuries to three other persons, today was reported critical at Benedictine Hospital.

Herman George Lau, of Zena Road, Woodstock, operator of one of the vehicles involved in the crash, suffered fractured ribs, lacerations and a possible ruptured spleen. The other car, troopers said, was driven by Dorothy Evelyn Forni, 39, of 80 Grandview Avenue, Nanuet, who sustained lacerations of the upper lip.

Other passengers in the Forni car were the driver's daughter, Jane, 15, who received contusions of the forehead, and Lillian Veltidi, 39, of 36 Englewood Avenue, Nanuet, who sustained lacerations of the right knee and scalp.

According to a report of Troopers Robert Mackey and W. E. Wiedemann of the Kingston sub-station, Mrs. Forni was driving east on Route 28 near Zena Road at about 10:55 a. m. Wednesday, when Lau reportedly drove from a service station and crossed the eastbound lane. His car was hit broadside, troopers said.

The injured were taken to the hospital by Fatum's and Doctor's ambulances.

Roy Rogers Under Knife

Consensus of County Chairmen:

Keating Should Heal Split With Goldwater

By CHARLES DUMAS

With all but one of the state's 62 counties represented, the chairmen unanimously adopted a resolution pledging to "support vigorously" the national campaign effort in New York State.

Urged to Run Again

The same resolution, which was made public, urged Keating to stand for re-election and also promised him "our full support."

Several county chairmen arose at the meeting, however, to criticize Keating for saying he could not support the Goldwater - Miller ticket "at this time" because of basic differences in philosophy.

Assembly Speaker Joseph F. Carlino, the Nassau County GOP leader, reported that Gov. Rockefeller, who sat in on the session, came to Keating's defense.

Carlino said that Rockefeller "generally defended Keating's right to express his views" but that the governor also expressed the hope that there could be greater unity in the party.

Applaud Mention of Barry

The chairmen applauded when Rockefeller mentioned Goldwater's name during his appeal for party unity.

An informed source said a chairman expressed concern about reports that Keating might not run again. Rockefeller, the source said, told him that the senator would make a statement shortly and that the chairman should not worry.

This was taken to mean that Keating would stand for re-election.

Rockefeller, who has pledged his support of the Goldwater ticket, declined comment after the meeting, saying only he wanted to "stand on the resolution" adopted by the chairmen.

Carlino and others agreed the consensus of the meeting was that Keating should submerge his personal views, close ranks with Goldwater and get started right away on his own campaign.

Keating Pleased

The message was conveyed quickly to Washington, where Keating said he was "enormously pleased and heartened by their (the chairmen's) vote of confidence..."

When reporters asked Young why Keating was delaying an announcement on his campaign plans, Young replied:

"I think the reason is that, as a senator, he can go on radio and TV and say whatever he wants. As a candide, he might have to pay for it, and his opponent might be given equal time."

Carlino reported several chairmen from the Hudson Valley and Western New York areas arose at yesterday's meeting to criticize Keating for his split with Goldwater. He would not name them.

Only the Bronx was not represented at the meeting. Rep. Paul Fino, the Bronx chairman, session in Washington.

Boy's Hand Severed, Attacked by Gang

NEW YORK (AP) — A 15-year-old boy's hand was cut off at the wrist last night, apparently when he was set upon by a gang of youths.

The boy, James Billy, a Negro of Brooklyn, was in critical condition today in Kings County Hospital. A spokesman said it would be days before it could be known whether the operation to re-attach the hand was successful.

Police said a gang of Negro youths attacked Billy in the Bedford-Stuyvesant section. The boy ran a block to a policeman who telephoned for an ambulance.

Family to Continue Grossinger Resort

LIBERTY, N.Y. (AP) — Harry Grossinger's widow, son and daughter say they will abide by his wishes and continue active management of the Catskill Mountain resort he founded 50 years ago.

Grossinger's will, filed for probate Thursday, urged them to continue to run the $8-million-a-year Grossinger's Hotel and country club.

Hung Rebuilds, Elmer's Inn May Open in October

Elmer Hung, of Mt. Marion, operator of Elmer's Inn at Ruby which was leveled by an early-morning fire July 28, said construction of a new restaurant was well underway.

He told The Freeman that he had expected that he might be open in about two months at a site behind the ruined inn.

Flames of undetermined origin destroyed the popular eating place, located a short distance from the Ruby Firehouse, shortly before 5 a. m., although three fire companies responded. However, fire fighters were hampered by a lack of water and had no chance to save the structure. Damage was estimated at between $50,000-$60,000.

Hung's son Walter, and Walter's wife, Helen, who occupied an apartment over the inn, fled the blaze with the couple's two-year-old child. Mrs. Walter Hung discovered the blaze when she was awakened by the baby's cries. The family fled the burning building with only their night clothing and shoes.

Elmer Hung said the new restaurant will be a one-story structure and plans call for an increase in both length and width over the demolished restaurant. He said the new inn also is set considerably back farther from the Ruby-Sawkill Road to provide for more ample parking place for customers.

Woodstock Man, Hurt Wednesday, Reported Critical

A 75-year-old man, injured in a two-car collision on Route 28 near Zena Road, Town of Woodstock, which also resulted in injuries to three other persons, today was reported critical at Benedictine Hospital.

Herman George Lau, of Zena Road, Woodstock, operator of one of the vehicles involved in the crash, suffered fractured ribs, lacerations and a possible ruptured spleen. The other car, troopers said, was driven by Dorothy Evelyn Forni, 39, of 80 Grandview Avenue, Nanuet, who sustained lacerations of the upper lip.

Other passengers in the Forni car were the driver's daughter, Jane, 15, who received contusions of the forehead, and Lillian Veltidi, 39, of 36 Englewood Avenue, Nanuet, who sustained lacerations of the right knee and scalp.

According to a report of Troopers Robert Mackey and W. E. Wiedemann of the Kingston sub-station, Mrs. Forni was driving east on Route 28 near Zena Road at about 10:55 a. m. Wednesday, when Lau reportedly drove from a service station and crossed the eastbound lane. His car was hit broadside, troopers said.

The injured were taken to the hospital by Fatum's and Doctor's ambulances.

Roy Rogers Under Knife

The 52-year-old actor-singer was reported in satisfactory condition today.

Rogers' wife, actress Dale Evans, said the condition developed about 10 years ago, after Rogers fell from a horse.

Burton Sets Record

NEW YORK (AP) — Richard Burton has set a record. He's played "Hamlet" more times in New York than any other actor.

Burton's performance Thursday night at the Lunt-Fontanne Theater was his 133rd, one more than the 1936-47 run of Sir John Gielgud in the role.

Gielgud, incidentally is directing the current production.

The Pennsylvania Academy of Fine Arts in Philadelphia is the oldest art institution in the United States.

Saugerties

Miss Saugerties Patron Sales Help Scholarship

The sale of patron tickets for this year's Miss Saugerties Pageant, to be held Sept. 19, is the backbone of the scholarship fund for the winning contestant.

The patron ticket sale started today with mailings to Saugerties area businessmen and residents.

The amount of the scholarship is determined by the results of the patron ticket sales. Those purchasing patron tickets are listed on the official program and receive a seat in the patron section. Those holding patron tickets must exchange them as soon as possible for reserved seat numbers.

Deadline for patron ticket sales is September 10.

The pageant will be held at Saugerties High School Auditorium. The winner will succeed Miss Jane Markovsy and will represent Saugerties in the Miss New York State Pageant, an official preliminary to the Miss America Pageant in Atlantic City, N. J.

Alfred R. MacMullen, Saugerties Area Chamber of Commerce executive secretary is ticket chairman.

Application blanks for contestants may be secured at many of the Main and Partition Street places of business.

"Body or Soul?" will be the sermon subject of the Rev. Robert Hess, summer pastor of Saugerties Reformed Church, at the 10 a. m. service.

The adult choir will sing the responses and assist in the singing of the hymns. Mrs. Josephin Plimley will play the organ at the service. Soloist will be Miss Mildred Newkirk who will sing the selection entitled "Eye Hath Not Seen" by Gaul taken from "The Holy City."

There will be a nursery for all pre-school age children including infants and toddlers held in the chapel on John Street for the convenience of parents wishing to attend the service. This is sponsored by the ladies of the Women's Guild for Christian Service.

Congregational Notes

Services at First Congregational Church, Main Street, Saugerties are on summer schedule at 10 a. m. Sunday school is in summer recess. Sermon topic Sunday will be, Not Afraid of Work. Report Buildup In Crisis Area

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Vietnamese border crisis appeared to ease today as another night passed without a Red attack from the north. But there were continuing reports of U.S. and Red Chinese buildups in the explosive Southeast Asia.

And although the only Peking response to the U.S. air strike against North Vietnamese's PT boat fleet has been a torrent of flaming words, President Johnson — as the rest of Washington officialdom — had his fingers crossed.

Only Routine Fighting

Government forces and their American advisers along South Viet Nam's heavily reinforced northern frontier were reported in dispatches today to have been anticipating a massive Red attack in reprisal. But U.S. operations officers said only "routine" fighting was reported throughout South Viet Nam.

The South Vietnamese forces remained on full alert near the frontier but American advisers with the government's first division at Gia Linh expressed doubt the North Vietnamese would launch an attack.

Hanoi 'Very Quiet'

Hanoi, North Viet Nam's capital, was reported by a Japanese businessman to be "very quiet."

Nationalist Chinese military sources in Taipei, Formosa, said today that Red China sent nearly 100 Soviet-built MIG fighters to Hanoi Thursday to reinforce North Viet Nam's air force.

The sources said their information came from intelligence dispatches. American military intelligence sources in Hong Kong said there was nothing to substantiate the report.

From Honolulu came reports that more than 100 U.S. jets swept aloft from Hickam Air Force base Thursday, heading toward undisclosed bases in Asia.

Thursday afternoon, Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara called a news conference at the Pentagon and said that while he assumes Peking may send in some combat aircraft to help North Viet Nam, there have been no indication of any substantial Chinese military movements in the last few days.

No Evidence of Help

What's more, McNamara said there is no evidence the Chinese helped the North Vietnamese in the attacks on the destroyers Maddox and Turner Joy.

Still a regiment of North Viet Nam's infantrymen faced Saigon's reinforced 1st Division at the Ben Hai River border Thursday night. And if China sends combat aircraft to North Viet Nam, they will be the first such planes for the small Red nation which has been pressing a guerrilla war on U.S.-supported South Viet Nam.

China took an ominous stance in the wake of the American strike. It declared "U.S. imperialism" had gone over the brink of war and pledged "the Chinese people will absolutely not sit idly by" while North Viet Nam was being "subjected to aggression."

Thursday, Peking was silent, although two of its satellites took to the air — North Viet Nam to claim its batteries had shot down eight American planes in Wednesday's assault and North Korea to promise full support to North Viet Nam against U.S. "provocative armed aggression."

Will Try for Freedom

In a separate broadcast, Hanoi Radio said the American pilot captured by one of its antiaircraft units has been identified as Lt. J.G. Everett Alvarez Jr., 26, who flew his sortie from the carrier Constellation.

McNamara has said two U.S. planes were shot down and a third damaged. He said efforts will be made to win freedom for Alvarez, listed as missing by the Navy along with Lt. J.G. Richard C. Sather, also 26. Alvarez is from San Jose, Calif., and Sather from Pomona, Calif.

Earlier Thursday, the Pentagon boss went to Capitol Hill and outlined for congressional committees steps taken to be ready to counter any sudden blows in Southeast Asia. He said the reinforcements of U.S. ships, planes and men in the area "will stay in position as long as required."

Wall Street Jittery

Even though a lull has set in, usually sensitive Wall Street was jittery enough Thursday to send the stock market to its sharpest decline since the assassination last November of President John F. Kennedy.

Tito Welcomes Jackie, but She Stays on Yacht

ZADAR, Yugoslavia (AP) — Representatives of the Yugoslav Foreign Ministry welcomed Mrs. John F. Kennedy to Yugoslavia today, but the former first lady did not come ashore.

The yacht Radiant, on which Mrs. Kennedy is cruising the Adriatic with a party of friends, anchored an hour and a half in the harbor.

While several hundred Yugoslavs and foreign tourists gathered on the shore, Foreign Ministry representatives went to the yacht to extend the official welcome.

Mrs. Kennedy told them the cruise from Venice had been very pleasant and that she felt very well. The weather was hot and the sea was calm, but there was a light breeze.

The Radiant was escorted in and out of the harbor by a Yugoslav navy patrol boat. The yacht's next destination was not disclosed, but it was thought it might cruise through the Kornati Archipelago of several hundred small islands off Zadar.

Informed sources said when the visit to Yugoslavia was arranged, Mrs. Kennedy declined to visit President Tito because she still is in mourning for her husband and did not want to give her visit any official character. However, Tito sent his chief of protocol, Dr. Sloven Smodlaka, to Zadar to welcome Mrs. Kennedy if she came ashore.

Vols Elect . . .

James McNarama of Rosendale was chairman of the banquet committee.

Election of officers for 1964-65 will highlight the agenda at tonight's business meeting to be held at the Bloomington Firehouse, starting at 8 o'clock.

Parade Starts at 5

The parade, which is looked forward to by the public, will step off at 5 p. m. Saturday from the Parkcrest Estates. The parade route is 1.6-miles long.

Parade judges will review the marching units from a stand in front of Rosendale Firehouse on Main Street. The judges are: for firemen, Percy Van Leuvan, chairman, Albert Belle Isle, trustee of the Firemen's Home, State of New York and Colin Jackson; for auxiliaries — Mrs. Edward Moulton and Mrs. Jean Thornton; for apparatus — Chief Edward Moulton and Earl Weale; for musical units—Walter Durkee and Clarence Cooper; for visiting companies— Thomas Rodgers and Francis X. Maloney.

Trophy competition will be in the following catagories: Best appearing unit in regulation uniform; second best appearing unit in regulation uniform; best appearing unit in dress uniform with more than 15 men, as well as under 15 men, and second place in both of these catagories; best and second best marching ladies auxiliaries, best musical unit (band) and best musical unit (drum corps) as well as best junior musical unit, best and second best appearing apparatus and best appearing guest company.

DOMENICK COSTANTINO

Domenick Costantino, incumbent association first vice-president, is expected to be elected president to succeed Faurote of Bloomington. According to tradition, since each president's home company hosts the annual convention during his tenure, Hiighland probably will be selected as the site for the 1965 convention.

Tomorrow's parade is expected to be the largest firemen's parade ever held in Ulster county. Forty-seven fire companies and ladies auxiliaries and 21 musical units are ready to step off at 5 p. m., and proceed from Parkcrest Estates, west along James Street to Main, east on Main to Route 32 and south on Route 32 to Sportsmen's Park Field, where the parade will disband and refreshments will be served.

Trophy winners will be announced and the awards presented at approximately 8 p. m. tomorrow at Sportsmen's Park Field.

Vols Kept Busy

Volunteer fire fighters were kept busy battling minor blazes Thursday and today throughout the county. Cottekill, Saxton, Shokan, Centerville, Glasco and Highland all were summoned to brush fires. They were out of service a short while in each call. Lomontville responded this morning to a truck fire on Hurley Mountain Road, but they too were out of service only a short time, according to Mutual Aid.

Shed Fire Is Under Police Investigation

Local police were asked Thursday to investigate a shed fire of suspected origin at the rear of 134 Cedar Street.

Firemen, called at 6:15 p. m., said a rear corner of the structure was ablaze when they arrived. Units from Central and Wiltwyck stations, Wicks and Excelsior companies were dispatched there with Capt. Harry L. Sills in charge. Pressurized water and a pump stream were used.

The roof of the structure, owned by Mrs. Fred School, of 16 Brewster Street, firemen said, had apparently collapsed some time before the fire, and it was necessary to remove two sides of the shed because of a hazardous condition.

Retiring From C-H on Sept. 1, 37-Year Service

FREDERICK W. SNYDER

A former Kingston man, Frederick W. Snyder who has been eastern division manager of Central Hudson Gas and Electric Corporation for 10 years, will retire Sept. 1.

Snyder joined Central Hudson in April 1927 as an Installation Inspector at Kingston. He later served as a cashier, public contact supervisor and assistant manger in Kingston before being transferred to Beacon as commercial district manager in 1941.

In 1946 he advanced to Newburgh District Manager and he was appointed Eastern Division Manager in 1954.

Snyder, a resident of Beechwood Avenue, Poughkeepsie, has served as vice president and director of the Greater Poughkeepsie Area Chamber of Commerce and as a director of the Poughkeepsie Rotary Club.

He is a former director of the Dutchess County Health Association, a past president of the Amrita Club and a former vice president and director of the Poughkeepsie YMCA.

Snyder also served as a director of the Dutchess Area Community Chest and Council and as chairman of the organization's business and industry and public service campaign divisions.

While in Beacon, Snyder helped organize the Beacon Chamber of Commerce and he served as president of the Kiwanis Club. In Newburgh, he was elected president of the Rotary Club and a member of the Board of Managers of St. Luke's Hospital. He also served as general chairman of the Newburgh Community Chest Campaign.

Invoke Viet . . .

had nothing to substantiate this report and suggested it appeared to have no foundation.

Khanh's decree represented a modified form of martial law.

U.S. officials said they had known in advance of the decree and there was wide approval. It is intended partly to relieve Khanh of dangers of political infighting aimed at undermining him.

"We are ready to extend assistance to the people of North Viet Nam to overthrow their Communist masters," Khanh told a news conference.

Going With Troops

"I am going now to be with my troops," he added and refused to say more as he stepped into a limousine and drove away. Khanh is a major general in the South Vietnamese army.

The premier appeared to be bracing the South Vietnamese people for a full-scale war against the Communists.

The state of national emergency bans strikes and demonstrations, institutes press censorship, controls food distribution and travel, and imposes curfews in some areas.

Police also were given sweeping powers to search and arrest.

"We said at the beginning of this year that this year would be decisive in our struggle with the Communists," Khanh said. "Now we can say the coming weeks will be decisive."

Khanh was known to be planning a field trip Saturday to the northern provinces of South Viet Nam.

Censorship Uncertain

Censorship provisions were not spelled out in the decree, but it said that all press, radio, movies, theater and publications would be censored.

Khanh told the newsmen that "internally, we face a Communist army in our territory of 150,000 men, 34,000 of whom are regular Communist troops."

In adddition, he said, there are new threats from Communist North Viet Nam, Cambodia and the Chinese Communists, who he claimed had begun to station troops in North Viet Nam.

"For these reasons," he said, "we see clearly that we may be invaded or attacked at anytime."

Top Nazi Gives Up, Fled Prison After Conviction

BRUNSWICK, Germany (AP) —Hans Walter Zech-Nenntwich, a war-crimes prisoner who escaped here last April, has given himself up to German authorities, prosecutor Ernst Thiele announced today.

This ended a widespread hunt for the former SS lieutenant, 47, who was sentenced to four years in prison for his part in the massacre of 5,200 Polish Jews in World War II.

Zech-Nenntwich escaped April 23, four days after his conviction, with the aid of a jail warden who was his crony during the Nazi days.

He flew to Switzerland with his girl friend, Margit Steinheuer, in a sports plane she rented. Later he fled to Egypt, haven of other ex-Nazis, where he was spotted by reporters of a German illustrated magazine.

Unconfirmed reports since have placed him in various places, including Ethiopia and South Africa. It was not immediately known how he returned to Germany.

The guard accused of helping Zech-Nenntwich escape is Hans Zeeman, 48, a former Nazi labor service leader.

German authorities had offered a reward of 10,000 marks —$2,500—for information leading to Zech-Nenntwich's capture.

Congress for . . .

Senate Is Next

Senate action — with overwhelming approval also certain —was expected this afternoon.

House discussion of the resolution was brief with the majority of the speakers, both Republicans and Democrats, expressing firm support for it.

There were exceptions.

Rep. Ed Foreman, R - Tex., drew boos and groans of disapproval from the Democratic side when he said: "We've heard an awful lot in the last few weeks about trigger-happy irresponsibility. I say, 'What is this?' "

Foreman referred to a news report that President Johnson had announced the air strike in North Viet Nam on nationwide television an hour and a half before the raid actually occurred.

Denial by Pentagon

"What kind of responsibility is this?" Foreman shouted. "The parents and wives of the boys who were killed in those strikes are going to be asking."

The Pentagon has denied that the North Vietnamese made any preparation for air raids on their torpedo-boat installations.

In the Senate, Morse was given two hours of time for his protests.

Few Listen

But few listened to him. At one point, only two other senators were in the chamber — Democratic leader Mike Mansfield of Montana and newly-appointed Sen. Pierre Salinger, D-Calif., who acted as presiding officer.

Morse said that Congress was abandoning its constitutional duty to decide upon declarations of war through this and similar recent resolutions.

"The White House now has plenty of power," Morse said. "I oppose granting any more."

Words of Document

The bipartisan document cites North Vietnamese PT boat attacks on American destroyers in the Gulf of Tonkin and states: "The Congress approves and supports the determination of the President, as commander in chief, to take all necessary measures to repel any armed attack against the forces of the United States and to prevent further aggression."

The President had asked for this expression of approval after ordering Tuesday a naval air strike against the Communist North Vietnamese PT boats and their shore facilities in retaliation for attacks on the destroyers Maddox and Turner Joy.

Senate Democratic leader Mike Mansfield called an early start of the session to allow Sen. Wayne Morse, D-Ore., two hours in which to spell out his opposition to the resolution, and an hour for other senators to speak.

Morse has denounced the resolution as a "predated declaration of war" and said "the only solution now is to take this to the conference table immediately."

Sen. Ernest Gruening, D-Alaska, joined Morse in opposition Thursday. Gruening told the Senate "All Viet Nam is not worth the life of a single American boy."

But Sen. Richard B. Russell, D-Ga., chairman of the Senate Armed Services Committee, said the PT boat attacks meant that "our national honor is at stake and we can not shrink from defending it."

In Thursday's debate, speaker after speaker underscored the gravity of the situation and the import of the resolution.

"We hope for the best," said Mansfield. "But let us also be prepared for the worst. The situation may well become more critical—far more critical — before its resolution becomes visible."

Boy Slightly Injured

George Murphy, 8, of 122 O'Neil Street, suffered a slight injury of the right elbow in a car-pedestrian mishap at Bruyn Avenue and O'Neil Street Thursday afternoon. A police report at 1:15 p. m., said the car was driven by John Arena, of Route 32, Box 46-E, New Paltz, and the boy ran from behind a parked car. He was to be treated by a doctor. Officer Junious Harris investigated.

U.S., Reds Split On Wording of Invite by U.N.

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y. (AP) — The United States and the Soviet Union have agreed North and South Viet Nam should be invited to take part in the Security Council debate on the new crisis in Southeast Asia. But an argument has arisen over the wording of the invitation to the rival regimes.

Diplomatic sources said council President Sivert A. Nielsen of Norway proposed calling them North Viet Nam and South Viet Nam.

The Soviet Union insisted that the Communist government be addressed as it calls itself — the Democratic Republic of Viet Nam. The United States said in that case the pro-Western southern state should be called the Republic of Viet Nam.

Preoccupation with such details indicated tensions were easing in the crisis resulting from North Vietnamese torpedo atacks on U.S. warships in the Gulf of Tonkin followed by retaliatory air strikes by the United States.

Once the niceties of protocol are agreed on, Nielsen planned to convene the 11-nation council, perhaps this afternoon, to give the invitation a formal blessing.

If the two Viet Nams respond promptly, the council could begin debate early next week on the events in Tonkin Gulf. Unless there is new fighting, it will be a post-mortem.

U.S. sources said their government did not have a full-dress debate on Viet Nam in mind when it called for an urgent council meeting Wednesday. They said U.S. Chief Delegate Adlai E. Stevenson asked for the session to comply with the U.N. Charter provision which says member states have the right to defend themselves against armed attack but must inform the council when they do.

However, the U.S. informants said Stevenson anticipated the Soviets might try to turn the council hearing into a prolonged debate.

Miron to Build Plant on Bypass

Construction of a fully-automatic concrete plant on a 15-acre tract off the East Chester Street bypass by Miron Corp., at an estimated cost of $200,000, is planned by the local firm.

Jules Miron, company president, reportedly confirmed plans for the plant and said it will be the last word in this type of operation. He contended it will be one of the largest and most modern concrete plants in the country.

The company executive reportedly said that other buildings will be constructed as the need arises to meet the long range business of the company. Work was scheduled to start on the plant in the near future.

Petition Denied

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — The state Supreme Court today denied the petition of Justice Michael A. Musmanno for a rehearing in the wrong-line vote dispute.

In a per curiam decision, the court said merely, "Petition denied. Further proceedings to stay for 10 days."

The high court had ruled against its colleague, Justice Musmanno, in the latter's contention that 6,000 votes cast in the April primary election on wrong lines should be counted.

The effect of the court's original ruling was to give apparent victory to Genevieve Blatt, state secretary of internal affairs, in her contest with Musmanno for the Democratic party's U. S. Senate nomination.

Tanker, Freighter Hit

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — A tanker and a freighter collided on the fog shrouded Delaware River today near the Philadelphia Navy Yard.

First reports were that the Texaco tanker, Wisconsin, struck the freighter Steelmaker on the starboard side just forward of the bridge.

A 15-foot gash could be seen in the side of the freighter. It was visible from water level to the deck. Only minor damage to the tanker was reported.

There was no report of casualties. A Navy spokesman said the freighter was aground, the tanker resting at anchor.

Pole President Dies

WARSAW (AP) — Alexander Zadawski, 65, president of Poland since 1952, died today, the Polish press agency reported.

Cause of death was not given. Unofficial sources said he had cancer.

Zawadski, a member of the ruling Communist party politburo, underwent a major operation April 16 by a team of abdominal surgeons headed by a Briton, Dr. Hermon Taylor of London. Medical sources at the time said Zawadski had ailment of the digestive tract.

Fortunato (Frank) Bruno

Fortunato (Frank) Bruno, a resident of this city for many years died at Benedictine Hospital Thursday. Until recently he had resided at 21 Elmendorf Street. Mr. Bruno for many years was a well known barber in Kingston and until illness forced his retirement had operated his own shop on central Broadway. He was a veteran of World War I. His wife, the former Ida Princivalle, died in 1961. Funeral will be held from the Jenson and Deegan Funeral Home, 15 Downs Street Saturday 9 a. m., thence to St. Joseph's Church where at 9:30 a. m. a high Mass of requiem will be offered for the repose of his soul. Burial will be in St. Mary's Cemetery. Friends may call at the funeral home tonight 7 to 9. Surviving are a brother, Frank Bruno of Long Island; two sisters, Fortunata and Anna Bruno, both of Italy and a stepbrother, Peter Louis of New York City.

Airmen to Get Trial August 26

Six Stewart Air Force Base Airmen, arrested earlier this month on petit larceny charges involving the alleged theft of a gun, appeared Thursday afternoon before Justice of the Peace Robert L. Harp, Town of New Paltz.

Authorities booked the airmen as Ronald D. Dusenberry, 20; James McCleary, 20; Flores Stratton, same age; Rodney Horolingwolf, 24; Guy E. Davidson, 19, and Homer F. Costen, also 19.

The accused airmen were scheduled for hearing, but through their attorney they requested a jury trial. Judge Harp adjourned the case until Wednesday, Aug. 26, and fixed bail at $500.

Each of the airmen posted a bond and they were released. The defendants had been free in their own custody.

Two of the men told the judge they wanted to file assault charges against the complainant, Bernard Robbison of New Paltz, who had accused the airmen of taking a .22 caliber gun from him and later threw it away.

Judge Harp said he refused to entertain the request for assault charges.

According to Robbison the airmen took his gun on a village street. He complained to New Paltz Officer Calvert Harvey, who pursued the men in a car and overtook them. Petit larceny charges were lodged.

To Discuss Site For Sears Store In Uptown Area

Proposed location of a Sears Roebuck & Co., retail store in the uptown area is to be discussed at a meeting next Tuesday night of the Urban Renewal Agency Board, it was learned today.

Two sites are said to be under consideration, one in the Kingston Plaza shopping center and one in the uptown urban renewal area bounded in part by North Front and Converse Streets and Clinton Avenue, Eric Hemphill, local UR director said.

Several problems and "complications" in conjunction with the proposed project are to be considered at the Tuesday night meeting.

Mayor John J. Schwenk, members of the Common Council, and of the Citizens Advisory Committee on Urban Renewal have been invited to attend the meeting.

Choking Infant Fair

Seven-month-old Laura Dyshuk, of Schoolhouse Lane, Creek Locks, was reported in fair condition this afternoon at Benedictine Hospital. The child reportedly suffered a choking spell Thursday and was rushed to the hospital by Fatum's ambulance after oxygen was administered by Fire Chief Oscar Hahn of Bloomington, an attendant said.

The dibatag is a rare type of antelope living among the parched sands of central Somaliland.

Report Buildup In Crisis Area

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Vietnamese border crisis appeared to ease today as another night passed without a Red attack from the north. But there were continuing reports of U.S. and Red Chinese buildups in the explosive Southeast Asia.

And although the only Peking response to the U.S. air strike against North Vietnamese's PT boat fleet has been a torrent of flaming words, President Johnson — as the rest of Washington officialdom — had his fingers crossed.

Only Routine Fighting

Government forces and their American advisers along South Viet Nam's heavily reinforced northern frontier were reported in dispatches today to have been anticipating a massive Red attack in reprisal. But U.S. operations officers said only "routine" fighting was reported throughout South Viet Nam.

The South Vietnamese forces remained on full alert near the frontier but American advisers with the government's first division at Gia Linh expressed doubt the North Vietnamese would launch an attack.

Hanoi 'Very Quiet'

Hanoi, North Viet Nam's capital, was reported by a Japanese businessman to be "very quiet."

Nationalist Chinese military sources in Taipei, Formosa, said today that Red China sent nearly 100 Soviet-built MIG fighters to Hanoi Thursday to reinforce North Viet Nam's air force.

The sources said their information came from intelligence dispatches. American military intelligence sources in Hong Kong said there was nothing to substantiate the report.

From Honolulu came reports that more than 100 U.S. jets swept aloft from Hickam Air Force base Thursday, heading toward undisclosed bases in Asia.

Thursday afternoon, Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara called a news conference at the Pentagon and said that while he assumes Peking may send in some combat aircraft to help North Viet Nam, there have been no indication of any substantial Chinese military movements in the last few days.

No Evidence of Help

What's more, McNamara said there is no evidence the Chinese helped the North Vietnamese in the attacks on the destroyers Maddox and Turner Joy.

Still a regiment of North Viet Nam's infantrymen faced Saigon's reinforced 1st Division at the Ben Hai River border Thursday night. And if China sends combat aircraft to North Viet Nam, they will be the first such planes for the small Red nation which has been pressing a guerrilla war on U.S.-supported South Viet Nam.

China took an ominous stance in the wake of the American strike. It declared "U.S. imperialism" had gone over the brink of war and pledged "the Chinese people will absolutely not sit idly by" while North Viet Nam was being "subjected to aggression."

Thursday, Peking was silent, although two of its satellites took to the air — North Viet Nam to claim its batteries had shot down eight American planes in Wednesday's assault and North Korea to promise full support to North Viet Nam against U.S. "provocative armed aggression."

Will Try for Freedom

In a separate broadcast, Hanoi Radio said the American pilot captured by one of its antiaircraft units has been identified as Lt. J.G. Everett Alvarez Jr., 26, who flew his sortie from the carrier Constellation.

McNamara has said two U.S. planes were shot down and a third damaged. He said efforts will be made to win freedom for Alvarez, listed as missing by the Navy along with Lt. J.G. Richard C. Sather, also 26. Alvarez is from San Jose, Calif., and Sather from Pomona, Calif.

Earlier Thursday, the Pentagon boss went to Capitol Hill and outlined for congressional committees steps taken to be ready to counter any sudden blows in Southeast Asia. He said the reinforcements of U.S. ships, planes and men in the area "will stay in position as long as required."

Wall Street Jittery

Even though a lull has set in, usually sensitive Wall Street was jittery enough Thursday to send the stock market to its sharpest decline since the assassination last November of President John F. Kennedy.

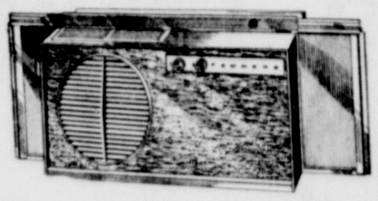

Three Speeders Fined

Three drivers, charged with speeding, were fined $15 each in city court today. They were: M. H. Rosekranse, 22, of 36 Sherman Street; Ronald Cole, 20, of 72 Summer Street, and Robert Dugan, 46, of 34 Stephan Street.

Tito Welcomes Jackie, but She Stays on Yacht

ZADAR, Yugoslavia (AP) — Representatives of the Yugoslav Foreign Ministry welcomed Mrs. John F. Kennedy to Yugoslavia today, but the former first lady did not come ashore.

The yacht Radiant, on which Mrs. Kennedy is cruising the Adriatic with a party of friends, anchored an hour and a half in the harbor.

While several hundred Yugoslavs and foreign tourists gathered on the shore, Foreign Ministry representatives went to the yacht to extend the official welcome.

Mrs. Kennedy told them the cruise from Venice had been very pleasant and that she felt very well. The weather was hot and the sea was calm, but there was a light breeze.

The Radiant was escorted in and out of the harbor by a Yugoslav navy patrol boat. The yacht's next destination was not disclosed, but it was thought it might cruise through the Kornati Archipelago of several hundred small islands off Zadar.

Informed sources said when the visit to Yugoslavia was arranged, Mrs. Kennedy declined to visit President Tito because she still is in mourning for her husband and did not want to give her visit any official character. However, Tito sent his chief of protocol, Dr. Sloven Smodlaka, to Zadar to welcome Mrs. Kennedy if she came ashore.

Vols Elect . . .

companies serving under the organizational title of the Volunteer Firemen's Association.

James McNarama of Rosendale was chairman of the banquet committee.

Election of officers for 1964-65 will highlight the agenda at tonight's business meeting to be held at the Bloomington Firehouse, starting at 8 o'clock.

Parade Starts at 5

The parade, which is looked forward to by the public, will step off at 5 p. m. Saturday from the Parkcrest Estates. The parade route is 1.6-miles long.

Parade judges will review the marching units from a stand in front of Rosendale Firehouse on Main Street. The judges are: for firemen, Percy Van Leuvan, chairman, Albert Belle Isle, trustee of the Firemen's Home, State of New York and Colin Jackson; for auxiliaries — Mrs. Edward Moulton and Mrs. Jean Thornton; for apparatus — Chief Edward Moulton and Earl Weale; for musical units—Walter Durkee and Clarence Cooper; for visiting companies— Thomas Rodgers and Francis X. Maloney.

Trophy competition will be in the following catagories: Best appearing unit in regulation uniform; second best appearing unit in regulation uniform; best appearing unit in dress uniform with more than 15 men, as well as under 15 men, and second place in both of these catagories; best and second best marching ladies auxiliaries, best musical unit (band) and best musical unit (drum corps) as well as best junior musical unit, best and second best appearing apparatus and best appearing guest company.

DOMENICK COSTANTINO

Domenick Costantino, incumbent association first vice-president, is expected to be elected president to succeed Faurote of Bloomington. According to tradition, since each president's home company hosts the annual convention during his tenure, Hiighland probably will be selected as the site for the 1965 convention.

Tomorrow's parade is expected to be the largest firemen's parade ever held in Ulster county. Forty-seven fire companies and ladies auxiliaries and 21 musical units are ready to step off at 5 p. m., and proceed from Parkcrest Estates, west along James Street to Main, east on Main to Route 32 and south on Route 32 to Sportsmen's Park Field, where the parade will disband and refreshments will be served.

Trophy winners will be announced and the awards presented at approximately 8 p. m. tomorrow at Sportsmen's Park Field.

Vols Kept Busy

Volunteer fire fighters were kept busy battling minor blazes Thursday and today throughout the county. Cottekill, Saxton, Shokan, Centerville, Glasco and Highland all were summoned to brush fires. They were out of service a short while in each call. Lomontville responded this morning to a truck fire on Hurley Mountain Road, but they too were out of service only a short time, according to Mutual Aid.

Shed Fire Is Under Police Investigation

Local police were asked Thursday to investigate a shed fire of suspected origin at the rear of 134 Cedar Street.

Firemen, called at 6:15 p. m., said a rear corner of the structure was ablaze when they arrived. Units from Central and Wiltwyck stations, Wicks and Excelsior companies were dispatched there with Capt. Harry L. Sills in charge. Pressurized water and a pump stream were used.

The roof of the structure, owned by Mrs. Fred School, of 16 Brewster Street, firemen said, had apparently collapsed some time before the fire, and it was necessary to remove two sides of the shed because of a hazardous condition.

Retiring From C-H on Sept. 1, 37-Year Service

FREDERICK W. SNYDER

A former Kingston man, Frederick W. Snyder who has been eastern division manager of Central Hudson Gas and Electric Corporation for 10 years, will retire Sept. 1.

Snyder joined Central Hudson in April 1927 as an Installation Inspector at Kingston. He later served as a cashier, public contact supervisor and assistant manger in Kingston before being transferred to Beacon as commercial district manager in 1941.

In 1946 he advanced to Newburgh District Manager and he was appointed Eastern Division Manager in 1954.

Snyder, a resident of Beechwood Avenue, Poughkeepsie, has served as vice president and director of the Greater Poughkeepsie Area Chamber of Commerce and as a director of the Poughkeepsie Rotary Club.

He is a former director of the Dutchess County Health Association, a past president of the Amrita Club and a former vice president and director of the Poughkeepsie YMCA.

Snyder also served as a director of the Dutchess Area Community Chest and Council and as chairman of the organization's business and industry and public service campaign divisions.

While in Beacon, Snyder helped organize the Beacon Chamber of Commerce and he served as president of the Kiwanis Club. In Newburgh, he was elected president of the Rotary Club and a member of the Board of Managers of St. Luke's Hospital. He also served as general chairman of the Newburgh Community Chest Campaign.

Invoke Viet . . .

had nothing to substantiate this report and suggested it appeared to have no foundation.

Khanh's decree represented a modified form of martial law.

U.S. officials said they had known in advance of the decree and there was wide approval. It is intended partly to relieve Khanh of dangers of political infighting aimed at undermining him.

"We are ready to extend assistance to the people of North Viet Nam to overthrow their Communist masters," Khanh told a news conference.

Going With Troops

"I am going now to be with my troops," he added and refused to say more as he stepped into a limousine and drove away. Khanh is a major general in the South Vietnamese army.

The premier appeared to be bracing the South Vietnamese people for a full-scale war against the Communists.

The state of national emergency bans strikes and demonstrations, institutes press censorship, controls food distribution and travel, and imposes curfews in some areas.

Police also were given sweeping powers to search and arrest.

"We said at the beginning of this year that this year would be decisive in our struggle with the Communists," Khanh said. "Now we can say the coming weeks will be decisive."

Khanh was known to be planning a field trip Saturday to the northern provinces of South Viet Nam.

Censorship Uncertain

Censorship provisions were not spelled out in the decree, but it said that all press, radio, movies, theater and publications would be censored.

Khanh told the newsmen that "internally, we face a Communist army in our territory of 150,000 men. 34,000 of whom are regular Communist troops."

In adddition, he said, there are new threats from Communist North Viet Nam, Cambodia and the Chinese Communists, who he claimed had begun to station troops in North Viet Nam.

"For these reasons," he said, "we see clearly that we may be invaded or attacked at anytime."

Top Nazi Gives Up, Fled Prison After Conviction

BRUNSWICK, Germany (AP) —Hans Walter Zech-Nenntwich, a war-crimes prisoner who escaped here last April, has given himself up to German authorities, prosecutor Ernst Thiele announced today.

This ended a widespread hunt for the former SS lieutenant, 47, who was sentenced to four years in prison for his part in the massacre of 5,200 Polish Jews in World War II.

Zech-Nenntwich escaped April 23, four days after his conviction, with the aid of a jail warden who was his crony during the Nazi days.

He flew to Switzerland with his girl friend, Margit Steinheuer, in a sports plane she rented. Later he fled to Egypt, haven of other ex-Nazis, where he was spotted by reporters of a German illustrated magazine.

Unconfirmed reports since have placed him in various places, including Ethiopia and South Africa. It was not immediately known how he returned to Germany.

The guard accused of helping Zech-Nenntwich escape is Hans Zeeman, 48, a former Nazi labor service leader.

German authorities had offered a reward of 10,000 marks —$2,500—for information leading to Zech-Nenntwich's capture.

Congress for . . .

Senate Is Next

Senate action — with overwhelming approval also certain —was expected this afternoon.

House discussion of the resolution was brief with the majority of the speakers, both Republicans and Democrats, expressing firm support for it.

There were exceptions.

Rep. Ed Foreman, R - Tex., drew boos and groans of disapproval from the Democratic side when he said: "We've heard an awful lot in the last few weeks about trigger-happy irresponsibility. I say, 'What is this?' "

Foreman referred to a news report that President Johnson had announced the air strike in North Viet Nam on nationwide television an hour and a half before the raid actually occurred.

Denial by Pentagon

"What kind of responsibility is this?" Foreman shouted. "The parents and wives of the boys who were killed in those strikes are going to be asking."

The Pentagon has denied that the North Vietnamese made any preparation for air raids on their torpedo-boat installations.

Few Listen

But few listened to him. At one point, only two other senators were in the chamber — Democratic leader Mike Mansfield of Montana and newly-appointed Sen. Pierre Salinger, D-Calif., who acted as presiding officer.

Morse said that Congress was abandoning its constitutional duty to decide upon declarations of war through this and similar recent resolutions.

"The White House now has plenty of power," Morse said. "I oppose granting any more."

Words of Document

The bipartisan document cites North Vietnamese PT boat attacks on American destroyers in the Gulf of Tonkin and states: "The Congress approves and supports the determination of the President, as commander in chief, to take all necessary measures to repel any armed attack against the forces of the United States and to prevent further aggression."

The President had asked for this expression of approval after ordering Tuesday a naval air strike against the Communist North Vietnamese PT boats and their shore facilities in retaliation for attacks on the destroyers Maddox and Turner Joy.

Senate Democratic leader Mike Mansfield called an early start of the session to allow Sen. Wayne Morse, D-Ore., two hours in which to spell out his opposition to the resolution, and an hour for other senators to speak.

Morse has denounced the resolution as a "predated declaration of war" and said "the only solution now is to take this to the conference table immediately."

Sen. Ernest Gruening, D-Alaska, joined Morse in opposition Thursday. Gruening told the Senate "All Viet Nam is not worth the life of a single American boy."

But Sen. Richard B. Russell, D-Ga., chairman of the Senate Armed Services Committee, said the PT boat attacks meant that "our national honor is at stake and we can not shrink from defending it."

In Thursday's debate, speaker after speaker underscored the gravity of the situation and the import of the resolution.

"We hope for the best," said Mansfield. "But let us also be prepared for the worst. The situation may well become more critical—far more critical — before its resolution becomes visible."

Boy Slightly Injured

George Murphy, 8, of 122 O'Neil Street, suffered a slight injury of the right elbow in a car-pedestrian mishap at Bruyn Avenue and O'Neil Street Thursday afternoon. A police report at 1:15 p. m., said the car was driven by John Arena, of Route 32, Box 46-E, New Paltz, and the boy ran from behind a parked car. He was to be treated by a doctor. Officer Junious Harris investigated.

U.S., Reds Split On Wording of Invite by U.N.

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y. (AP) — The United States and the Soviet Union have agreed North and South Viet Nam should be invited to take part in the Security Council debate on the new crisis in Southeast Asia. But an argument has arisen over the wording of the invitation to the rival regimes.

Diplomatic sources said council President Sivert A. Nielsen of Norway proposed calling them North Viet Nam and South Viet Nam.

The Soviet Union insisted that the Communist government be addressed as it calls itself — the Democratic Republic of Viet Nam. The United States said in that case the pro-Western southern state should be called the Republic of Viet Nam.

Preoccupation with such details indicated tensions were easing in the crisis resulting from North Vietnamese torpedo atacks on U.S. warships in the Gulf of Tonkin followed by retaliatory air strikes by the United States.

Once the niceties of protocol are agreed on, Nielsen planned to convene the 11-nation council, perhaps this afternoon, to give the invitation a formal blessing.

If the two Viet Nams respond promptly, the council could begin debate early next week on the events in Tonkin Gulf. Unless there is new fighting, it will be a post-mortem.

U.S. sources said their government did not have a full-dress debate on Viet Nam in mind when it called for an urgent council meeting Wednesday. They said U.S. Chief Delegate Adlai E. Stevenson asked for the session to comply with the U.N. Charter provision which says member states have the right to defend themselves against armed attack but must inform the council when they do.

However, the U.S. informants said Stevenson anticipated the Soviets might try to turn the council hearing into a prolonged debate.

Miron to Build Plant on Bypass

Construction of a fully-automatic concrete plant on a 15-acre tract off the East Chester Street bypass by Miron Corp., at an estimated cost of $200,000, is planned by the local firm.

Jules Miron, company president, reportedly confirmed plans for the plant and said it will be the last word in this type of operation. He contended it will be one of the largest and most modern concrete plants in the country.

The company executive reportedly said that other buildings will be constructed as the need arises to meet the long range business of the company. Work was scheduled to start on the plant in the near future.

Petition Denied

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — The state Supreme Court today denied the petition of Justice Michael A. Musmanno for a rehearing in the wrong-line vote dispute.

In a per curiam decision, the court said merely, "Petition denied. Further proceedings to stay for 10 days."

The high court had ruled against its colleague, Justice Musmanno, in the latter's contention that 6,000 votes cast in the April primary election on wrong lines should be counted.

The effect of the court's original ruling was to give apparent victory to Genevieve Blatt, state secretary of internal affairs, in her contest with Musmanno for the Democratic party's U. S. Senate nomination.

Tanker, Freighter Hit

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — A tanker and a freighter collided on the fog shrouded Delaware River today near the Philadelphia Navy Yard.

First reports were that the Texaco tanker, Wisconsin, struck the freighter Steelmaker on the starboard side just forward of the bridge.

A 15-foot gash could be seen in the side of the freighter. It was visible from water level to the deck. Only minor damage to the tanker was reported.

There was no report of casualties. A Navy spokesman said the freighter was aground, the tanker resting at anchor.

Pole President Dies

WARSAW (AP) — Alexander Zadawski, 65, president of Poland since 1952, died today, the Polish press agency reported.

Cause of death was not given. Unofficial sources said he had cancer.

Zawadski, a member of the ruling Communist party politburo, underwent a major operation April 16 by a team of abdominal surgeons headed by a Briton, Dr. Hermon Taylor of London. Medical sources at the time said Zawadski had ailment of the digestive tract.

Local Death Record

Mrs. Mary Watts Chaplin

Mrs. Mary Watts Chaplin, 94, a resident of Woodstock for the past 50 years died Thursday after a long illness. Born in Malden-on-Hudson, she was the daughter of William and Mary Bigelow Watts. Airmen to Get Trial August 26

Six Stewart Air Force Base Airmen, arrested earlier this month on petit larceny charges involving the alleged theft of a gun, appeared Thursday afternoon before Justice of the Peace Robert L. Harp, Town of New Paltz.

Authorities booked the airmen as Ronald D. Dusenberry, 20; James McCleary, 20; Flores Stratton, same age; Rodney Horolingwolf, 24; Guy E. Davidson, 19, and Homer F. Costen, also 19.

The accused airmen were scheduled for hearing, but through their attorney they requested a jury trial. Judge Harp adjourned the case until Wednesday, Aug. 26, and fixed bail at $500.

Each of the airmen posted a bond and they were released. The defendants had been free in their own custody.

Two of the men told the judge they wanted to file assault charges against the complainant, Bernard Robbison of New Paltz, who had accused the airmen of taking a .22 caliber gun from him and later threw it away.

Judge Harp said he refused to entertain the request for assault charges.

According to Robbison the airmen took his gun on a village street. He complained to New Paltz Officer Calvert Harvey, who pursued the men in a car and overtook them. Petit larceny charges were lodged.

To Discuss Site For Sears Store In Uptown Area

Proposed location of a Sears Roebuck & Co., retail store in the uptown area is to be discussed at a meeting next Tuesday night of the Urban Renewal Agency Board, it was learned today.

Two sites are said to be under consideration, one in the Kingston Plaza shopping center and one in the uptown urban renewal area bounded in part by North Front and Converse Streets and Clinton Avenue, Eric Hemphill, local UR director said.

Several problems and "complications" in conjunction with the proposed project are to be considered at the Tuesday night meeting.

Mayor John J. Schwenk, members of the Common Council, and of the Citizens Advisory Committee on Urban Renewal have been invited to attend the meeting.

Miller Cancels Talks

Aides said he felt he had to be on hand in the House for votes on the congressional resolution backing President Johnson's actions in Viet Nam, and the anti-poverty bill.

Miller was to have gone first to Harrisburg for a Republican state leadership conference, and then to Philadelphia for the Young Republican State Convention.

Stormville Man Fair After Crash, Cited by Police

A Dutchess County motorist, injured in a spectacular car-tractor trailer collision Thursday night on Route 44 near Pleasant Valley, was reported in fair condition today in St. Francis Hospital, Poughkeepsie.

State Police at Millbrook said Michael Bullard, 27, of Stormville, suffered arm fractures, lip cuts and possible concussions in the crash. They also cited him for a traffic violation.

Troopers said Oscar Baisley, 54, of 77 Mill Street, Newburgh, was driving a tractor trailer about 11:20 p. m. on the Dutchess County highway when it collided with Bullard's vehicle. Bullard told the troopers that he was rounding a curve when his car was forced into the oncoming lane. They said the tractor trailer jacknifed, ripping a wheel off the bottom of the trailer rig, and leaving the twisted wreckage of the rig spread across the highway.

The wreckage tied up highway traffic about three hours. Trooper K. R. Rosman, who investigated, cited Bullard for failure to keep right. Baisley escaped injury. Bullard was taken to the hospital by the Pleasant Valley ambulance.

Another motorist was cited for three traffic violations after a two-car collision Thursday afternoon on Rt. 9W about a mile south of the Highland traffic circle.

Arraigned this morning before Peace Justice Philip Schunk, Town of Lloyd, Robert Lee Craft, 23, of Lakeland, Fla, admitted all three charges.

Unable to pay a $100 fine on a charge of driving without insurance, Craft was remanded to the County Jail for 30 days or until he is able to pay the fine. Julge Schunk suspended execution of $50 fines each when Craft admitted charges of being an unlicensed driver and driving an unregistered vehicle. Craft had been in jail in lieu of $250 bail since his arrest after the accident.

Louis Mandeville, 44, of Stanfordville, the other driver, was taken to Vassar Hospital for treatment of chest and right shoulder contusions. He was released after treatment.

Troopers said both drivers were headed north on Rt. 9W when Mandeville started to pass Craft. However, they said, Craft made a left turn causing his vehicle to be struck on the left by the Mandeville car.

Trooper H. C. Foster investigated.

that the question of whether a property owner is to pay 100 per cent of a sidewalk improvement to his own property, or share 25 per cent of this responsibility with all other property owners, was more important an issue than the safety of the children from the Fourth, Fifth and Sixth Wards.

No Walks for Children

"There is no way to provide sidewalks unless the council appropriates the money. Evidently there is no point in calling another special meeting, judging from the tempers of last night's meeting. This means that it will be impossible to have sidewalks prior to the opening of the John F. Kennedy School.

"I expect to resubmit the request at the September meeting, and hope the influence of public opinion will alter the position taken by those alderman, who opposed the appropriation, and insist on all taxpayers of the city sharing the cost of improving the properties of a few.

Confusion arose as to procedure at last night's meeting, after Minority Leader James F. Howard (D) 10th Ward, moved, in effect, that the sidewalk and curbing proposal be sent back to the Board of Public Works with the request that assessment for the project be fixed at a 75-25 per cent basis.

After some discussion as to whether or not Alderman Alecca could abstain from voting, all 12 alderman present finally voted, and the result was 6-6 tie. The vote, which defeated the bond measure 7-5, followed.

Hearing Slated

cludes all properties on both sides of River Road from the current district line to and including the Sciences and Arts Camp Inc.

The proposal will not require the expenditure of money as those users along the River Road may tap into the existing water main going to the new water purification plant at their own expense.

FBI Pushes Search for Killers of 3

PHILADELPHIA, Miss. (AP) — The FBI kept up relentless pressure today in an effort to uncover the killers of three civil rights workers.

Agents were busy around the back - country swamp-dotted area southwest of here, where they dug three bodies out of the red clay of a nearby watershed dam Tuesday.

Residents in the dam area were being questioned. Agents also interrogated workers at the truck company operated by Olen Burrage, who owns the farm where the dam is located.

Sheriff Lawrence Rainey and Deputy Cecil Price, who have had several sessions with FBI interrogators, conferred with an investigator for the State Sovereignty Commission — the state's official segregation watchdog.

Price was the last to see the three civil rights workers before they fell into the hands of killers last June 21.

He arrested them on speeding charges as they were en route to investigate a Negro church burning. He said they were held six hours for investigation, then released on bond at about 11 p.m.

The bodies of Michael Schwerner, 24, and Andrew Goodman, 20, both white New Yorkers, were positively identified.

The body of a Negro found with them was presumably that of James Chaney, 21, of Meridian, Miss., their companion when they were arrested.

Hudson Facing End of Water, Wheeler Warns

Mayor Samuel T. Wheeler of Hudson, has appealed to residents of the city to immediately reduce their normal daily use water by one third, and warned the citizenry "we are running out of water."

The mayor spoke out after a lengthy conference Thursday with Department of Public Works Commissioner Robert Adams and DPW Supt. Monroe Tarbell, and after a personal inspection of the citys' source of water supply.

Commissioner Adams and Superintendent Tarbell agreed with Mayor Wheeler that the appeal was a "necessary one."

After a meeting with Police Commissioner Raymond Freeman and Police Chief John J. Sullivan, Mayor Wheeler said, "The city police have been directed to take immediate action and to arrest any person violating the water ban imposed on July 15."

The ban prohibts the use of water for lawns and gardens, sidewalk or car washing, swimming and wading pools and air conditioning.

Commenting on yesterday's level at the dam, Mayor Wheeler noted that in 1962, the year of the city's last water ban, "this did not occur until Oct. 8." He added, "It is obvious, therefore, that we are in dire straits."

The mayor requested that each citizen "come to a stark realization that the city of Hudson is in very real trouble." He added, "We are running out of water. We must conserve the meager supply of water we now have—and we must do it now—everyone."

Two Teeners Are Charged With Burglary at Grill

One of two teeners, who, police said, were caught burglarizing Worf's Restaurant, 97 Abeel Street, early today, was returned to jail, after city court appearances, for hearing Aug. 13, and the other, a juvenile, was taken to Mamaroneck, where he resides, and is to be in the custody of family court.

Preston Coddington Jr., 16, of 109 Hunter Street, was charged with third degree burglary. The juvenile, police said, is 15 years old. He was returned to Mamaroneck by detectives Charles McCullough and Albert Hutton.

They were charged with taking $11.50 from a cash register and metal filing cabinet, police said $2.05 of it was in Canadian money.

Police were called to the restaurant shortly after 1 a. m. by Mrs. Juanita Worf. The two were "apprehended inside" by Officers George Barringer and Leon Fitzgerald. A side window was pushed open to gain entrance, police said.

Attorney Richard W. Griggs appeared with Coddington later this morning before Judge Joseph D. Saccoman. Bail, fixed at $500 cash, or $1,000 property, was not immediately posted, and Coddington was returned to jail.

Another report shortly after 1 a. m., said someone was apparently trying to enter Martin's Market, 89 Franklin Street, but Officers Joseph Kivlan and Albert Johnson, who checked there, reported "all secure."

Epton Still in Prison

NEW YORK (AP) — Harlem leftist William Epton has posted $10,000 bond on charges of criminal anarchy, but remained in prison today.

The district attorney's office said it would take 48 hours to examine "the sufficiency of the collateral."

Epton, a self-described Communist who led an abortive street demonstration in Harlem last week, was accused of advocating the overthrow of New York State's government by force.

Financial and Commercial

NEW YORK (AP)—The stock market recovered early this afternoon in sluggish trading.

Fear of a spreading crisis in Southeast Asia, possibly involving the Red Chinese, had simmered down and key stocks rose from fractions to a point or so.

Activity, however, was the slowest of the week.

Coppers, steels, motors, rails, utilities, airlines, oils, tobaccos, electronics, farm implements and retails were among the gainers. Chemicals and rubbers were mixed.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks at noon was up 1.0 at 313.7 with industrials up 1.6, rails up .4 and utilities up .5.

As coppers rallied, Kennecott, Phelps Dodge and Magma were up around a point, Anaconda added a fraction.

Chrysler, up about a point, was the largest gainer among motors. Ford, GM, American Motors and Studebaker edged higher.

Some of the higher - priced stocks swung higher by larger margins. IBM rose more than 4, Xerox and Control Data more than 2 each, Polaroid and High Voltage Engineering a point or so.

American and Eastern Airlines rose about a point each.

Corporate bonds were mixed; governments were unchanged.

Ski Promotion Group Announces $13,600 in Bank

Officials of the Joppenbergh Mountain Corporation which seeks to raise $25,000 to purchase and rehabilitate a 117¾-acre tract on the mountain as a championship ski jumping site in the Town of Rosendale, announced today that $13,600 has actually been received and deposited in the corporation's bank account.

The corporation, which offered 250 sales of stock to the public at $100 per share to purchase the site of the former 60 meter Telemark Ski Championship Jump, also announced that while the current fund-raising endeavor was proceeding "with complete success, according to schedule," there is presently still available 90 shares at the $100 par value to subscribers.

Karl Strobel, temporary president of the Joppenbergh Corporation and Ralph Assion, acting treasurer, said that pledges and subscriptions in the amount of $8,600 is being collected according to schedule. However, they said, all subscriptions not received, according to the date promised, would be cancelled by the corporation unless extensions are requested.

The Joppenbergh Corporation is an upshot of a local effort by two Rosendale men who obtained an option to buy the property from its owner, May Sammons, for $20,000. The option expires Aug. 20.

Corporation officials were confident that the money would be raised, along with the additional $5,000 for rehabilitation work, and that the option would be exercised. In fact, construction of the ski tract has been scheduled to start next month. Officials said survey was presently being done to perfect the mountain profile and design to the 50-70 meter ski jump.

They pointed out that no commissions were being paid to anyone, nor any salaries or other remunerations, on conjunction with the sale of the stock, which is being done on a community project basis.

Corporation officials called the project "the largest community undertaking that has ever been seen" in the long history of the town.

Support Spurned

phia he will support all Republican candidates in November. But Scott, who is in his party's liberal wing, did not mention any of them — including conservative Goldwater — by name.

A reporter's question led Goldwater to define the kind of support he wants.

Not for Klan Support

The newsman said Miller had implied he and Goldwater would accept the support of the Ku Klux Klan, and asked how Goldwater felt about that.

"He never accepted the support of the Klan, nor did I," Goldwater said.

Miller, asked about Klan backing on July 29 said he and Goldwater would "accept the support of any American citizen who believes in our posture, our position."

The questin was put to Miller after Calvin F. Craig of Atlanta, Georgia's top Klan official, announced on July 25 he was supporting the Republican ticket.

"We don't seek or want the support of the Klan," Miller said Thursday.

Growth and Strength Mean More Than Owners

Q) "Stewart-Warner owns 20 per cent of the outstanding stock of Thor Power Tool, and Arden Farms owns over 75 per cent of the stock of Mayfair Markets. Would it be more risky to invest in Thor because of the Stewart - Warner interest? Would it be wise to buy Mayfair when it is controlled by Arden?" — C. H.

A) Yours is a very interesting question, if I may say so.

Since Stewart-Warner is a stronger company than Thor, I believe its 20 per cent ownership is a favorable factor. However, I would not buy Thor for other reasons .There has been no growth here in the past decade, and the dividend has been unchanged since 1956. Earnings were down 35 per cent in the first quarter.

As to Mayfair, the question is now academic, since Arden Farms on July 15 proposed to merge with Mayfair and remain the surviving company.

Q) "I own shares of American Can bought at 44 per share, and another block bought at 39⅛. Should I hold for the high dividend or switch into a better growth issue?" — L. T.

A) It is very difficult for me to answer you without knowing what your investment objective is. I cannot say here too frequently that everyone should set for himself an investment goal—either income or growth—and adhere to it rigidly.

American Can is not a growth issue. Earnings last year were about the same as a decade earlier, and dividends have been unchanged for nine years. American Can's earnings were down again in the first half of 1964, following a decline in 1963.

If you do not need the 4½ per cent yield afforded by American Can, I advise you to switch to an issue in which capital enhancement over the years is far more probable—Sears, Roebuck, our greatest merchandiser.

Onteora Education Board Reduces Budget $91,247

About 200 voters attended the budget hearing for the 1964-65 Onteora budget Tuesday. Lloyd Collins, budget chairman, reviewed the budget and discussed major cuts which had been made after voters had rejected the original budget proposal for a second time. Various proposals were made to reduce the budget further and there was an occasional request to increase expenditures in some items.

Beginning at 11 p. m. the Board met in special meeting until 1:30 a. m. discussing the proposals which had been made during the budget hearing. Action was then taken to reduce the proposed budget by an additional $1,800 by cutting the quantity of supplies to be provided to students for classroom use. They also added $2,000 to the expected receipts which is money anticipated from students for rental of musical intruments.

As a results of the Board action, the budget to be presented to the voters on August 12 will provide for a cut of $91,247 from the budget which was first proposed in May. The amount to be raised by tax has been reduced by $91,947.

Proposals for Further Cuts

Reduce textbooks costs by having parents buy the books.

Increase the price of the school lunch for each student.

Spend less on teachers' salaries.

Eliminate field trips for students or have parents pay the cost.

Eliminate the dental hygiene program.

Eliminate district payment for physical exams of bus drivers. Eliminate school libraries and use public libraries.

Eliminate minor sports such as golf and bowling.

Eliminate the financial support of a school newspaper.

Eliminate the programs provided by the Board of Cooperative Educational Services such as vocational education for students in auto mechanics, cosmotology, electronics, data processing, and cooperative work-study programs.

Proposed Additions

Suggestions for additions to budget expenditures included the following:

Provide for adult education.

Provide good library services in all schools.

Retain the dental hygiene program.

Spend more money for library books.

Actual Reductions

Actual reductions in the budget made by the Board are as follows:

Taxpayers Meet For Discussion, Election Aug. 8

The annual meeting of the Woodstock Township Taxpayers Association will be held Saturday 8 p. m. at Deanie's Restaurant, Woodstock.

A discussion on Eliminating or Reducing the Real Property Taxes on Your Home will be held. Resolution declaring the position of the association with respect to the increasing burden of school taxes on real estate will be presented for approval of the membership.

Both before and after the membership vote on these resolutions, opportunity will be given to members and non-members to express their views particularly in regard to the current budget to be voted on Aug. 12 by Onteora School District voters.

An invitation for the public to attend has been issued because the discussion is conceived to be in the public interest.

Officers nominated for the coming year will be voted on at the meeting. They are Walter A. Schulman, president; Zenna Winslow, vice president; Arthur T. Shepard, treasurer; Mae DiCandia, secretary. Directors nominated are Charles R. Benson, Mae DiCandia, Annette I. Dietz, Sydney Doman, Hazel Freitag, Charles Greco, Vincent Milora, Arthur P. Shepard, Walter A. Schulman, Carl Sieger and Zenna Winslow.

action because the U. N. charter calls for a report when a member acts in self defense. The United States says its counterattack against the North Viet Nam boats and bases was in self defense.

Didn't See Action

The U.S. call for the council session amounts to reporting before the Security Council, not asking it to take any action now, the U.S. officials said.

Thus Thant's opinion, they stated, is in accord with Washington's view on the Security Council's immediate role. U.N. reports indicated both North and South Viet Nam countries would be invited to be on hand in Security Council consideration of the case.

Thant did differ with the U.S. position in saying he favors another 14-nation Geneva conference on Southeast Asia. The Reds endorse that idea. The United States says that rather than having another Geneva conference now, it would be better for the Communists to start living up to the agreements made at the last one.

Miller Cancels Talks

Aides said he felt he had to be on hand in the House for votes on the congressional resolution backing President Johnson's actions in Viet Nam, and the anti-poverty bill.

Miller was to have gone first to Harrisburg for a Republican state leadership conference, and then to Philadelphia for the Young Republican State Convention.

Stormville Man Fair After Crash, Cited by Police

A Dutchess County motorist, injured in a spectacular car-tractor trailer collision Thursday night on Route 44 near Pleasant Valley, was reported in fair condition today in St. Francis Hospital, Poughkeepsie.

State Police at Millbrook said Michael Bullard, 27, of Stormville, suffered arm fractures, lip cuts and possible concussions in the crash. They also cited him for a traffic violation.

Troopers said Oscar Baisley, 54, of 77 Mill Street, Newburgh, was driving a tractor trailer about 11:20 p. m. on the Dutchess County highway when it collided with Bullard's vehicle. Bullard told the troopers that he was rounding a curve when his car was forced into the oncoming lane. They said the tractor trailer jacknifed, ripping a wheel off the bottom of the trailer rig, and leaving the twisted wreckage of the rig spread across the highway.

The wreckage tied up highway traffic about three hours. Trooper K. R. Rosman, who investigated, cited Bullard for failure to keep right. Baisley escaped injury. Bullard was taken to the hospital by the Pleasant Valley ambulance.

Another motorist was cited for three traffic violations after a two-car collision Thursday afternoon on Rt. 9W about a mile south of the Highland traffic circle.

Arraigned this morning before Peace Justice Philip Schunk, Town of Lloyd, Robert Lee Craft, 23, of Lakeland, Fla, admitted all three charges.

Unable to pay a $100 fine on a charge of driving without insurance, Craft was remanded to the County Jail for 30 days or until he is able to pay the fine. Julge Schunk suspended execution of $50 fines each when Craft admitted charges of being an unlicensed driver and driving an unregistered vehicle. Craft had been in jail in lieu of $250 bail since his arrest after the accident.

Louis Mandeville, 44, of Stanfordville, the other driver, was taken to Vassar Hospital for treatment of chest and right shoulder contusions. He was released after treatment.

Troopers said both drivers were headed north on Rt. 9W when Mandeville started to pass Craft. However, they said, Craft made a left turn causing his vehicle to be struck on the left by the Mandeville car.

Trooper H. C. Foster investigated.

Council Votes

that the question of whether a property owner is to pay 100 per cent of a sidewalk improvement to his own property, or share 25 per cent of this responsibility with all other property owners, was more important an issue than the safety of the children from the Fourth, Fifth and Sixth Wards.

No Walks for Children

"There is no way to provide sidewalks unless the council appropriates the money. Evidently there is no point in calling another special meeting, judging from the tempers of last night's meeting. This means that it will be impossible to have sidewalks prior to the opening of the John F. Kennedy School.

"I expect to resubmit the request at the September meeting, and hope the influence of public opinion will alter the position taken by those alderman, who opposed the appropriation, and insist on all taxpayers of the city sharing the cost of improving the properties of a few.

Confusion arose as to procedure at last night's meeting, after Minority Leader James F. Howard (D) 10th Ward, moved, in effect, that the sidewalk and curbing proposal be sent back to the Board of Public Works with the request that assessment for the project be fixed at a 75-25 per cent basis.

After some discussion as to whether or not Alderman Alecca could abstain from voting, all 12 alderman present finally voted, and the result was 6-6 tie. The vote, which defeated the bond measure 7-5, followed.

FBI Pushes Search for Killers of 3

PHILADELPHIA, Miss. (AP) — The FBI kept up relentless pressure today in an effort to uncover the killers of three civil rights workers.

Agents were busy around the back - country swamp-dotted area southwest of here, where they dug three bodies out of the red clay of a nearby watershed dam Tuesday.

Residents in the dam area were being questioned. Agents also interrogated workers at the truck company operated by Olen Burrage, who owns the farm where the dam is located.

Sheriff Lawrence Rainey and Deputy Cecil Price, who have had several sessions with FBI interrogators, conferred with an investigator for the State Sovereignty Commission — the state's official segregation watchdog.

Price was the last to see the three civil rights workers before they fell into the hands of killers last June 21.

He arrested them on speeding charges as they were en route to investigate a Negro church burning. He said they were held six hours for investigation, then released on bond at about 11 p.m.

The bodies of Michael Schwerner, 24, and Andrew Goodman, 20, both white New Yorkers, were positively identified.

The body of a Negro found with them was presumably that of James Chaney, 21, of Meridian, Miss., their companion when they were arrested.

Hudson Facing End of Water, Wheeler Warns

Mayor Samuel T. Wheeler of Hudson, has appealed to residents of the city to immediately reduce their normal daily use water by one third, and warned the citizenry "we are running out of water."

The mayor spoke out after a lengthy conference Thursday with Department of Public Works Commissioner Robert Adams and DPW Supt. Monroe Tarbell, and after a personal inspection of the citys' source of water supply.

Commissioner Adams and Superintendent Tarbell agreed with Mayor Wheeler that the appeal was a "necessary one."

After a meeting with Police Commissioner Raymond Freeman and Police Chief John J. Sullivan, Mayor Wheeler said, "The city police have been directed to take immediate action and to arrest any person violating the water ban imposed on July 15."

The ban prohibts the use of water for lawns and gardens, sidewalk or car washing, swimming and wading pools and air conditioning.

Commenting on yesterday's level at the dam, Mayor Wheeler noted that in 1962, the year of the city's last water ban, "this did not occur until Oct. 8." He added, "It is obvious, therefore, that we are in dire straits."

The mayor requested that each citizen "come to a stark realization that the city of Hudson is in very real trouble." He added, "We are running out of water. We must conserve the meager supply of water we now have—and we must do it now—everyone."

Two Teeners Are Charged With Burglary at Grill

One of two teeners, who, police said, were caught burglarizing Worf's Restaurant, 97 Abeel Street, early today, was returned to jail, after city court appearances, for hearing Aug. 13, and the other, a juvenile, was taken to Mamaroneck, where he resides, and is to be in the custody of family court.

Preston Coddington Jr., 16, of 109 Hunter Street, was charged with third degree burglary. The juvenile, police said, is 15 years old. He was returned to Mamaroneck by detectives Charles McCullough and Albert Hutton.

They were charged with taking $11.50 from a cash register and metal filing cabinet, police said $2.05 of it was in Canadian money.

Police were called to the restaurant shortly after 1 a. m. by Mrs. Juanita Worf. The two were "apprehended inside" by Officers George Barringer and Leon Fitzgerald. A side window was pushed open to gain entrance, police said.

Attorney Richard W. Griggs appeared with Coddington later this morning before Judge Joseph D. Saccoman. Bail, fixed at $500 cash, or $1,000 property, was not immediately posted, and Coddington was returned to jail.

Another report shortly after 1 a. m., said someone was apparently trying to enter Martin's Market, 89 Franklin Street, but Officers Joseph Kivlan and Albert Johnson, who checked there, reported "all secure."

Epton Still in Prison

NEW YORK (AP) — Harlem leftist William Epton has posted $10,000 bond on charges of criminal anarchy, but remained in prison today.

The district attorney's office said it would take 48 hours to examine "the sufficiency of the collateral."

Epton, a self-described Communist who led an abortive street demonstration in Harlem last week, was accused of advocating the overthrow of New York State's government by force.

Financial and Commercial

NEW YORK (AP)—The stock market recovered early this afternoon in sluggish trading.

Fear of a spreading crisis in Southeast Asia, possibly involving the Red Chinese, had simmered down and key stocks rose from fractions to a point or so.

Activity, however, was the slowest of the week.

Coppers, steels, motors, rails, utilities, airlines, oils, tobaccos, electronics, farm implements and retails were among the gainers. Chemicals and rubbers were mixed.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks at noon was up 1.0 at 313.7 with industrials up 1.6, rails up .4 and utilities up .5.

As coppers rallied, Kennecott, Phelps Dodge and Magma were up around a point, Anaconda added a fraction.

Chrysler, up about a point, was the largest gainer among motors. Ford, GM, American Motors and Studebaker edged higher.

Some of the higher - priced stocks swung higher by larger margins. IBM rose more than 4, Xerox and Control Data more than 2 each, Polaroid and High Voltage Engineering a point or so.

American and Eastern Airlines rose about a point each.

Corporate bonds were mixed; governments were unchanged.

Ski Promotion Group Announces $13,600 in Bank

Officials of the Joppenbergh Mountain Corporation which seeks to raise $25,000 to purchase and rehabilitate a 117¾-acre tract on the mountain as a championship ski jumping site in the Town of Rosendale, announced today that $13,600 has actually been received and deposited in the corporation's bank account.

The corporation, which offered 250 sales of stock to the public at $100 per share to purchase the site of the former 60 meter Telemark Ski Championship Jump, also announced that while the current fund-raising endeavor was proceeding "with complete success, according to schedule," there is presently still available 90 shares at the $100 par value to subscribers.

Karl Strobel, temporary president of the Joppenbergh Corporation and Ralph Assion, acting treasurer, said that pledges and subscriptions in the amount of $8,000 is being collected according to schedule. However, they said, all subscriptions not received, according to the date promised, would be cancelled by the corporation unless extensions are requested.

The Joppenbergh Corporation is an upshot of a local effort by two Rosendale men who obtained an option to buy the property from its owner, May Sammons, for $20,000. The option expires Aug. 20.

Corporation officials were confident that the money would be raised, along with the additional $5,000 for rehabilitation work, and that the option would be exercised. In fact, construction of the ski tract has been scheduled to start next month. Officials said survey was presently being done to perfect the mountain profile and design to the 50-70 meter ski jump.

They pointed out that no commissions were being paid to anyone, nor any salaries or other remunerations, on conjunction with the sale of the stock, which is being done on a community project basis.

Corporation officials called the project "the largest community undertaking that has ever been seen" in the long history of the town.

Support Spurned

phia he will support all Republican candidates in November. But Scott, who is in his party's liberal wing, did not mention any of them — including conservative Goldwater — by name.

A reporter's question led Goldwater to define the kind of support he wants.

Not for Klan Support

The newsman said Miller had implied he and Goldwater would accept the support of the Ku Klux Klan, and asked how Goldwater felt about that.

"He never accepted the support of the Klan, nor did I," Goldwater said.

Miller, asked about Klan backing on July 29 said he and Goldwater would "accept the support of any American citizen who believes in our posture, our position."

The questin was put to Miller after Calvin F. Craig of Atlanta, Georgia's top Klan official, announced on July 25 he was supporting the Republican ticket.

"We don't seek or want the support of the Klan," Miller said Thursday.

SUCCESSFUL INVESTING...

Growth and Strength Mean More Than Owners

Q) "Stewart-Warner owns 20 per cent of the outstanding stock of Thor Power Tool, and Arden Farms owns over 75 per cent of the stock of Mayfair Markets. Would it be more risky to invest in Thor because of the Stewart - Warner interest? Would it be wise to buy Mayfair when it is controlled by Arden?" — C. H.

A) Yours is a very interesting question, if I may say so.

Since Stewart-Warner is a stronger company than Thor, I believe its 20 per cent ownership is a favorable factor. However, I would not buy Thor for other reasons .There has been no growth here in the past decade, and the dividend has been unchanged since 1956. Earnings were down 35 per cent in the first quarter.

As to Mayfair, the question is academic, since Arden Farms on July 15 proposed to merge with Mayfair and remain the surviving company.

Q) "I own shares of American Can bought at 44 per share, and another block bought at 39⅛. Should I hold for the high dividend or switch into a better growth issue?" — L. T.

A) It is very difficult for me to answer you without knowing what your investment objective is. I cannot say here too frequently that everyone should set for himself an investment goal—either income or growth—and adhere to it rigidly.

American Can is not a growth issue. Earnings last year were about the same as a decade earlier, and dividends have been unchanged for nine years. American Can's earnings were down again in the first half of 1964, following a decline in 1963.

If you do not need the 4½ per cent yield afforded by American Can, I advise you to switch to an issue in which capital enhancement over the years is far more probable—Sears, Roebuck, our greatest merchandiser.

Onteora Education Board Reduces Budget $91,247

About 200 voters attended the budget hearing for the 1964-65 Onteora budget Tuesday. Lloyd Collins, budget chairman, reviewed the budget and discussed major cuts which had been made after voters had rejected the original budget proposal for a second time. Various proposals were made to reduce the budget further and there was an occasional request to increase expenditures in some items.

Beginning at 11 p. m. the Board met in special meeting until 1:30 a. m. discussing the proposals which had been made during the budget hearing. Action was then taken to reduce the proposed budget by an additional $1,800 by cutting the quantity of supplies to be provided to students for classroom use. They also added $2,000 to the expected receipts which is money anticipated from students for rental of musical intruments.

As a results of the Board action, the budget to be presented to the voters on August 12 will provide for a cut of $91,247 from the budget which was first proposed in May. The amount to be raised by tax has been reduced by $91,947.

Proposals for Further Cuts

Reduce textbooks costs by having parents buy the books.

Increase the price of the school lunch for each student.

Spend less on teachers' salaries.

Eliminate field trips for students or have parents pay the cost.

Eliminate the dental hygiene program.

Eliminate school libraries and use public libraries.

Eliminate minor sports such as golf and bowling.

Eliminate the financial support of a school newspaper.

Eliminate the programs provided by the Board of Cooperative Educational Services such as vocational education for students in auto mechanics, cosmotology, electronics, data processing, and cooperative work-study programs.

Proposed Additions

Suggestions for additions to budget expenditures included the following:

Provide for adult education.

Provide good library services in all schools.

Retain the dental hygiene program.

Spend more money for library books.

Actual Reductions

Taxpayers Meet For Discussion, Election Aug. 8

The annual meeting of the Woodstock Township Taxpayers Association will be held Saturday 8 p. m. at Deanie's Restaurant, Woodstock.

A discussion on Eliminating or Reducing the Real Property Taxes on Your Home will be held. Resolution declaring the position of the association with respect to the increasing burden of school taxes on real estate will be presented for approval of the membership.

Both before and after the membership vote on these resolutions, opportunity will be given to members and non-members to express their views particularly in regard to the current budget to be voted on Aug. 12 by Onteora School District voters.

An invitation for the public to attend has been issued because the discussion is conceived to be in the public interest.

Officers nominated for the coming year will be voted on at the meeting. They are Walter A. Schulman, president; Zenna Winslow, vice president; Arthur T. Shepard, treasurer; Mae DiCandia, secretary. Directors nominated are Charles R. Benson, Mae DiCandia, Annette I. Dietz, Sydney Doman, Hazel Freitag, Charles Greco, Vincent Milora, Arthur P. Shepard, Walter A. Zinneman, Master Magician

Hollywood Door Is Always Open to Talent: Director

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP) — Young man, if you want to storm the gates of Hollywood, now is your time to march.

"Young people are welcome now, because everybody realizes we must have new blood," said veteran producer-director Fred Zinneman.

"Talent is the thing. If you have talent, you are very much needed. If not, you might as well beat your head against a wall."

Not So Then

There was no welcome mat out for Zinneman, when he came to the film colony from Vienna, Austria, after he abandoned earlier plans to become either a concert violinist or a lawyer.

"When I first set foot in Los Angeles," he recalled, "there was still an obsolete ordinance in effect making it illegal to shoot rabbits from the rear platform of street cars.

"It was very hard to become a director then. Everything was channeled. The big studios weren't taking chances on young people.

"It's completely changed now. There is no central authority, no front office anymore. Everything is more wide open."

Zinneman started as an extra and also worked as a script clerk.

Recognized 19 Years Later

Although he won an Academy Award in 1938 for a film short, it wasn't until he made "The Search" in 1948 that his directorial genius was fully recognized—19 years after he arrived in Hollywood with high hopes and empty pockets.

His hopes are still as high, but his pockets are no longer empty. Today, the slender, grizzle-haired, 57-year-old director is regarded as one of the half-dozen or so master magicians of screen drama—sensitive, poetic, imaginative.

"From Here to Eternity" brought him a second Oscar, and he has been nominated for an Academy Award six other times. He is a painstaking craftsman and his total output is small — fewer than 20 major productions.

"Everybody works in his own way," he said almost apologetically. "It has nothing to do with quality. I just happen to work slow. It takes me a long time to find a good story. I have to feel I am in love with it, or else I can't tell it well."

Feels Future Bright

Fred feels the industry's future is bright and says that a good picture now — "but it has to be really good" — can make more money than ever before.

"We have advanced a great deal. When I started, they used to say we were making pictures for an audience whose average mental age was only 12 years. Well," he grinned and added: "I think now the average age is 18 or up."

But like many old-timers, Fred thinks the stars of yesteryear were more glamorous than those of today.

"They were remote and romantic," he said. "Now they get too close to the people.

"They want to seem just like the boy or girl next door. That's a mistake. People don't go to the movies to see the boy or girl next door."

Fred said that in film making he isn't particularly trying to prove anything to anyone.

"I am too old and too confused to define the meaning of life," he remarked. "Life has too many meanings and too many levels.

"Nor can I put my philosophy into words. I try to put it into my pictures. Essentially, I suppose it is this: A man has to live by his convictions in this world — or be lost."

Gielgud Frowns On Filming of Hamlet, Others

By BOB THOMAS
AP Movie-Television Writer

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — The filming of stage plays, such as the upcoming "Hamlet" with Richard Burton, is not such a good idea, declares British actor-director John Gielgud.

Others think so. Warner Brothers has recorded the Burton performance on tape, just as it was played at the Lunt-Fontanne Theater in New York, and will show it four times Sept. 23 and 24 in theaters throughout the nation. Now there is talk that Laurence Olivier's "Othello" on the London stage will get the same treatment.

Techniques Differ

Even though he directed Burton in "Hamlet," Gielgud opined: "I think it's a bad thing to film stage plays as is, except for a historical record. The two techniques are entirely different, and one shouldn't be mixed with the other."

The actor admitted that he has recently realized the difference, as far as his own work is concerned. The result is an upturn of his film career.

"I was always trying too hard in films," said Gielgud, who has appeared in scores of plays but only 10 films. "Stage people are inclined to attempt too much in films, and that was my fault. Film technique is something quite different. It is more of a simplification."

He is now performing in his second Hollywood film. The first was "Julius Caesar". He is portraying a suicidal British actor in Tony Richardson's satire of Hollywood, "The Loved One." One of the reasons Gielgud, 60, is delighted with the role: It allows him to wear modern dress.

Gielgud was asked how he thought the Burton "Hamlet" turned out.

Certain Problems

His comment:

"We had certain problems with it. We played the first four weeks at the O'Keefe Theater in Toronto which was too immense to get any idea of how the play was going. It wasn't until we got to Boston that I could see what was wrong. By then it was too late.

"I think the publicity overpowered the play. We were almost sold out before we opened. All I wanted to do was serve the play, but other elements intervened. The hybrid cast of British and Americans didn't work too well. I think you need more time with Americans before they can do Shakespeare well."

Zinneman, Master Magician

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP) — Young man, if you want to storm the gates of Hollywood, now is your time to march.

"Young people are welcome now, because everybody realizes we must have new blood," said veteran producer-director Fred Zinneman.

"Talent is the thing. If you have talent, you are very much needed. If not, you might as well beat your head against a wall."

Not So Then

There was no welcome mat out for Zinneman, when he came to the film colony from Vienna, Austria, after he abandoned earlier plans to become either a concert violinist or a lawyer.

"When I first set foot in Los Angeles," he recalled, "there was still an obsolete ordinance in effect making it illegal to shoot rabbits from the rear platform of street cars.

"It was very hard to become a director then. Everything was channeled. The big studios weren't taking chances on young people.

"It's completely changed now. There is no central authority, no front office anymore. Everything is more wide open."

Zinneman started as an extra and also worked as a script clerk.

Recognized 19 Years Later

Although he won an Academy Award in 1938 for a film short, it wasn't until he made "The Search" in 1948 that his directorial genius was fully recognized—19 years after he arrived in Hollywood with high hopes and empty pockets.

His hopes are still as high, but his pockets are no longer empty. Today, the slender, grizzle-haired, 57-year-old director is regarded as one of the half-dozen or so master magicians of screen drama—sensitive, poetic, imaginative.

"From Here to Eternity" brought him a second Oscar, and he has been nominated for an Academy Award six other times. He is a painstaking craftsman and his total output is small — fewer than 20 major productions.

"Everybody works in his own way," he said almost apologetically. "It has nothing to do with quality. I just happen to work slow. It takes me a long time to find a good story. I have to feel I am in love with it, or else I can't tell it well."

Feels Future Bright

Fred feels the industry's future is bright and says that a good picture now — "but it has to be really good" — can make more money than ever before.

"We have advanced a great deal. When I started, they used to say we were making pictures for an audience whose average mental age was only 12 years. Well," he grinned and added: "I think now the average age is 18 or up."

But like many old-timers, Fred thinks the stars of yesteryear were more glamorous than those of today.

"They were remote and romantic," he said. "Now they get too close to the people.

"They want to seem just like the boy or girl next door. That's a mistake. People don't go to the movies to see the boy or girl next door."

Fred said that in film making he isn't particularly trying to prove anything to anyone.

"I am too old and too confused to define the meaning of life," he remarked. "Life has too many meanings and too many levels.

"Nor can I put my philosophy into words. I try to put it into my pictures. Essentially, I suppose it is this: A man has to live [illegible] convictions in this world — or be lost."

Creative Cooking Contest Entries Sought For New York State Exposition: Syracuse

Mrs. Gerald Twentyman of Homer, superintendent of the cooking contest, noted cash awards being offered total $1,586 this year for this unique contest which is featuring New York State products. She added there is still time to enter your favorite recipe as entries are being accepted until Thursday, August 20. She explained that the August 20 date is for entry forms only. The products are not due until the day of judging and some of these may be mailed in.

The 1964 Exposition opens Tuesday, September 1 for seven days and nights in Syracuse.

Among special awards offered is a "Young Moderns" set by Corning Glass Works for the best entry in "My Favorite Dish for Snack Time." Pyrex pie plates will be given for the best sherry chiffon and sherry apple pies.

A silver pie plate from the Western New York Apple Growers Association, Inc., will go to the best apple pie entry and autographed copies of Lila Perl's "Delight of Apple Cookery" will be given the blue ribbon winner in each apple section.

Pewter Pitchers in memory of Lucile Brewer will be given by Agway for the most unusual apple dish, best cheese cake, best upside down cake, and most artistically decorated cake.

A $50 savings bonds, silver serving tray and gift cartons of Welch's products from Welch's Grape Juice Co. await winners in the Concord Grape Recipes.

Fannie Farmer Cookbooks presented by Wilma Lord Perkins will be given for the best entry in fruit hermits or oatmeal fruit cookies, fruit cobbler, cherry or red raspberry pie, whole egg butter cake, chocolate loaf cake with chocolate frosting, angel food cake and spice cake.

The American Dairy Association and the Dairy Council of New York State will award: a silver pitcher for the most unusual recipe using dairy products; a cheese server to each first prize winner; an insulated milk pitcher to each second prize winner; and an early American recipe holder to each third prize winner in Section 8—Dairy Products.

For gals handy with spice recipes the R. T. French Co. will make several awards including spice racks to each blue ribbon winner and a booklet on spices to each entrant in Section 5 — Spices and Herbs. Baskets filled with French's spices will be given for the following best entries in Section 5: cake, cookie, yeast bread, yeast roll, quick bread, and jellies and pickles.

A silver tray for the best layer or loaf cake where honey is used in cake and frosting will be given by the Empire State Honey Producers Association.

The best entry using potatoes will be given a silver bowl by the Empire State Potato Club and the best entry using New York vegetables will be given a silver chafing set by the New York State Vegetable Growers' Association.

Each first prize winner in fancy wine cakes will be given a copy of "Treasury of Wine and Wine Cookery" by the Taylor Wine Co. and an Ebony Cookbook will be given for the best entry in Yeast Bread and Rolls by the Johnson Publishing Co., Inc.

Two dozen Kerr wide mouth Mason Quart Jars will be given for the best exhibits of fruits, preserves and pickles canned in Kerr Jars, sealed with Kerr caps. One dozen jars will be given second place winners in each of those sections.

Premium Books containing complete details on the Creative Cooking Contest and entry forms can be obtained by writing to the Women's Division, New York State Exposition, Syracuse, New York 13209.

SPREADING NEWS OF HER ENGAGEMENT

Q: My parents are announcing my engagement in the newspaper. We have quite a few friends and relatives living out of the city who will not see this announcement. I would like to know if it would be proper to buy a number of copies of the newspaper and send clippings of the announcement to these friends and relatives?

A: To send newspaper clippings of the announcement of your engagement to relatives and friends would not do at all. They should be informed by telephone or by personal note.

Serving Wine at Table

Q: When serving wine at dinner, how is it correctly proffered to the guests in a house without a maid? Is the bottle put on the table and the glasses filled by the host, the guests passing their glasses to him, or is the wine bottle passed down the table for each guest to help him or her self?

A: The bottle is put on the table and the host fills the glasses within his reach. He may either ask that the glasses further away be passed to him, or hand the bottle to a guest requesting him to fill the glasses of those seated near him. If there are more than six at the table, it is better to put a second bottle before the hostess who takes care of the glasses at her end of the table.

Answering 'How Are You?'

Q: Someone told me that it was wrong to answer, "Fine, thank you" when asked, "How are you?" and that the proper answer is "Very well, thank you." To me this sounds very stilted and "Fine, thank you" much more natural to say. What is your opinion?

A: To answer, "Fine, thank you" instead of the strictly correct and formal, "Very well, thank you," is quite all right.

Walker-Brink Nuptials Are Announced

MR. AND MRS. KENNETH BRINK

Miss Doris Walker, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Nelson Walker of West Park exchanged marriage vows with Kenneth Brink, son of Mr. and Mrs. George Brink, Mt. Marion, in a double ring ceremony in Trinity Methodist Church on July 26.

The Rev. Richard R. Guice officiated.

The bride was given in marriage by the bridegroom's brother-in-law Roger Brandt of Mt. Marion. She wore a gown of silk organza over taffeta accented with lace appliques. The gown also featured a removable coachman style jacket and bell skirt. A veil of silk illusion was shirred to a jewel crown. The bride carried a bouquet of roses and pompons.

Linda White of East Kingston was the maid of honor. She wore a gown of yellow organza styled with a shirred bodice, short sleeves and full skirt. Her matching hat held a short flirtation veil and she carried a bouquet of yellow and green pompons.

Mrs. Harold Every, sister of the bride, was an attendant. Her gown was identical to that worn by the maid of honor except in forest green. She carried a bouquet of yellow and green pompons.

Miss Nancy Steiner, the bride's niece, was flower girl.

Albert Carr of Mt. Marion was best man. Ushers were Peter Carr, also of Mt. Marion, and Harold Every of West Hurley.

After the church ceremony a reception was given in Ang-El's on East Chester Street by-pass for approximately 80 guests.

For her wedding trip to Canada and Niagara Falls, the bride chose a linen suit of brown and white with matching accessories.

Mrs. Brink was graduated from Kingston High School and is employed as a secretary by Sickler's Delivery, this city. Her husband, an alumnus of Saugerties High School, is in construction business with his father.

Mr. and Mrs. Brink will reside in Lake Katrine.

'Thinking Woman' Will Be Focal Point Of Democratic Closed Circuit Program

Women's Challenge in the Great Society, a three-part series of one-hour closed circuit televisoin programs will be beamed to the "thinking woman" at the Democratic National Convention. Mrs. Margaret Price, Vice Chairman of the Democratic National Committee, announced today. The programs will be televised from the main press conference room at Convention Hall beginning at 9 a. m. on Aug. 24, 25, and 26.

"We are an 'issues conscious' party, and our program will be built around the great issues of war and peace — poverty and prosperity — equal opportunity and jobs for all," Mrs. Price said.

The Vice Chairman also announced the moderators of the three one-hour programs, consisting, of half-hour "open-end" discussions by four prominent women, followed by a half-hour of press conference style questions and answers from the audience.

The Monday session on "Peace" will be moderated by Senator Frank Church of Idaho, member since 1958 of the important Senate Foreign Relations Committee. Senator Church was the keynoter of the 1960 Convention.

Tuesday's program on "Prosperity" will be moderated by Secretary of Labor, W. Willard Wirtz.

Wednesday's program of "Political Participation" will be moderated by Pierre Salinger, former press secretary to Presidents Kennedy and Johnson and now candidate for the Senate from his native California.

Mrs. Constance D. Casey, of Washington, D. C., will act as producer of the women's television series.

Mrs. Price also named today eight women who will have official functions at the Democratic Convention, opening in Atlantic City on Aug. 24.

Mrs. Dorothy Vredenburgh Bush, formerly of Alabama, was named Temporary Secretary. Mrs. Bush is currently Secretary of the Democratic National Committee, and has served as Secretary for five previous Democratic Conventions.

Mrs. Burton M. Joseph, Democratic National Committeewoman from Minneapolis, was named as the only woman chairman of a major committee. She will serve as Chairman of the Committee on Permanent Organization.

Mrs. Constance Baker Motley, a New York State Senator, will serve as Secretary to the Committee on Permanent Organization. She is the first Negro woman to sit in the New York Senate, where she is the only woman among 58 Senators.

Mrs. Ella Grasso, of Windsor Locks, Connecticut, was named Co-Chairman of the Committee on Resolutions and Platform. Mrs. Ruth Russell, Democratic National Committeewoman from Tennessee, will serve as Secretary of the Platform Committee. Mrs. Grasso is Secretary of State for Connecticut.

Mrs. Helen Gunsett, Democratic National Committeewoman from Ohio, will serve as Co-Chailrman of the Committee on Credentials and Dr. Mildred Otenasek, Democratic National Committeewoman from Maryland, will be its Secretary.

Mrs. Mildred Larson, Democratic National Committeewoman from Phoenix, Arizona, will co-chair the Committee on Rules and Order of Business.

With five states and Puerto Rico still to report, female delegates and alternates to the 1964 Convention have reached an all-time high, with a record total today of 364 women delegates and 398 women alternates.

Mrs. Gerald Twentyman of Homer, superintendent of the cooking contest, noted cash awards being offered total $1,586 this year for this unique contest which is featuring New York State products. She added there is still time to enter your favorite recipe as entries are being accepted until Thursday, August 20. She explained that the August 20 date is for entry forms only. The products are not due until the day of judging and some of these may be mailed in.

The 1964 Exposition opens Tuesday, September 1 for seven days and nights in Syracuse.

Among special awards offered is a "Young Moderns" set by Corning Glass Works for the best entry in "My Favorite Dish for Snack Time." Pyrex pie plates will be given for the best sherry chiffon and sherry apple pies.

A silver pie plate from the Western New York Apple Growers Association, Inc., will go to the best apple pie entry and autographed copies of Lila Perl's "Delight of Apple Cookery" will be given the blue ribbon winner in each apple section.

Pewter Pitchers in memory of Lucile Brewer will be given by Agway for the most unusual apple dish, best cheese cake, best upside down cake, and most artistically decorated cake.

A $50 savings bonds, silver serving tray and gift cartons of Welch's products from Welch's Grape Juice Co. await winners in the Concord Grape Recipes.

Fannie Farmer Cookbooks presented by Wilma Lord Perkins will be given for the best entry in fruit hermits or oatmeal fruit cookies, fruit cobbler, cherry or red raspberry pie, whole egg butter cake, chocolate loaf cake with chocolate frosting, angel food cake and spice cake.

The American Dairy Association and the Dairy Council of New York State will award: a silver pitcher for the most unusual recipe using dairy products; a cheese server to each first prize winner; an insulated milk pitcher to each second prize winner; and an early American recipe holder to each third prize winner in Section 8—Dairy Products.

For gals handy with spice recipes the R. T. French Co. will make several awards including spice racks to each blue ribbon winner and a booklet on spices to each entrant in Section 5 — Spices and Herbs. Baskets filled with French's spices will be given for the following best entries in Section 5: cake, cookie, yeast bread, yeast roll, quick bread, and jellies and pickles.

A silver tray for the best layer or loaf cake where honey is used in cake and frosting will be given by the Empire State Honey Producers Association.

The best entry using potatoes will be given a silver bowl by the Empire State Potato Club and the best entry using New York vegetables will be given a silver chafing set by the New York State Vegetable Growers' Association.

Each first prize winner in fancy wine cakes will be given a copy of "Treasury of Wine and Wine Cookery" by the Taylor Wine Co. and an Ebony Cookbook will be given for the best entry in Yeast Bread and Rolls by the Johnson Publishing Co., Inc.

Two dozen Kerr wide mouth Mason Quart Jars will be given for the best exhibits of fruits, preserves and pickles canned in Kerr Jars, sealed with Kerr caps. One dozen jars will be given second place winners in each of those sections.

'Thinking Woman' Will Be Focal Point Of Democratic Closed Circuit Program

Women's Challenge in the Great Society, a three-part series of one-hour closed circuit televisoin programs will be beamed to the "thinking woman" at the Democratic National Convention. Mrs. Margaret Price, Vice Chairman of the Democratic National Committee, announced today. The programs will be televised from the main press conference room at Convention Hall beginning at 9 a. m. on Aug. 24, 25, and 26.

"We are an 'issues conscious' party, and our program will be built around the great issues of war and peace — poverty and prosperity — equal opportunity and jobs for all," Mrs. Price said.

The Vice Chairman also announced the moderators of the three one-hour programs, consisting, of half-hour "open-end" discussions by four prominent women, followed by a half-hour of press conference style questions and answers from the audience.

The Monday session on "Peace" will be moderated by Senator Frank Church of Idaho, member since 1958 of the important Senate Foreign Relations Committee. Senator Church was the keynoter of the 1960 Convention.

Tuesday's program on "Prosperity" will be moderated by Secretary of Labor, W. Willard Wirtz.

Wednesday's program of "Political Participation" will be moderated by Pierre Salinger, former press secretary to Presidents Kennedy and Johnson and now candidate for the Senate from his native California.

Mrs. Constance D. Casey, of Washington, D. C., will act as producer of the women's television series.

Mrs. Price also named today eight women who will have official functions at the Democratic Convention, opening in Atlantic City on Aug. 24.

Mrs. Dorothy Vredenburgh Bush, formerly of Alabama, was named Temporary Secretary. Mrs. Bush is currently Secretary of the Democratic National Committee, and has served as Secretary for five previous Democratic Conventions.

Mrs. Burton M. Joseph, Democratic National Committeewoman from Minneapolis, was named as the only woman chairman of a major committee. She will serve as Chairman of the Committee on Permanent Organization.

Mrs. Constance Baker Motley, a New York State Senator, will serve as Secretary to the Committee on Permanent Organization. She is the first Negro woman to sit in the New York Senate, where she is the only woman among 58 Senators.

Mrs. Ella Grasso, of Windsor Locks, Connecticut, was named Co-Chairman of the Committee on Resolutions and Platform. Mrs. Ruth Russell, Democratic National Committeewoman from Tennessee, will serve as Secretary of the Platform Committee. Mrs. Grasso is Secretary of State for Connecticut.

Mrs. Helen Gunsett, Democratic National Committeewoman from Ohio, will serve as Co-Chailrman of the Committee on Credentials and Dr. Mildred Otenasek, Democratic National Committeewoman from Maryland, will be its Secretary.

Mrs. Mildred Larson, Democratic National Committeewoman from Phoenix, Arizona, will co-chair the Committee on Rules and Order of Business.

With five states and Puerto Rico still to report, female delegates and alternates to the 1964 Convention have reached an all-time high, with a record total today of 364 women delegates and 398 women alternates.

Celebrates 12th Birthday; Survived 1960 Heart Surgery

BY ALBERT J. CAWEIN
Freeman Staff Writer

A charming little blonde girl, who in 1960 survived an eight-hour open heart operation performed to save her life, celebrated her 12th birthday on Wednesday.

She is Colleen Freer, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William J. Freer of 11 Klingburg Avenue, Kingston.

Living a comparatively quiet life during the past four years, Colleen has been attending St. Joseph's School and is now in the Fifth Grade. Because of her illness and long convalescence, she lost considerable time in school.

The surgery performed at Albany Medical Center Hospital, corrected her pulmonary valvular stenosis, a narrowing and thickening of the heart valve leading from the main lung artery. During the operation performed by two top surgeons and two assistants, a heart-lung machine took over the task of breathing and pumping blood for the girl while her heart was stopped.

Thirty airmen from Stewart Air Force Base and five other volunteers went to Albany to donate the special type blood needed. The heart-lung machine required a large supply to work effectively.

Her recovery was remarkable. On the fourth day after surgery, she was taken out of the oxygen tent and given light nourishment.

The child's welfare was the concern of Ulster County area residents, who sent many hundreds of greeting cards to the hospital and her home.

She returned home from the hospital 15 days later and was permitted to get around in a wheelchair.

Colleen still returns to the hospital for a checkup once each year. Last year her parents received quite a scare when she complained of chest pains. She was immediately taken to the Albany Hospital where it was determined that she may have had too much activity.

Her ambition is to become a beautician and she keeps in practice by setting the hair of her mother and friends. Her hobby is collecting dolls, many of which she received as gifts when she was ill.

Family Planning Topic of Speaker For Kiwanis Club

"Family Planning," the subject of much controversy for many years, was portrayed as a "social problem" by Dr. Harri H. Janssen of Kingston at the Thursday luncheon of the Kingston Kiwanis Club.

The speaker presented his subject as a problem that is facing the world "with no clear or simple solution." He pointed out that family planning too often brought "heated and emotional responses by extremists on both sides." He definitely said that the religious or moral issues involved" were not opposed to family planning."

Right of Individual

Family planning was "the right of the individual who has a deep seated obligation which is universally accepted," said the Doctor. He further emphasized that the controversy over the issue was one of "method—this is loaded with controversy," and he opinioned that "medical research may overcome the method objections."

A reason given for family planning was contained in the statistics showing a billion people brought into the world from its beginning to the middle of the 19th century; then a second billion increase in population until 30 years ago when a third billion people were born. These statistics were quoted by Dr. Janssen to show that the world will not be able to maintain this rate of production. He further quoted conditions in India and Egypt where the increase in population had brought conditions of starvation and the total use of available water supplies.

The speaker touched upon the subjects of legalized abortion and legalized sterilization which have been projected as a possible solution. Both of these subjects were the target of moral issues, said the doctor, who said that "a better way is needed to aid family planning then these two proposals."

In conclusion, Dr. Janssen touched upon the need for further education and research" to meet this problem which at the moment has no solution."

Buddenhagen Leaving

Kiwanis President Lloyd R. LeFever announced at the meeting that Vice President Arthur Buddenhagen had submitted his resignation to the club due to his moving to Poughkeepsie for business reasons.

Speaking for the nominating committee, John W. Spinnenweber placed in nomination the name of director Raymond Myers for vice president, and the name of John Shults Jr. for a director to replace Myers. Members of Kiwanis will vote on the nominations at the meeting next Thursday.

Capitol News In Brief

WASHINGTON (AP) — Unemployment dropped to 4.9 per cent in July and total employment rose to 72.4 million. That's the first time the jobless rate has been below 5 per cent since February 1960. And it's the first time ever employment has been as high as 72 million.

But Secretary of Labor W. Willard Wirtz and George Meany, president of the AFL-CIO, weren't doing handsprings over Thursday's announcement.

Said Wirtz: "The drop in unemployment from 5.3 per cent to 4.9 per cent means that 3,813,000 people are still out of work. That's an awful lot of people to be left out of a record high prosperity."

Said Meany: "With both productivity and the labor force increasing rapidly, many additional months of continued improvement are needed before an approach to full employment can be reached."

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate sent to President Johnson Thursday a bill designed to improve protection of investors in securities, particularly over-the counter items.

There's no doubt the President will sign the measure into law. It is on his list of 30 "must bills" and carries out many of the recommendations made by the Securities and Exchange Commission after a two-year study.

The requirements now covering issues listed with stock exchanges would be extended to securities traded over the counter. These include registration with the SEC, periodic reporting to keep current the information in the registration statement, and proxy solicitation and insider trading control.

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson has sent W. Averell Harriman, undersecretary of state and veteran trouble-shooter, to Brussels to confer on the Congo situation.

And the State Department announced earlier Thursday that the United States is discussing the question of military assistance to the Congolese army with officials of the Leopoldville government.

Runaways to Play At 4th Park Dance

The regular weekly Park dance at Forsyth Park tonight will again feature the rock and roll music of that popular group, The Runaways. As for the past three weeks the emphasis will be on rock and roll with occasional vocals by various members of the group.

Dancing will start at 8 p. m. and continue until 11 p. m. Although the theme of these weekly dances is directed toward the teenagers everyone is invited to attend.

To date attendance at the dances has been excellent with an average estimated crowd of 440 on hand each week.

BIRTHS

July 25—George Edward Jr., to Mr. and Mrs. G. E. Capitol News In Brief

WASHINGTON (AP) — Unemployment dropped to 4.9 per cent in July and total employment rose to 72.4 million. That's the first time the jobless rate has been below 5 per cent since February 1960. And it's the first time ever employment has been as high as 72 million.

But Secretary of Labor W. Willard Wirtz and George Meany, president of the AFL-CIO, weren't doing handsprings over Thursday's announcement.

Said Wirtz: "The drop in unemployment from 5.3 per cent to 4.9 per cent means that 3,813,000 people are still out of work. That's an awful lot of people to be left out of a record high prosperity."

Said Meany: "With both productivity and the labor force increasing rapidly, many additional months of continued improvement are needed before an approach to full employment can be reached."

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate sent to President Johnson Thursday a bill designed to improve protection of investors in securities, particularly over-the counter items.

There's no doubt the President will sign the measure into law. It is on his list of 30 "must bills" and carries out many of the recommendations made by the Securities and Exchange Commission after a two-year study.

The requirements now covering issues listed with stock exchanges would be extended to securities traded over the counter. These include registration with the SEC, periodic reporting to keep current the information in the registration statement, and proxy solicitation and insider trading control.

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson has sent W. Averell Harriman, undersecretary of state and veteran trouble-shooter, to Brussels to confer on the Congo situation.

And the State Department announced earlier Thursday that the United States is discussing the question of military assistance to the Congolese army with officials of the Leopoldville government.

Runaways to Play At 4th Park Dance

The regular weekly Park dance at Forsyth Park tonight will again feature the rock and roll music of that popular group, The Runaways. As for the past three weeks the emphasis will be on rock and roll with occasional vocals by various members of the group.

Dancing will start at 8 p. m. and continue until 11 p. m. Although the theme of these weekly dances is directed toward the teenagers everyone is invited to attend.

To date attendance at the dances has been excellent with an average estimated crowd of 440 on hand each week.

Psychiatrists Find

By ROBERT GOLDENSTEIN

CHICAGO (AP) — Most wife-beaters in middle class society are not hulky brutes who pound their shrinking violet-type brides whenever they don't get their way, a pilot study indicated today.

Instead, a team of psychiatrists said their small study showed, the men as a rule were shy, sexually ineffectual, reasonably hard working "mother's boys" with a tendency to drink excessively.

And their wives typically were aggressive, efficient, masculine, and sexually frigid.

The psychiatrists said the wives endured physical abuse for years—until one of their children, usually the eldest son, interfered. Then they sought outside help.

Commenting on the stability of the marriages, the psychiatrists suggested the couples had mutually passive and aggressive personality traits that enabled them to achieve a "working equilibrium" in the marital relationship. This delicate balance was upset, they said, when the intervention of the child became a threat.

The preliminary findings were based on a detailed study of 12 families in a predominantly middle class suburban area in Massachusetts.

The study was reported by Drs. John E. Snell, Richard J. Rosenwald, and Ames Robey, Framingham, Mass., in the current Archives of General Psychiatry, published by the American Medical Association.

The exact spot at which the Magna Carta was sealed during the mid-June conference in 1215 has long been disputed.

Movie Back Lots Still Busy With Scenes of WW II

By CYNTHIA LOWRY
AP Radio-TV Writer

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — All around the Hollywood studios, in this comedy year, television actors are playing their scenes for laughs. But on the back lots of MGM and Universal-Revue, World War II is-still-being refought under the sizzling California sun.

"Combat," ABC's drama, soon will start its third season battling from the Normandy beachheads to the Maginot Line, a more leisurely trip than the real fighting men made some 20 years back.

At busy Revue, a portion of the battle of the Bulge is being recreated at one end of a small artificial lake. The other end is a snow-covered Alaska scene, part of a motion picture in the works.

The war show in progress is called "Operation Grief" based on a real episode of the war when specially-trained, English-speaking German saboteurs were dressed in GI uniforms and sent behind the allied lines to make serious mischief. It will be one program of NBC's returning "Suspense Theatre" anthology series on Thursday nights.

A muddy road had been created beside the lake and actors in grimy uniforms were resting — like real, tired soldiers in the shade of fake trees. One, particularly dust-covered and sporting a three-day beard, arose. It proved to be Robert Goulet, the handsome young baritone, who is making his TV acting debut in the episode.

Fess Parker, making an easy character shift from Davy Crockett to Daniel Boone this year, was nipped on the neck Wednesday by a bear cub. The scene involved was one where the intrepid backwoodsman was "grinning down" — staring down — the animal instead of shooting it. The minor wound was treated, disguised with makeup and Parker kept on working.

Singapore Patrolled

SINGAPORE (AP) — Police patrolled Singapore's Geyland District today following clashes between Chinese and Malays that threatened new racial violence in the riot-scarred city.

Police said a small mob attacked a motorcycle rider and set fire to his vehicle. They said a Malay was the ringleader.

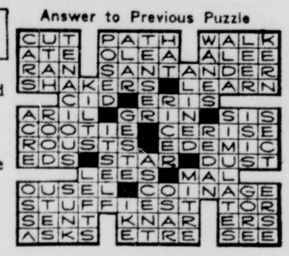

A police announcement over the government radio said "organized rumor mongering" was sparking the incidents and warned that it could lead to a renewal of last month's race riots in which 23 persons were killed and 460 injured.

Tennessee Primary

Bass Victor Over Clement in Bid For Senate Seat

NASHVILLE, Tenn. (AP) — Tennessee Democrats nominated Rep. Ross Bass Thursday for a U.S. Senate seat over two opponents who made his vote for the civil rights bill an issue in the primary campaign.

Negroes Lose in Test

He handed Gov. Frank Clement his first political defeat, carrying seven of the state's nine congressional districts. Businessman M. M. Bullard ran third.

In a Fayette County general election held concurrently with the statewide primaries, Negro-backed candidates lost overwhelmingly in sheriff and tax assessor races billed as tests of their voting strength in the rural South.

Negroes outnumber whites 2-to-1 numerically in the county, located on the Mississippi border, and voter registration drives by northern college students put hundreds of Negro names on registration books for the first time.

Negro attorney A. W. Willis scored an apparent Democratic nomination in the state senate from Memphis, however, and could become the first member of his race to win a state elective office in this century in Shelby County should he win in November.

Gore Choice Again

Democrats also renominated Sen. Albert Gore for a third term. He won easily from three political unknowns but faces a determined Republican bid in November.

Dan Kuykendall was unopposed in the Republican primary but has been campaigning for months against Gore.

Howard Baker Jr., whose late father was a long term congressman steamrollered nominal opposition for the right to face Bass in the general election.

Bass indicated he did not feel his civil rights bill vote hurt his campaign for the two years remaining of the term of the late Sen. Estes Kefauver. But his opponents hammered away at that issue. He said he considered the heavy vote for him an endorsement of his record, which has followed closely the programs of the Kennedy and Johnson administrations.

With 2521 of 2702 precincts reporting, Bass had 300,780 votes to 210,348 for Clement and 77,398 for Bullard.

Six incumbent congressmen — two Republicans and four Democrats — won renomination, but Clifford Davis, the dean of the Tennessee delegation, lost to George W. Grider of Memphis, a World War II submarine commander.

Jump-Overcall Bid Bites User's Hand

By OSWALD JACOBY
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

The weak, jump-overcall was invented by me back in 1932 for use in the Lenz-Culbertson match. It is very popular in expert circles today, although I have lost some of my enthusiasm for it.

	NORTH 7 ♠ A ♥ 8 7 2 ♦ A 10 8 6 5 ♣ K 8 5 4
WEST ♠ Q 8 7 6 ♥ K Q 10 9 6 4 ♦ 7 4 ♣ 2		EAST ♠ K J 10 5 4 3 2 ♥ 5 ♦ K 2 ♣ 10 6 3
	SOUTH (D) ♠ 9 ♥ A J 3 ♦ Q J 9 3 ♣ A Q J 9 7

No one vulnerable

South	West	North	East
1 ♣	2 ♥	3 ♣	3 ♠
4 ♣	4 ♠	5 ♣	Pass
Pass	Pass

Opening lead—♥ K.

I still play it with some partners. With others, I prefer to use an intermediate jump-overcall that crowds the bidding, but shows some strength at the same time.

The pre-emptive jump-overcall is like a two-headed rattlesnake. It can bite its user as well as the opponents.

West's two-heart bid was slightly on the strong side for a weak jump-overcall, but decidely on the weak side for an intermediate one. After East bid three spades, West competed to four spades, but both East and West decided to try to defeat the five club contract rather than to incur a sure penalty at five spades.

West opened the king of hearts and right here is where the snake turned around and bit its owner. South was certain West's bidding indicated a six hard heart suit. Hence, South grabbed that first heart trick.

Then he drew trumps and took the diamond finesse. He expected it to lose and it did, but since West had that six card heart suit, East did not have a heart to lead to his partner and eventually South was able to discard one heart on dummy's fifth diamond.

Not Quitting SUNY

ALBANY, N. Y. (AP) — J. Lawrence Murray, chief administrative officer of the State University of New York, denied today a published report that he had submitted his resignation.

Murray also said he did not intend to resign.

The report appeared today in the Albany Times-Union.

Murray, the regular secretary of the university, has been chief administration officer since January 1963, while it has been without a president.

Sign Laboratory Pact

ALBANY, N. Y. (AP) —The State Office of Atomic and Space Development today announced it had signed a $425,000 contract with the University of Rochester for use of the university's $5.2-million nuclear structure laboratory.

The laboratory is due to be completed in 1966. Construction began in June.

Under a 25-year contract between the state and the university, the laboratory will be made available for education, research and training purposes to state agencies and educational and non-profit organizations within the state.

Men Walk Away Uninjured After Crash of Copter

SARANAC LAKE, N. Y. (AP) —Two men walked away with barely a scratch Thursday after their helicopter crashed into Basin Mountain, east of this Adirondack resort, State Police reported today.

The pilot, Joseph O. Vernon, 28, and John Jacquot, 33, both of Perkasie, Pa., had flown to the top of Mt. Marcy, south of here, with building materials for summer camping units being constructed by the State Conservation Department.

Vernon suffered a finger cut. The helicopter, owned by Dennis Morrison of Beverly, Mass., and leased by Carson Helicopter Inc. of Perkasie, was almost completely demolished.

Police said the craft was gliding down at an altitude of 5,000 feet when its motor failed and it dropped into blown-down trees on the north side of Basin Mountain. The men found a trail and walked to nearby Keene.

While working for the Conservation Department, they had been obtaining the building material at Keene Valley, and the flight late Thursday completed the job.

Seaway Tony Has 1,600 Miles Done On Trip to Fair

SYRACUSE, N.Y. (AP)—Unlike the song, the words "lazy" and "river" just don't apply in connection with Seaway Tony, a lumberjack who is rowing a 16 - foot - boat from Sault Ste. Marie., Mich., to the World's Fair.

Anthony Calery, 45, who lives in Sault Ste. Marie when his isn't rowing long distances, has been rowing for 50 days to complete 1,600 miles of the proposed 2,000-mile trip. He figures he will reach the fair in about two more weeks.

Calery pulled his rowboat, bearing the legend Seaway Tony in foot-high letters, into a dock on the Seneca River near here Thursday.

During the brief stay for food and rest, the cigar-smoking Calery was asked why he decided on the trip.

"Just for the trick of it," he said.

"I made a short trip of 400 miles in 1962. I did that pretty easy, so I figured I could do this one real easy, too. I never get tired."

Calery travels light. Along with the ever-present cigars, his equipment consists of shaving gear, canned food, water, heavy blankets, an axe and a camera and film.

His sleeping arrangements are simple. He naps in his boat, at a hotel, along the shore "or any place a person might invite me."

A bachelor, Tony says he is wearing the same clothes he started the trip in.

He said the journey had taken him through Lake Huron, the St. Clair River, Lake St. Clair, the Detroit River, Lake Erie, and the New York State Barge Canal.

From the canal he will join the Hudson River for the trip to New York.

He plans to remain at the fair for five or six days and then return to Michigan by automobile.

Fertility Age Gains

LONDON (AP) — A surgeon said today that the maximum age at which woman can become mothers has steadily increased in recent years.

A careful study of hospital records, Dr. Donald Frommer wrote in the British Medical Journal, reveals that mothers are often past 50 before they cease to be fertile. The average is four years later than in their grandmother's day, he said.

Dr. Frommer, a surgeon in Hertfordshire, said the reason is not known.

He suggested it might be the result of better diet and living standards.

Seaway Freight Hitting Records

MASSENA, N.Y. (AP) — Freight through the St. Lawrence Seaway is increasing to new records, even though Great Lakes water levels are low, Joseph H. McCann, Seaway administrator, says.

McCann said Thursday that cargo tonnage on the Seaway hit a record 5.3 million tons in July, the third month in a row that shipping exceeded 5 million tons.

McCann noted that the lower water-levels in the Great Lakes "probably held our tonnage down somewhat," but that the July increase confirms "we are growing at an incredibly rapid pace."

Freight for the season has totaled over 19 million tons, compared with 13.9 million tons at the same time last year.

In July 1963, a total of 4.1 million tons was shipped.

Tennessee Primary

Bass Victor Over Clement in Bid For Senate Seat

NASHVILLE, Tenn. (AP) — Tennessee Democrats nominated Rep. Ross Bass Thursday for a U.S. Senate seat over two opponents who made his vote for the civil rights bill an issue in the primary campaign.

Negroes Lose in Test

He handed Gov. Frank Clement his first political defeat, carrying seven of the state's nine congressional districts. Businessman M. M. Bullard ran third.

In a Fayette County general election held concurrently with the statewide primaries, Negro-backed candidates lost overwhelmingly in sheriff and tax assessor races billed as tests of their voting strength in the rural South.

Negroes outnumber whites 2-to-1 numerically in the county, located on the Mississippi border, and voter registration drives by northern college students put hundreds of Negro names on registration books for the first time.

Negro attorney A. W. Willis scored an apparent Democratic nomination in the state senate from Memphis, however, and could become the first member of his race to win a state elective office in this century in Shelby County should he win in November.

Gore Choice Again

Democrats also renominated Sen. Albert Gore for a third term. He won easily from three political unknowns but faces a determined Republican bid in November.

Dan Kuykendall was unopposed in the Republican primary but has been campaigning for months against Gore.

Howard Baker Jr., whose late father was a long term congressman steamrollered nominal opposition for the right to face Bass in the general election.

Bass indicated he did not feel his civil rights bill vote hurt his campaign for the two years remaining of the term of the late Sen. Estes Kefauver. But his opponents hammered away at that issue. He said he considered the heavy vote for him an endorsement of his record, which has followed closely the programs of the Kennedy and Johnson administrations.

With 2521 of 2702 precincts reporting, Bass had 300,780 votes to 210,348 for Clement and 77,398 for Bullard.

Six incumbent congressmen — two Republicans and four Democrats — won renomination, but Clifford Davis, the dean of the Tennessee delegation, lost to George W. Grider of Memphis, a World War II submarine commander.

Jump-Overcall Bid Bites User's Hand

By OSWALD JACOBY
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

The weak, jump-overcall was invented by me back in 1932 for use in the Lenz-Culbertson match. It is very popular in expert circles today, although I have lost some of my enthusiasm for it.

I still play it with some partners. With others, I prefer to use an intermediate jump-overcall that crowds the bidding, but shows some strength at the same time.

The pre-emptive jump-overcall is like a two-headed rattlesnake. It can bite its user as well as the opponents.

West's two-heart bid was slightly on the strong side for a weak jump-overcall, but decidely on the weak side for an intermediate one. After East bid three spades, West competed to four spades, but both East and West decided to try to defeat the five club contract rather than to incur a sure penalty at five spades.

West opened the king of hearts and right here is where the snake turned around and bit its owner. South was certain West's bidding indicated a six hard heart suit. Hence, South grabbed that first heart trick.

Then he drew trumps and took the diamond finesse. He expected it to lose and it did, but since West had that six card heart suit, East did not have a heart to lead to his partner and eventually South was able to discard one heart on dummy's fifth diamond.

Not Quitting SUNY

ALBANY, N. Y. (AP) — J. Lawrence Murray, chief administrative officer of the State University of New York, denied today a published report that he had submitted his resignation.

Murray also said he did not intend to resign.

The report appeared today in the Albany Times-Union.

Murray, the regular secretary of the university, has been chief administration officer since January 1963, while it has been without a president.

Sign Laboratory Pact

ALBANY, N. Y. (AP) —The State Office of Atomic and Space Development today announced it had signed a $425,000 contract with the University of Rochester for use of the university's $5.2-million nuclear structure laboratory.

The laboratory is due to be completed in 1966. Construction began in June.

Under a 25-year contract between the state and the university, the laboratory will be made available for education, research and training purposes to state agencies and educational and non-profit organizations within the state.

SARANAC LAKE, N. Y. (AP) —Two men walked away with barely a scratch Thursday after their helicopter crashed into Basin Mountain, east of this Adirondack resort, State Police reported today.

The pilot, Joseph O. Vernon, 28, and John Jacquot, 33, both of Perkasie, Pa., had flown to the top of Mt. Marcy, south of here, with building materials for summer camping units being constructed by the State Conservation Department.

Vernon suffered a finger cut. The helicopter, owned by Dennis Morrison of Beverly, Mass., and leased by Carson Helicopter Inc. of Perkasie, was almost completely demolished.

Police said the craft was gliding down at an altitude of 5,000 feet when its motor failed and it dropped into blown-down trees on the north side of Basin Mountain. The men found a trail and walked to nearby Keene.

While working for the Conservation Department, they had been obtaining the building material at Keene Valley, and the flight late Thursday completed the job.

Seaway Tony Has 1,600 Miles Done On Trip to Fair

SYRACUSE, N.Y. (AP)—Unlike the song, the words "lazy" and "river" just don't apply in connection with Seaway Tony, a lumberjack who is rowing a 16 - foot - boat from Sault Ste. Marie., Mich., to the World's Fair.

Anthony Calery, 45, who lives in Sault Ste. Marie when his isn't rowing long distances, has been rowing for 50 days to complete 1,600 miles of the proposed 2,000-mile trip. He figures he will reach the fair in about two more weeks.

Calery pulled his rowboat, bearing the legend Seaway Tony in foot-high letters, into a dock on the Seneca River near here Thursday.

During the brief stay for food and rest, the cigar-smoking Calery was asked why he decided on the trip.

"Just for the trick of it," he said.

"I made a short trip of 400 miles in 1962. I did that pretty easy, so I figured I could do this one real easy, too. I never get tired."

Calery travels light. Along with the ever-present cigars, his equipment consists of shaving gear, canned food, water, heavy blankets, an axe and a camera and film.

His sleeping arrangements are simple. He naps in his boat, at a hotel, along the shore "or any place a person might invite me."

A bachelor, Tony says he is wearing the same clothes he started the trip in.

He said the journey had taken him through Lake Huron, the St. Clair River, Lake St. Clair, the Detroit River, Lake Erie, and the New York State Barge Canal.

From the canal he will join the Hudson River for the trip to New York.

He plans to remain at the fair for five or six days and then return to Michigan by automobile.

Fertility Age Gains

LONDON (AP) — A surgeon said today that the maximum age at which woman can become mothers has steadily increased in recent years.

A careful study of hospital records, Dr. Donald Frommer wrote in the British Medical Journal, reveals that mothers are often past 50 before they cease to be fertile. The average is four years later than in their grandmother's day, he said.

Dr. Frommer, a surgeon in Hertfordshire, said the reason is not known.

He suggested it might be the result of better diet and living standards.

Seaway Freight Hitting Records

MASSENA, N.Y. (AP) — Freight through the St. Lawrence Seaway is increasing to new records, even though Great Lakes water levels are low, Joseph H. McCann, Seaway administrator, says.

McCann said Thursday that cargo tonnage on the Seaway hit a record 5.3 million tons in July, the third month in a row that shipping exceeded 5 million tons.

McCann noted that the lower water-levels in the Great Lakes "probably held our tonnage down somewhat," but that the July increase confirms "we are growing at an incredibly rapid pace."

Freight for the season has totaled over 19 million tons, compared with 13.9 million tons at the same time last year.

In July 1963, a total of 4.1 million tons was shipped.

Lawatsch Is Named To Post by Agway

Donald J. Lawatsch of Kings Ferry, son of Mr. and Mrs. Oscar J. Lawatsch of 10 Woodland Aveune, Kingston, has been named lawn and garden product manager of Agway Inc.

Agway is the new company resulting from the recent merger of GLF and Eastern States. The appointment was announced by Charles L. Hovey, chemical division manager of Agway.

Lawatsch will be in charge of all wholesale sales of the lawn and garden chemical products for 12 eastern states from Maine to Pennsylvania.

He formerly was research associate for GLF at Ithaca.

Made Haste Slowly

LOUISVILLE (AP) — Workmen hurriedly installed an emergency telephone line to the Louisville City Hall to guard against an interruption of service.

In the process, a cable was cut accidentally near the city building. Eighty fire alarm boxes were knocked out.

BEVIER HOUSE, headquarters of the Ulster County Historic Society, will be one of the old homes to be visited during the Dutch Day Fair conducted by the Marbletown Reformed Church of Stone Ridge Saturday. The kitchen of this 18th Century house with its huge fireplace and furnishings, scullery rooms with early colonial household equipment and the adjacent rooms contain many unusual items for farm industries and colonial crafts. Tours will leave the church regularly beginning at 11 a. m. Luncheon and supper will be served.

Typhoon Hits Northern Luzon Provinces

MANILA, Philippines (AP)—Typhoon Ida roared through Luzon Island's northern provinces today with winds of more than 90 miles an hour and headed into the South China Sea.

Damage was expected to be considerable, but early reports were sketchy.

Although far from the storm's center, Manila had heavy rains which caused some flooding. Winds sent waves crashing over Manila Bay's sea wall. Some people living along the shoreline were forced to leave their homes.

Export to Japan

GILBERTSVILLE, Ky. (AP) —Kentucky Lake and the Tennessee River below Kentucky Dam yielded 61 per cent of the 1963 Tennessee Valley mussel-shell harvest of 5,800 tons. The harvest brought $853,000. Most of the shells are exported to Japan where they provide cores for cultured pearls.

Social Agencies Discuss Programs, List Workers

Plans for the fall season and announcement of committee workers highlighted a recent meeting of the executive board of the Ulster County Council of Social Agencies.

Mrs. Kirtland Snyder, president of the Council, met with her executive board and committee chairmen for a luncheon and business meeting at the Governor Clinton Hotel.

Mrs. Snyder stressed the importance of up-dating the directory of the Agencies which was published in 1960.

She pointed out that the directory lists all children's camps within a 50-mile radius of Kingston. Screening of needy families and the need for a detention home for juvenile offenders also will be part of the action program during the coming year, she said.

Serving with Mrs. Snyder as officers will be Louis Schafer, first vice-president; Mrs. Ethel Martin, second vice-president; Mrs. Gloria Usher, recording secretary; Mrs. Frieda Dingee, corresponding secretary and Robert Johnson, treasurer.

Committees and workers announced include:

Publicity—Mrs. William Krum.

Christmas basket—Major and Mrs. Jacob Hohn and Charles Ryan.

Organizations represented at the executive meeting were:

Catholic Charities, Cerebral Palsy, Children's Home, Community Chest, Girl Scouts, Ulster County Health Department, Jewish Community Center, Mental Health Center, Probation Department, Recreation Department, American Red Cross, Republican Women, Salvation Army, Kingston Health Department, Department of Health, Education and Welfare, Social Seretary, TB and Health Association, Heart Chapter, Child Welfare Department, County Welfare Department, the YWCA and the YMCA.

Meetings for the coming year will be held the second Tuesday of each month at the YWCA.

Bunny Was Unscathed

FORT PIERCE, Fla. (AP) — Mrs. Betty Darling, 33, went gunning for a rabbit that was raiding her garden.

The bunny was unscathed but (1) Mrs. Darling's .22 caliber pistol accidentally discharged, wounding her arm; and (2) her automobile went into a ditch when she lost control while driving to a hospital, adding a cut lip and bruised forehead to her injuries.

Lawatsch Is Named To Post by Agway

Donald J. Lawatsch of Kings Ferry, son of Mr. and Mrs. Oscar J. Lawatsch of 10 Woodland Aveune, Kingston, has been named lawn and garden product manager of Agway Inc.

Agway is the new company resulting from the recent merger of GLF and Eastern States. The appointment was announced by Charles L. Hovey, chemical division manager of Agway.

Lawatsch will be in charge of all wholesale sales of the lawn and garden chemical products for 12 eastern states from Maine to Pennsylvania.

He formerly was research associate for GLF at Ithaca.

Made Haste Slowly

LOUISVILLE (AP) — Workmen hurriedly installed an emergency telephone line to the Louisville City Hall to guard against an interruption of service.

In the process, a cable was cut accidentally near the city building. Eighty fire alarm boxes were knocked out.

BEVIER HOUSE, headquarters of the Ulster County Historic Society, will be one of the old homes to be visited during the Dutch Day Fair conducted by the Marbletown Reformed Church of Stone Ridge Saturday. The kitchen of this 18th Century house with its huge fireplace and furnishings, scullery rooms with early colonial household equipment and the adjacent rooms contain many unusual items for farm industries and colonial crafts. Tours will leave the church regularly beginning at 11 a. m. Luncheon and supper will be served.

Typhoon Hits NorthernLuzon Provinces

MANILA, Philippines (AP)—Typhoon Ida roared through Luzon Island's northern provinces today with winds of more than 90 miles an hour and headed into the South China Sea.

Damage was expected to be considerable, but early reports were sketchy.

Although far from the storm's center, Manila had heavy rains which caused some flooding. Winds sent waves crashing over Manila Bay's sea wall. Some people living along the shoreline were forced to leave their homes.

Export to Japan

GILBERTSVILLE, Ky. (AP) —Kentucky Lake and the Tennessee River below Kentucky Dam yielded 61 per cent of the 1963 Tennessee Valley musselshell harvest of 5,800 tons. The harvest brought $853,000. Most of the shells are exported to Japan where they provide cores for cultured pearls.

Social Agencies Discuss Programs, List Workers

Plans for the fall season and announcement of committee workers highlighted a recent meeting of the executive board of the Ulster County Council of Social Agencies.

Mrs. Kirtland Snyder, president of the Council, met with her executive board and committee chairmen for a luncheon and business meeting at the Governor Clinton Hotel.

Mrs. Snyder stressed the importance of up-dating the directory of the Agencies which was published in 1960.

She pointed out that the directory lists all children's camps within a 50-mile radius of Kingston. Screening of needy families and the need for a detention home for juvenile offenders also will be part of the action program during the coming year, she said.

Serving with Mrs. Snyder as officers will be Louis Schafer, first vice-president; Mrs. Ethel Martin, second vice-president; Mrs. Gloria Usher, recording secretary; Mrs. Frieda Dingee, corresponding secretary and Robert Johnson, treasurer.

Committees and workers announced include:

Publicity—Mrs. William Krum.

Christmas basket—Major and Mrs. Jacob Hohn and Charles Ryan.

Organizations represented at the executive meeting were:

Catholic Charities, Cerebral Palsy, Children's Home, Community Chest, Girl Scouts, Ulster County Health Department, Jewish Community Center, Mental Health Center, Probation Department, Recreation Department, American Red Cross, Republican Women, Salvation Army, Kingston Health Department, Department of Health, Education and Welfare, Social Seretary, TB and Health Association, Heart Chapter, Child Welfare Department, County Welfare Department, the YWCA and the YMCA.

Meetings for the coming year will be held the second Tuesday of each month at the YWCA.

Bunny Was Unscathed

The bunny was unscathed but (1) Mrs. Darling's .22 caliber pistol accidentally discharged, wounding her arm; and (2) her automobile went into a ditch when she lost control while driving to a hospital, adding a cut lip and bruised forehead to her injuries.

Elorde Named Fighter of Month

NEW YORK (AP) — Flash Elorde, the junior lightweight champion from Manila, was named Fighter of the Month today by Ring Magzine. Nigeria's Dick Tiger, the former middleweight champion, was a close second.

Elorde was picked for stopping Japan's Teruo Kosaka in the 12th round of the seventh defense of the 130-pound division title. Tiger looked extremely good in stopping Puerto Rican Jose Gonzalez in the sixth round of his first bout since he lost the crown to Joey Giardello.

Mrs. Landesman Wins at Wiltwyck

Playing under the Calloway handicap system, Mrs. M. Landesman won the Ladies' Tournament Wednesday at the Wiltwyck Country Club. Her net score was 69.

Mrs. Earl Hodge and Mrs. Robert Merritt tied for second place honors with 73. There were four ties for third place with Mrs. Howard DeWitt, Mrs. Richard Stewart, Mrs. Thomas Plunket and Mrs. Bernard Carpinelli posting 74.

Yankees Set for Baltimore

By JIM BECKER
Associated Press Sports Writer

The biggest two weeks of the year in the American League start today, and the New York Yankees got ready for them by leaving their bats in the rack.

That should be bad news for the Baltimore Orioles and the Chicago White Sox.

The last time the Yankees did that they won five straight.

And this time they pulled out the finale of a three-game set in Kansas City, 5-3, by using the dusty bat act that was dreamed up by Manager Yogi Berra as a slump-killer.

The victory put the Yankees four percentage points ahead of the Orioles, with the big series coming up between the two clubs at Yankee Stadium tonight.

Chisox Lose

The third-place White Sox dropped 1½ games back, when they dropped a 5-2 decision to the Detroit Tigers. The Minnesota Twins edged the Boston Red Sox 6-5 on a fly ball that was lost in the sun, in the other game.

The Orioles were idle, along with the Senators, Angels and Indians.

The Yankees snapped out of their slump in Kansas City by using Yogi's recipe for weak hitting — not batting practice. It was the second time this year that Berra had ordered his team to skip batting drill, and the second time they responded.

The same kind of response would come in handy in the next two weeks — which are being billed as pennant weeks. The Yankees meet the second-place Orioles for four games at home, and then the White Sox come in for four.

Then the Yanks go to Baltimore for three and Chicago for four.

That will wind up the season's business for the Yankees with the competitors. They will not see either team again.

The Yanks are 5-6 against the Orioles, and 10-0 against the White Sox, going into the big fortnight, but they are not certain at this stage if their ace, Whitey Ford, can be counted on for regular work. He has an ailing hip.

That made the continued rehabilitation of onetime ace Ralph Terry good news for the Yanks. Terry got the victory, his third in a row, against the Athletics, although he needed help when the home run ball started to catch up to him again.

Nellie Mathews homered in the fifth and Rocky Colavito hit his 27th, a two-run shot, in the eighth, against Terry.

Roger Maris got the Yanks off in front with a homer in the fifth, and Tommy Tresh hit a two-run triple in the seventh. Elston Howard's wrong field homer in the eighth proved to be the winning run.

Mickey Lolich pitched seven innings and got the victory for the Tigers over the White Sox. Al Kaline started the two-run fifth inning off with a double and hit a solo homer in the seventh for the Tigers. An error helped the Tigers to their first two runs in the third.

39th for Killebrew

Harmon Killebrew's 39th homer of the season, a two-run shot in the third, gave the Twins a 5-4 lead that held up until the seventh, when the Red Sox tied it up. Bob Tillman's sacrifice fly got the tying run home.

Hurley, VFW, Rotary Win Babe Ruth League Contests

Hurley remained on top of the close race in the American division of the Kingston Babe Ruth League with a 7-5 win over the 35 Club last night at the Athletic Field.

In the twinbill at Dietz Stadium, the VFW walloped the Vols, 13-1, and Rotary beat the K.P.A., 6-2.

Don Tompkins allowed only four hits in pitching Hurley to its win. Paul Koeppen was the loser. Mike Milano and Art Pinkham hit doubles for the losers.

The Vets scored in every inning but the second and sixth in easily disposing of the Vols. Winning hurler Greg Rios helped his cause with a homer and two singles. Ed Shirick had a double and pair of singles. Rios fanned 14.

Games tonight are the 35 Club vs. Kiwanis and Elks vs. Masons at Dietz Stadium.

Bears Solid Choice To Beat College Boys

By BOB GREEN
Associated Press Sports Writer

Will Miami's George Mira be able to play for Coast Guard's Otto Graham in the College All-Star game against the Bears in Chicago?

Ask the San Francisco 49ers.

Which is kind of confusing until you consider that it's time for pro football's pre-season exhibitions, when all sorts of strange things happen.

Like Sam Huff playing for Washington in Charlotte, N.C., where his teammate is the presently disabled Sonny Jurgensen. And Jurgensen's favorite Philadelphia target, Tommy McDonald, is nearly 3,000 miles away playing for Dallas in Los Angeles. And Paul Hornung gets back into action in New Orleans.

Opening up the whole affair, and the highlight of weekend, is the annual game between the College All-Stars against the National Football League champion Bears in Chicago tonight.

And Graham, coach at Coast Guard, who will be seeking his second straight All-Star victory, got something of a jolt when Mira, one of the nation's top collegiate passers, came up with a twinge in his throwing arm.

Mira is the property of the 49ers and Graham said it was strictly up to San Francisco as to whether the 1962 All-America choice would be available.

In the meantime he named Southern Cal's Pete Beathard to start against the two-touchdown favorite Bears, who have announced they will dedicate the game to Willie Galimore and John Farrington, Chicago players killed in a recent auto accident.

The rest of the nation's major pro football teams — with the exception of the Pittsburgh Steelers — open their pre-season schedules Saturday and Sunday. The Steelers are idle.

The Saturday night schedule has Green Bay vs. St. Louis at New Orleans, Baltimore vs. Philadelphia at Hershey, Detroit vs. Washington at Charlotte and Dallas at Los Angeles in the NFL, and Denver at San Diego and New York vs. Buffalo at Tampa, Fla., in the AFL.

Sunday Cleveland is at San Francisco in the NFL and Houston at Boston and Kansas City at Oakland in the AFL.

Among the highlights will be the return of Hornung to the Green Bay Packers after sitting out a year's suspension and the appearance of a flock of veterans in brand new livery.

Grid Giants Open Exhibition Slate at Minneapolis Saturday

MINNEAPOLIS, Minn. — The New York Giants engage the Minnesota Vikings here tomorrow night in the first of 19 National Football League dates which coach Allie Sherman hopes will lead to a fourth straight championship game appearance in December.

Kickoff time is 9 P. M. (Eastenr Daylight Time) and the game will be brought back to the New York metropolitan area by WNEW Radio, the Football Giant Network and WPIX Television.

This opening pre-season contest carries important overtones for the Maramen, who arrived in the Twin Cities by charter plane late this afternoon.

Many Problems

"We've got a lot of problems to solve and not much time in which to solve them," says Sherman, now in his fourth year as head coach of the defending eastern champions.

One of the problems, although Sherman does not mention it specifically, is the disposition of the crowded quarterback corps which now numbers four men—Y. A. Tittle, Glynn Griffing, Gary Wood and Henry Schichtle—and which must be thinned down by at least one within the next week or so.

"Four quarterbacks is too many," Sherman has been quoted as saying.

What Tittle can do is well known to Sherman — and to everyone else in the NFL. What the others are capable of is something which must be discovered in a hurry, like tomorrow night against Norm Van Brocklin's angry young Vikings in nearby Bloomington.

Tittle, of course, will get some exposure. "He needs game conditions to get his timing and 'feel'," explains Sherman. "He's been throwing very well in camp but there's nothing like the real thing to sharpen a passer."

Griffing, the No. 2 man last year, is expected to follow Y. A. to the firing line tomorrow. Wood (Cornell) and Schichtle (Wichita), both rookies, will see action as the course of the game dictates.

The Viking contest also gives Sherman and his aides a chance to watch veteran running backs Hugh McElhenny and Alex Webster in action. Both seemingly have overcome 1963 injuries but only time—and contact—will tell whether they have come back far enough to help the Giants this year.

Of equal interest to Sherman will be the performances of his three prize rookie ball-carriers —speedboy Clarence Childs, 240-pound Ernie (Big Wheel) Wheelwright and classy Steve Thurlow, No. 2 draft pick from Stanford.

Other rookies who will come under close scrutiny tomorrow are offensive tackles Roger Anderson, Virginia Union, and Frank Lasky, Florida; guard E. Adamchik, Pittsburgh; defensive tackles John Contoulis, Connecticut, and Tony DiMidio, West Chester State, and line backers Tom Costello, Dayton; Cody Binkley, Vanderbilt, and Lou Slaby, Pittsburgh.

Glenerie Club Bridge Results

Ralph Wesselmann, Shokan, and Earl Yonnell, Poughkeepsie, posted an excellent 69 per cent game to win honors on the East-West side in the Glenerie Bridge club regular fractional game.

On the North-South side, the winners were Mrs. William Seabury and Irving H. Wheatcroft with a game of 66 per cent.

East-West results:

Dr. Victor Randel and Herbert Gertner, Kingston, 61½ per cent.

Mrs. Robert Hogan, Kingston, and Mrs. Joseph Ellis, Saugerties, 60 per cent.

Mr. and Mrs. Ernest LeFevre, Hurley, 54 per cent.

North-South results:

Mrs. Harold Rakov, Kingston, and Dr. Paul Perlman, Woodstock, 63 per cent.

Mrs. Irving H. Wheatcroft, and Carl Kunz, Kingston, 61 per cent.

Michael Korol, Hurley and Joseph Mautner, Kingston, 57 per cent.

Bob Costello fired 39-36-75 and the Wiltwyck powerhouse scored a 9-6 win over Amsterdam at the upstate course to finish the Northeastern New York PGA Jr. season with 19 of a possible 20 points. Only a tie with Frear Park kept the locals from a perfect season.

Dr. Klink Gets Upset Win in Net Tourney

Dr. William Klink of Middletown scored the first major upset of the Mid-Hudson Valley Tennis tournament when he beat third seeded Perry Link of Plaatsburgh, 6-2, 3-6, 7-5, last night at the College courts in New Paltz.

In another singles match, Hank Veix of New Paltz knocked Kingston's Dick Smith out of the running with a 4-6, 7-5, 6-2 triumph.

Doubles results:

Rendich Meola, Middletown, beat Nate Rubin, Poughkeepsie, 6-0, 6-0.

In tonight's doubles matches, the top seeded duo of Dave Bonner and Art Jones of Poughkeepsie will oppose Dr. William Klink and Robert Lake of Middletown. In the other doubles match, Dr. Thor Kroh and Tony Gobeo of Middletown will face Gordon Krajna, Tillson and Perry Link, Plaatsburgh.

Elorde Named Fighter of Month

NEW YORK (AP) — Flash Elorde, the junior lightweight champion from Manila, was named Fighter of the Month today by Ring Magzine. Nigeria's Dick Tiger, the former middleweight champion, was a close second.

Elorde was picked for stopping Japan's Teruo Kosaka in the 12th round of the seventh defense of the 130-pound division title. Tiger looked extremely good in stopping Puerto Rican Jose Gonzalez in the sixth round of his first bout since he lost the crown to Joey Giardello.

Mrs. Landesman Wins at Wiltwyck

Playing under the Calloway handicap system, Mrs. M. Landesman won the Ladies' Tournament Wednesday at the Wiltwyck Country Club. Her net score was 69.

Mrs. Earl Hodge and Mrs. Robert Merritt tied for second place honors with 73. There were four ties for third place with Mrs. Howard DeWitt, Mrs. Richard Stewart, Mrs. Thomas Plunket and Mrs. Bernard Carpinelli posting 74.

Yankees Set for Baltimore

By JIM BECKER
Associated Press Sports Writer

The biggest two weeks of the year in the American League start today, and the New York Yankees got ready for them by leaving their bats in the rack.

That should be bad news for the Baltimore Orioles and the Chicago White Sox.

The last time the Yankees did that they won five straight.

And this time they pulled out the finale of a three-game set in Kansas City, 5-3, by using the dusty bat act that was dreamed up by Manager Yogi Berra as a slump-killer.

The victory put the Yankees four percentage points ahead of the Orioles, with the big series coming up between the two clubs at Yankee Stadium tonight.

Chisox Lose

The third-place White Sox dropped 1½ games back, when they dropped a 5-2 decision to the Detroit Tigers. The Minnesota Twins edged the Boston Red Sox 6-5 on a fly ball that was lost in the sun, in the other game.

The Orioles were idle, along with the Senators, Angels and Indians.

The Yankees snapped out of their slump in Kansas City by using Yogi's recipe for weak hitting — not batting practice. It was the second time this year that Berra had ordered his team to skip batting drill, and the second time they responded.

The same kind of response would come in handy in the next two weeks — which are being billed as pennant weeks. The Yankees meet the second-place Orioles for four games at home, and then the White Sox come in for four.

Then the Yanks go to Baltimore for three and Chicago for four.

That will wind up the season's business for the Yankees with the competitors. They will not see either team again.

The Yanks are 5-6 against the Orioles, and 10-0 against the White Sox, going into the big fortnight, but they are not certain at this stage if their ace, Whitey Ford, can be counted on for regular work. He has an ailing hip.

That made the continued rehabilitation of onetime ace Ralph Terry good news for the Yanks. Terry got the victory, his third in a row, against the Athletics, although he needed help when the home run ball started to catch up to him again.

Nellie Mathews homered in the fifth and Rocky Colavito hit his 27th, a two-run shot, in the eighth, against Terry.

Roger Maris got the Yanks off in front with a homer in the fifth, and Tommy Tresh hit a two-run triple in the seventh. Elston Howard's wrong field homer in the eighth proved to be the winning run.

Mickey Lolich pitched seven innings and got the victory for the Tigers over the White Sox. Al Kaline started the two-run fifth inning off with a double and hit a solo homer in the seventh for the Tigers. An error helped the Tigers to their first two runs in the third.

39th for Killebrew

Harmon Killebrew's 39th homer of the season, a two-run shot in the third, gave the Twins a 5-4 lead that held up until the seventh, when the Red Sox tied it up. Bob Tillman's sacrifice fly got the tying run home.

Hurley, VFW, Rotary Win Babe Ruth League Contests

Hurley remained on top of the close race in the American division of the Kingston Babe Ruth League with a 7-5 win over the 35 Club last night at the Athletic Field.

In the twinbill at Dietz Stadium, the VFW walloped the Vols, 13-1, and Rotary beat the K.P.A., 6-2.

Don Tompkins allowed only four hits in pitching Hurley to its win. Paul Koeppen was the loser. Mike Milano and Art Pinkham hit doubles for the losers.

The Vets scored in every inning but the second and sixth in easily disposing of the Vols. Winning hurler Greg Rios helped his cause with a homer and two singles. Ed Shirick had a double and pair of singles. Rios fanned 14.

Games tonight are the 35 Club vs. Kiwanis and Elks vs. Masons at Dietz Stadium.

MINNEAPOLIS, Minn. — The New York Giants engage the Minnesota Vikings here tomorrow night in the first of 19 National Football League dates which coach Allie Sherman hopes will lead to a fourth straight championship game appearance in December.

Kickoff time is 9 P. M. (Eastenr Daylight Time) and the game will be brought back to the New York metropolitan area by WNEW Radio, the Football Giant Network and WPIX Television.

This opening pre-season contest carries important overtones for the Maramen, who arrived in the Twin Cities by charter plane late this afternoon.

Many Problems

"We've got a lot of problems to solve and not much time in which to solve them," says Sherman, now in his fourth year as head coach of the defending eastern champions.

One of the problems, although Sherman does not mention it specifically, is the disposition of the crowded quarterback corps which now numbers four men—Y. A. Tittle, Glynn Griffing, Gary Wood and Henry Schichtle—and which must be thinned down by at least one within the next week or so.

"Four quarterbaeks is too many," Sherman has been quoted as saying.

What Tittle can do is well known to Sherman — and to everyone else in the NFL. What the others are capable of is something which must be discovered in a hurry, like tomorrow night against Norm Van Brocklin's angry young Vikings in nearby Bloomington.

Tittle, of course, will get some exposure. "He needs game conditions to get his timing and 'feel'," explains Sherman. "He's been throwing very well in camp but there's nothing like the real thing to sharpen a passer."

Griffing, the No. 2 man last year, is expected to follow Y. A. to the firing line tomorrow. Wood (Cornell) and Schichtle (Wichita), both rookies, will see action as the course of the game dictates.

The Viking contest also gives Sherman and his aides a chance to watch veteran running backs Hugh McElhenny and Alex Webster in action. Both seemingly have overcome 1963 injuries but only time—and contact—will tell whether they have come back far enough to help the Giants this year.

Of equal interest to Sherman will be the performances of his three prize rookie ball-carriers —speedboy Clarence Childs, 240-pound Ernie (Big Wheel) Wheelwright and classy Steve Thurlow, No. 2 draft pick from Stanford.

Other rookies who will come under close scrutiny tomorrow are offensive tackles Roger Anderson, Virginia Union, and Frank Lasky, Florida; guard E. Adamchik, Pittsburgh; defensive tackles John Contoulis, Connecticut, and Tony DiMidio, West Chester State, and line backers Tom Costello, Dayton; Cody Binkley, Vanderbilt, and Lou Slaby, Pittsburgh.

Bears Solid Choice To Beat College Boys

By BOB GREEN
Associated Press Sports Writer

Will Miami's George Mira be able to play for Coast Guard's Otto Graham in the College All-Star game against the Bears in Chicago?

Ask the San Francisco 49ers.

Which is kind of confusing until you consider that it's time for pro football's pre-season exhibitions, when all sorts of strange things happen.

Like Sam Huff playing for Washington in Charlotte, N.C., where his teammate is the presently disabled Sonny Jurgensen. And Jurgensen's favorite Philadelphia target, Tommy McDonald, is nearly 3,000 miles away playing for Dallas in Los Angeles. And Paul Hornung gets back into action in New Orleans.

Opening up the whole affair, and the highlight of weekend, is the annual game between the College All-Stars against the National Football League champion Bears in Chicago tonight.

And Graham, coach at Coast Guard, who will be seeking his second straight All-Star victory, got something of a jolt when Mira, one of the nation's top collegiate passers, came up with a twinge in his throwing arm.

Mira is the property of the 49ers and Graham said it was strictly up to San Francisco as to whether the 1962 All-America choice would be available.

In the meantime he named Southern Cal's Pete Beathard to start against the two-touchdown favorite Bears, who have announced they will dedicate the game to Willie Galimore and John Farrington, Chicago players killed in a recent auto accident.

The rest of the nation's major pro football teams — with the exception of the Pittsburgh Steelers — open their pre-season schedules Saturday and Sunday. The Steelers are idle.

The Saturday night schedule has Green Bay vs. St. Louis at New Orleans, Baltimore vs. Philadelphia at Hershey, Detroit vs. Washington at Charlotte and Dallas at Los Angeles in the NFL, and Denver at San Diego and New York vs. Buffalo at Tampa, Fla., in the AFL.

Sunday Cleveland is at San Francisco in the NFL and Houston at Boston and Kansas City at Oakland in the AFL.

Among the highlights will be the return of Hornung to the Green Bay Packers after sitting out a year's suspension and the appearance of a flock of veterans in brand new livery.

Yankees Cop Esopus Title, Gain 11-3 Win Over Indians

Tom Barton's four-hitter and some hefty slugging gave the Yankees the Esopus Legion Little league title, 11-3, over the Indians. The champs captured the playoff series in two straight games.

Ed Palladino's MR Selections

BEST BET—Duke Spud (3rd).
UPSET CHANCE—Osborne, 4

2. HOPEFUL ELSIE finally gets a good post. Will be tough from here. FAITH ADIOS can take this with a well rated drive. DARLENE PATCH won last but it went in 2:11.2.

3. DUKE SPUD shows much promise. The best bet of the night. POLA SCOTT can stay close and win in the drive to the wire.WILMA'S BOY is always near the top.

4. MOUNTAIN CREED has a good burst of speed. Steps way up but is dangerous. OSBORNE sometimes has trouble making turns. A good spot for an upset here. HONOR KEY can go wire to wire.

5. CRY JIMMY and Ingrassia break season long slump. Neither has won yet. GOLDEN FOX has been disappointing. Maybe now. EVERGREEN DIRECT needs a top rated drive.

6. KENLAND SQUAW the best trotter on the grounds. Can beat this classy field. HOBO ROCKET shows three straight second place finishes. The main competition. TALENT SCOUT has class but has been idle. Might need a sharpener.

7. MYSTERY MELODY just missed in last. Is sharp. CATCH UP has to be tough from the pole. SALLY VONIAN shows only one win in two years.

8. FINGO'S BOY ran out of gas in the final 50 yards. Maybe now. WESTBURY is hampered by the post but is sharp. HAVA'S BOY doesn't win but is always near the top.

9. CHIEF MOURNER can take this one in the stretch. INDIAN BEAUTY and SUGAR HEIR will battle for the early lead.

Cardigan Bay at SpaTrackTonight

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The trio—Henry T. Adios, Cardigan Bay and Country Don—meet in the $10,000 Billy Direct Pace at Saratoga Raceway in a race that track officials feel will result in a new track standard, and possibly a world record.

Cardigan Bay, Stanley Dancer's New Zealand import, has won the majority of his races in this country and looms as the favorite. He drew the No. 1 starting post.

Henry T. Adios the leading money-winning pacer with earnings of more than $600,000, generally trails the big bay, but upset him a month ago at Yonkers. Canada's Country Don hasn't won yet this year, but the upset-minded colt has come close and starts from the second post. The speedy Adora's Dream drew the No. 3 post, and Henry T., No. 4. Outside—and the outsider in the field of five—is Vineddy.

In the feature at Saratoga Thursday night, Vernon Dancer drove Dr. Donald to a 1½-length victory over Yankee Dart. Poplar Hanover was third in the race, the $3,0000 Knickerbocker News Pace. The time for the mile was 2:04. Don Donald paid $3.40.

Wins at Finger Lakes

Hi Daumier, with Sheridan Mellon in the irons, covered the mile-and-70-yard distance in 1:47 2-5 and returned $8.60.

Ed Palladino's MR Selections

BEST BET—Duke Spud (3rd).
UPSET CHANCE—Osborne, 4

2. HOPEFUL ELSIE finally gets a good post. Will be tough from here. FAITH ADIOS can take this with a well rated drive. DARLENE PATCH won last but it went in 2:11.2.

3. DUKE SPUD shows much promise. The best bet of the night. POLA SCOTT can stay close and win in the drive to the wire.WILMA'S BOY is always near the top.

4. MOUNTAIN CREED has a good burst of speed. Steps way up but is dangerous. OSBORNE sometimes has trouble making turns. A good spot for an upset here. HONOR KEY can go wire to wire.

5. CRY JIMMY and Ingrassia break season long slump. Neither has won yet. GOLDEN FOX has been disappointing. Maybe now. EVERGREEN DIRECT needs a top rated drive.

6. KENLAND SQUAW the best trotter on the grounds. Can beat this classy field. HOBO ROCKET shows three straight second place finishes. The main competition. TALENT SCOUT has class but has been idle. Might need a sharpener.

7. MYSTERY MELODY just missed in last. Is sharp. CATCH UP has to be tough from the pole. SALLY VONIAN shows only one win in two years.

8. FINGO'S BOY ran out of gas in the final 50 yards. Maybe now. WESTBURY is hampered by the post but is sharp. HAVA'S BOY doesn't win but is always near the top.

9. CHIEF MOURNER can take this one in the stretch. INDIAN BEAUTY and SUGAR HEIR will battle for the early lead.

Cardigan Bay at SpaTrackTonight

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The trio—Henry T. Adios, Cardigan Bay and Country Don—meet in the $10,000 Billy Direct Pace at Saratoga Raceway in a race that track officials feel will result in a new track standard, and possibly a world record.

Cardigan Bay, Stanley Dancer's New Zealand import, has won the majority of his races in this country and looms as the favorite. He drew the No. 1 starting post.

Henry T. Adios the leading money-winning pacer with earnings of more than $600,000, generally trails the big bay, but upset him a month ago at Yonkers. Canada's Country Don hasn't won yet this year, but the upset-minded colt has come close and starts from the second post. The speedy Adora's Dream drew the No. 3 post, and Henry T., No. 4. Outside—and the outsider in the field of five—is Vineddy.

In the feature at Saratoga Thursday night, Vernon Dancer drove Dr. Donald to a 1½-length victory over Yankee Dart. Poplar Hanover was third in the race, the $3,0000 Knickerbocker News Pace. The time for the mile was 2:04. Don Donald paid $3.40.

Little LEAGUERS

Yankees Cop Esopus Title, Gain 11-3 Win Over Indians

Tom Barton's four-hitter and some hefty slugging gave the Yankees the Esopus Legion Little league title, 11-3, over the Indians. The champs captured the playoff series in two straight games.

Farrell Gets That 11th Win

By MIKE RATHET
Associated Press Sports Writer

Dick Farrell of the Houston Colts, the first pitcher to win 10 games this year and who threatened to be the last to win 11, has ended a seven-week famine.

"I couldn't help wondering if it would ever come," Farrell said. There were 11 tries and six losses between victory No. 10 and 11.

Farrell, who had a brilliant 10-1 record on June 14, said he didn't think he was pressing at any time and hadn't thought about a 20-victory season.

Farrell has an 11-7 record now that the famine's ended, and has an outside chance to win 20. But he'd have to reel off the victories as quickly as he did the first 10.

Lead Is Cut

Farrell's victory trimmed the Phillies' edge to 1½ games over the second-place San Francisco Giants, who were not scheduled.

Third-place Cincinnati walloped Milwaukee 9-3 with a 15-hit attack and closed to within four games of the top, Pittsburgh defeated the Los Angeles Dodgers 4-1 and St. Louis downed the Chicago Cubs 5-3.

Farrell allowed only four hits before he was relieved in the ninth after Wes Covington doubled. Gus Triandos' single produced a run and brought in Jim Owens, who finally nailed Farrell's 11th by getting Tony Taylor to hit into a game-ending doubleplay.

The Colts scored their runs in the fourth against Chris Short, 10-6, on a triple by Al Spangler, Nellie Fox' double, a single by Walt Bond and Bob Aspromonte's sacrifice fly.

Deron Johnson and Frank Robinson produced most of the fireworks for the Reds, each collecting a triple, double and single. Vada Pinson chipped in with a homer and triggered a four-run seventh inning uprising against reliever Warren Spahn with a bunt single.

Hank Aaron was the Braves' attack, hitting a three-run homer.

Friend Wins 10th

Bill Mazeroski drove in three runs with a double and a single for the Pirates while Bob Friend, 10-11, kept nine Dodger hits well scattered. Consecutive triples by Manny Mota and Donnn Clendenon in the fifth produced the other Pittsburgh run.

Tommy Davis, the defending batting champion, stroked three singles for the Dodgers, extended his hitting streak to 18 games and lifted his average to .281.

Bill White doubled home two runs and Dick Groat drove in a pair with two singles for the Cardinals. Bob Gibson went 8 2-3 innnings but came out in the ninth. The Cubs scored one run and loaded the bases but Barney Schultz struck out Ernie Banks to end it.

The victory, squaring Gibson's record at 9-9, was his first since July 19.

Hornung to Play

NEW ORLEANS (AP)—Paul Hornung, Green Bay's great halfback who was suspended all last season for betting on his own team to win games, returns to the Packer lineup again Saturday night in an exhibition National Football League game with St. Louis.

BOWLING

KBA Secretaries To Meet Tuesday

A seminar for secretaries of leagues in the Kingston Bowling Assn. will be held on Tuesday, Aug. 11, 8 p. m. at the YMCA in Kingston.

At the meeting, KBA secretary Dick Waltman will distribute sanctioning materials and insruct with the procedure for the sanctioning of individuals.

Waltman reminds secretaries that with the change to individual membership, it is important that they attend the meeting.

Chief Maynard Is Easy Winner

MONTICELLO — Chief Maynard, sent off as the 3-5 favorite, won a convincing three and three-fourths length victory in last night's New York Sire Stakes for three-year-old pacers at Monticello Raceway.

The brown colt, owned by Theodore J. Zornow of Pittsford, sat fourth on the rail for the first half as Meda Adios was sent to a 30.4 quarter and a 1:02.4 half by driver Lucien Fontaine.

Rodriguez, Casper Get 64 Scores

By CHARLES CHAMBERLAIN
Associated Press Sports Writer

CHICAGO (AP) — Chi Chi Rodriguez, the puckish Puerto Rican whose continuous jabbbering with the gallery has been frowned upon by many of his golfing colleagues, is back at his old tricks.

This means he still is being the poll parrot of the links and has returned to his scoring groove.

"For three weeks I've been in a slump," he said after tying Billy Casper for the first round lead of the Western Open Wednesday with a seven-under-par 64 at Tam O'Shanter.

"I tied for 44th in the PGA. I tied for 31st in the Insurance City Open. I was so bad in the Canadian Open last week I didn't make the 54-hole cut.

"All during this time, I haven't been criticzied for being a friendly fellow with the galleries. I just like people. Now that I've made a good start in this tournament, they take a poke at me for too much talking. But it's been awfully quiet for three weeks."

Chi Chi, a stringy 28-year-old who amazes his followers with 300-yard plus drives, was among 28 players cracking Tam's 35-36 — 71 par. He strung out five consecutive birdies during a dazzzling front nine of 30 and came back in 34 to miss the competitive course record by one stroke. Twice he failed to drop three-foot putts for eagles.

Casper welded 31-33 for his 64.

Also included in the stampede against par were Julius Boros, Jim Ferrier and Canadian George Knudson with 67. National Open champion Ken Venturi and defending champion Arnie Palmer were in the 68 bracket. British Open winner Tony Lema, seeking his fifth tourney triumph of the year, was grouped at 70.

Among those eating the dust at 72 were Jack Nicklaus, Sam Snead and Bob Charles.

The original field of 153 in the $50,000-plus tournament will be cut to the low 75 and ties after today's round and to the low 60 and ties after 54 holes Saturday.

Give Alvin Dark Confidence Vote

By DEREK SCHOEN
Associated Press Sports Writer

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—With the knowledge that Alvin Dark will remain their manager, the San Francisco Giants now can turn back to chasing the National League pennant.

Widely circulated reports that Dark was about to get the ax from Giants owner Horace Stoneham were squelched Thursday by Stoneham.

Said Stoneham in a statement: "I want to take this opportunity to deny all reports that a managerial change is contemplated."

That appeared to wipe out the cloud of uncertainty that had surrounded Dark's future since the appearance of a column in Newsday, a Long Island daily.

Dark called a special press conference before San Francisco's game Tuesday night in New York to deny making these statements plus others attributed to him by Isaacs.

Later on Tuesday, Associated Press sports writer Joe Reichler quoted an unidentified team official as saying Dark would be dismissed, possibly before the team returned home Aug. 14.

Dark called Stoneham's statement "heart - warming" and "above and beyond his duty."

"I really appreciate him doing this . . . he shouldn't have to step in every time a manager is misquoted," said Dark.

So it was back to baseball.

Farrell Gets That 11th Win

By MIKE RATHET
Associated Press Sports Writer

Dick Farrell of the Houston Colts, the first pitcher to win 10 games this year and who threatened to be the last to win 11, has ended a seven-week famine.

"I couldn't help wondering if it would ever come," Farrell said. There were 11 tries and six losses between victory No. 10 and 11.

Farrell, who had a brilliant 10-1 record on June 14, said he didn't think he was pressing at any time and hadn't thought about a 20-victory season.

Farrell has an 11-7 record now that the famine's ended, and has an outside chance to win 20. But he'd have to reel off the victories as quickly as he did the first 10.

Lead Is Cut

Farrell's victory trimmed the Phillies' edge to 1½ games over the second-place San Francisco Giants, who were not scheduled.

Third-place Cincinnati walloped Milwaukee 9-3 with a 15-hit attack and closed to within four games of the top, Pittsburgh defeated the Los Angeles Dodgers 4-1 and St. Louis downed the Chicago Cubs 5-3.

Farrell allowed only four hits before he was relieved in the ninth after Wes Covington doubled. Gus Triandos' single produced a run and brought in Jim Owens, who finally nailed Farrell's 11th by getting Tony Taylor to hit into a game-ending doubleplay.

The Colts scored their runs in the fourth against Chris Short, 10-6, on a triple by Al Spangler, Nellie Fox' double, a single by Walt Bond and Bob Aspromonte's sacrifice fly.

Deron Johnson and Frank Robinson produced most of the fireworks for the Reds, each collecting a triple, double and single. Vada Pinson chipped in with a homer and triggered a four-run seventh inning uprising against reliever Warren Spahn with a bunt single.

Hank Aaron was the Braves' attack, hitting a three-run homer.

Friend Wins 10th

Bill Mazeroski drove in three runs with a double and a single for the Pirates while Bob Friend, 10-11, kept nine Dodger hits well scattered. Consecutive triples by Manny Mota and Donnn Clendenon in the fifth produced the other Pittsburgh run.

Tommy Davis, the defending batting champion, stroked three singles for the Dodgers, extended his hitting streak to 18 games and lifted his average to .281.

Bill White doubled home two runs and Dick Groat drove in a pair with two singles for the Cardinals. Bob Gibson went 8 2-3 innnings but came out in the ninth. The Cubs scored one run and loaded the bases but Barney Schultz struck out Ernie Banks to end it.

The victory, squaring Gibson's record at 9-9, was his first since July 19.

Hornung to Play

NEW ORLEANS (AP)—Paul Hornung, Green Bay's great halfback who was suspended all last season for betting on his own team to win games, returns to the Packer lineup again Saturday night in an exhibition National Football League game with St. Louis.

Here's to you as good as you are,
And here's to me as bad as I am;
And as bad as I am, and as good as you are,
I'm as good as you are, as bad as I am.

* * *

Tourist—Hey, uncle! How far is it to Lexington?

Native—I dunno, Mister; hit used to be 'bout 25 miles; but th' way things has gone up around here, may be near 40 by now.

Half of the world is composed of people who have something to say and can't, and the other half who have nothing to say, and keep on saying it.

* * *

Mrs. Newlywed — I'm sorry, dear, but dinner is a little burnt tonight.

Mr. Newlywed — What? Did they have a fire at the delicatessen today?

Here's to the soldier who fights and loves—may he never lack for either.

Sally—I had a fall last night which left me unconsious for several hours.

Susie — You don't mean it? Where did you fall?

Sally—I fell asleep.

Billy Sunday once said: "Sometimes, before sending out my ushers, I urge people to give according to their means. When the report comes from the treasurer, I am tempted to believe they gave according to their meanness."

* * *

God gives every bird its food —but he does not throw it into the nest.

* * *

Mrs. Brown—While you were abroad did you visit the Holy Land?

Mrs. Bolfer—I didn't, but my husband did. He wouldn't go home until he'd played St. Andrews.

EMPLOYMENT

NOTICE TO JOB APPLICANTS
The Kingston Daily Freeman does not knowingly accept Help-Wanted advertisements from employers covered by the Federal Wage-Hour Law if they offer less than legal minimum wages. Most employes engaged in interstate or foreign commerce or in the production of goods for such commerce must be paid not less than $1.25 an hour and at least one and one-half times their regular rate of pay for hours worked after a maximum workweek of 40 hours, unless specifically exempt. Also, most employes in certain large retail, service, construction and other enterprises engaged in or producing goods for commerce, who have been entitled to a minimum wage of at least $1.00 an hour since September 3, 1961, must be paid overtime pay of not less than one and one-half times their regular rates for all hours worked after a maximum workweek of 44 hours, unless specifically exempt. If you are offered less by covered employers, or if you have questions concerning the Fair Labor Standards Act or other activities of the U. S. Department of Labor, call or write the Department's local office at 881 Gerard Ave., Bronx, N. Y. 10452 WYandotte 2-1235.

Luckless Trio

Last Texas Tower Going for Scrap

NANTUCKET, Mass. (AP)—The last of a luckless trio of Texas Tower radar platforms off the Atlantic Coast was under tow to a New Jersey scrap heap today.

Texas Tower III was stationed 30 miles off Nantucket on a shoal 50 feet deep. Ten tons of explosive tore it loose from its three giant legs Thursday afternoon. The 6,000 - ton platform dropped to the ocean with a mighty splash but it had been packed with flotation material to keep it from sinking. Lipsett division of the Luria Brothers of New York will salvage the scrap metal from the tower.

Demolition of the tower, one of two built in Portland, Mine, marked the end of a $60-million Air Force project that cost 29 lives. Fourteen Air Force crewmen and an equal number of civilian workers were killed when a tower plunged into the ocean 70 miles off New Jersey in a 1961 storm.

Saugerties Playoffs

Glasco A. C. Scores Win Over Michael's

Bill Fiscaletti hurled a brilliant five-hitter and Glasco Athletic Club upset pennant winning Michael's Barber Shop, 5-0, in the first game of a best-of-three playoff for the Saugerties Softball League title.

Ray Lasher's three-run homer in the first inning and a two-run single by Fiscaletti enabled the winners to beat W. C. Lindsay for the first time this season. Michael's went through the regular season without a loss.

First baseman Joe Benjamin tagged Fiscaletti for a triple. He also gave up six walks but his mates played good defensive ball behind him.

Takes His Own Advice

Last January, Harrington was giving a lecture on the physiological effects of smoking cigarettes. He opened a fresh pack and lit one to show the students the brown stain the smoke would make when blown through a handkerchief.

"While talking to them," Harrington says, "I convinced myself. I still have the other 19 cigarettes in the pack. I quit smoking then and there."

Would deluxe kicker Don Chandler have yielded so easily to the New York Giants' demand he be a full-time player . . . or else . . . if he knew a club in the Western Division was ready to take him on his own terms (commuting to Tulsa between games)? And that the deal was tentatively made if he held firm?

The Forest Hills racket guys (West Side Tennis Club, that is) are running scared after losing the Davis Cup matches to Cleveland. They hired a public relations outfit to boom the national singles and head off another evacuation. . . .

Gerry Lindgren, the precocious 18-year-old who has revolutionized all concepts about age and distance running, has some eye-opening thoughts on pace. During one 5,000-meter jog this summer he was tempted to open up all the way during the middle of the race . . . "I felt so good," he explained, "that I really wanted to run a sprint lap, but I was afraid of what people might think of me." . . .

Gerry Lindgren

Age apparently isn't what's bothering Warren Spahn this summer—at least, according to manager Bobby Bragan. The Milwaukee skipper has told intimates the slump of the 43-year-old southpaw is due to the extra eight pounds he's carrying around his middle—which slows up his fielding. . . .

Rico Carty, the heavy-hitting rookie outfielder of the Braves, showed he packed a wallop in his fists when he connected with Frank Thomas of the Mets. And he has a ring background with eight victories in nine bouts. So why baseball? . . . "When guys started hitting me back," he explained, "I quit." . . . He's also a converted catcher—except in the ring.

Sure sign that Gene Mauch is running his own ship in Philadelphia: the farming of Dallas Green, the young Delaware product who has always been a pet of Phillies' owner Bob Carpenter.

Solly Hemus is generally a taboo subject around the New York Mets since Casey Stengel canned him last winter (Solly caught on as a Cleveland coach and is living happily ever after). But second baseman Ron Hunt doesn't keep his gratitude to Solly a secret. . . . "He put in the word with the Mets' front office," says Ron, "which got me my chance. And during the instructional camp my first winter he helped me with extra batting practice and tips on certain pitchers." . . .

The word straight from second baseman Bill Mazeroski of the Pirates: "The best glove man in the National League is Ruben Amaro (the all-purpose infielder of the Phillies)." . . . So what does that make Bobby Wine, the other Philadelphia shortstop, who won a Golden Glove last year as the best fielder at his position? . . .

The boom of pro football: Commissioner Pete Rozelle has had a dozen guys coming into his office this summer trying to peddle film and television projects to supplement the $14.1 million deal with CBS. . . . And the network already has a full hour show on tap for Saturday afternoons during the season to round up what's going on in the league. . . . Did you know the NFL has its own TWX network to let all clubs know immediately who's put on waivers?

Third baseman John Kennedy and shortstop Eddie Brinkman of Washington remind me, class-wise, of Brooks Robinson and Ron Hansen when they were precocious prodigies for Baltimore.

Between you'n'me, when hurdler Hayes Jones hangs 'em up, after the Olympics, he goes into coaching full-time—but only girls. He has his own femme team already lined up in Detroit, with eight competitors. . . .

Apache Wins Championship With 7-0 Seneca Triumph

Apache whitewashed Seneca, 7-0, and finished the Metropolitan Knothole league season with a 13-2 record, winning the league title by three games over runnerup Seneca.

Navajo	7	8
Sioux	4	11
Mohawk	4	11

Glenn and Gordon Stoutenburg allowed the losers only two safeties. Gordon hit his third homer of the season to pace the attack. Second baseman Rich Rockwell collected three singles. Doug Brayman doubled twice for the losers.

No Hong Kong Report of Plane Shift to Hanoi

HONG KONG (AP) — American military intelligence sources in Hong Kong said today they had nothing to substantiate reports from Nationalist Chinese military sources that Red China sent about 100 Soviet-built MIG fighters to Hanoi Thursday to reinforce the North Vietnamese air force.

The Hong Kong sources also said there appeared to be no foundation, on the basis of available U.S. intelligence reports, to Taipei reports of "feverish air redeployment" in the southwest China provinces bordering on North Viet Nam.

Earlier, U.S. intelligence sources in Hong Kong had described as "highly inflated" Chinese Nationalist reports that large Chinese Communist army units had been shifted from central China to the southern border provinces.

"There has been some activity in the border provinces but nothing resembling mass movement of troops," one source said.

The Nationalist sources said their information came from intelligence dispatches which also reported that the Communist Chinese had reinforced some of their own air units in Kwangsi and Yunnan provinces, just over the border from North Viet Nam, and on Hainan Island, on the eastern side of the Gulf of Tonkin.

Military sources said there also was a sudden increase in air traffic between Yunnan and Hanoi Thursday, indicating material was being rush to North Viet Nam from the Chinese province.

A "conversation piece" is an unusual article likely to attract attention and provide a subject for conversation.

Luckless Trio

Last Texas Tower Going for Scrap

NANTUCKET, Mass. (AP)—The last of a luckless trio of Texas Tower radar platforms off the Atlantic Coast was under tow to a New Jersey scrap heap today.

Texas Tower III was stationed 30 miles off Nantucket on a shoal 50 feet deep. Ten tons of explosive tore it loose from its three giant legs Thursday afternoon. The 6,000 - ton platform dropped to the ocean with a mighty splash but it had been packed with flotation material to keep it from sinking. Lipsett division of the Luria Brothers of New York will salvage the scrap metal from the tower.

Demolition of the tower, one of two built in Portland, Mine, marked the end of a $60-million Air Force project that cost 29 lives. Fourteen Air Force crewmen and an equal number of civilian workers were killed when a tower plunged into the ocean 70 miles off New Jersey in a 1961 storm.

Glasco A. C. Scores Win Over Michael's

Bill Fiscaletti hurled a brilliant five-hitter and Glasco Athletic Club upset pennant winning Michael's Barber Shop, 5-0, in the first game of a best-of-three playoff for the Saugerties Softball League title.

Ray Lasher's three-run homer in the first inning and a two-run single by Fiscaletti enabled the winners to beat W. C. Lindsay for the first time this season. Michael's went through the regular season without a loss.

First baseman Joe Benjamin tagged Fiscaletti for a triple. He also gave up six walks but his mates played good defensive ball behind him.

Last January, Harrington was giving a lecture on the physiological effects of smoking cigarettes. He opened a fresh pack and lit one to show the students the brown stain the smoke would make when blown through a handkerchief.

"While talking to them," Harrington says, "I convinced myself. I still have the other 19 cigarettes in the pack. I quit smoking then and there."

Would deluxe kicker Don Chandler have yielded so easily to the New York Giants' demand he be a full-time player . . . or else . . . if he knew a club in the Western Division was ready to take him on his own terms (commuting to Tulsa between games)? And that the deal was tentatively made if he held firm?

The Forest Hills racket guys (West Side Tennis Club, that is) are running scared after losing the Davis Cup matches to Cleveland. They hired a public relations outfit to boom the national singles and head off another evacuation. . . .

Gerry Lindgren, the precocious 18-year-old who has revolutionized all concepts about age and distance running, has some eye-opening thoughts on pace. During one 5,000-meter jog this summer he was tempted to open up all the way during the middle of the race . . . "I felt so good," he explained, "that I really wanted to run a sprint lap, but I was afraid of what people might think of me." . . .

Gerry Lindgren

Age apparently isn't what's bothering Warren Spahn this summer—at least, according to manager Bobby Bragan. The Milwaukee skipper has told intimates the slump of the 43-year-old southpaw is due to the extra eight pounds he's carrying around his middle—which slows up his fielding. . . .

Rico Carty, the heavy-hitting rookie outfielder of the Braves, showed he packed a wallop in his fists when he connected with Frank Thomas of the Mets. And he has a ring background with eight victories in nine bouts. So why baseball? . . . "When guys started hitting me back," he explained, "I quit." . . . He's also a converted catcher—except in the ring.

Sure sign that Gene Mauch is running his own ship in Philadelphia: the farming of Dallas Green, the young Delaware product who has always been a pet of Phillies' owner Bob Carpenter.

Solly Hemus is generally a taboo subject around the New York Mets since Casey Stengel canned him last winter (Solly caught on as a Cleveland coach and is living happily ever after). But second baseman Ron Hunt doesn't keep his gratitude to Solly a secret. . . . "He put in the word with the Mets' front office," says Ron, "which got me my chance. And during the instructional camp my first winter he helped me with extra batting practice and tips on certain pitchers." . . .

The word straight from second baseman Bill Mazeroski of the Pirates: "The best glove man in the National League is Ruben Amaro (the all-purpose infielder of the Phillies)." . . . So what does that make Bobby Wine, the other Philadelphia shortstop, who won a Golden Glove last year as the best fielder at his position? . . .

The boom of pro football: Commissioner Pete Rozelle has had a dozen guys coming into his office this summer trying to peddle film and television projects to supplement the $14.1 million deal with CBS. . . . And the network already has a full hour show on tap for Saturday afternoons during the season to round up what's going on in the league. . . . Did you know the NFL has its own TWX network to let all clubs know immediately who's put on waivers?

Third baseman John Kennedy and shortstop Eddie Brinkman of Washington remind me, class-wise, of Brooks Robinson and Ron Hansen when they were precocious prodigies for Baltimore.

Between you'n'me, when hurdler Hayes Jones hangs 'em up, after the Olympics, he goes into coaching full-time—but only girls. He has his own femme team already lined up in Detroit, with eight competitors. . . .

No Hong Kong Report of Plane Shift to Hanoi

HONG KONG (AP) — American military intelligence sources in Hong Kong said today they had nothing to substantiate reports from Nationalist Chinese military sources that Red China sent about 100 Soviet-built MIG fighters to Hanoi Thursday to reinforce the North Vietnamese air force.

The Hong Kong sources also said there appeared to be no foundation, on the basis of available U.S. intelligence reports, to Taipei reports of "feverish air redeployment" in the southwest China provinces bordering on North Viet Nam.

Earlier, U.S. intelligence sources in Hong Kong had described as "highly inflated" Chinese Nationalist reports that large Chinese Communist army units had been shifted from central China to the southern border provinces.

"There has been some activity in the border provinces but nothing resembling mass movement of troops," one source said.

The Nationalist sources said their information came from intelligence dispatches which also reported that the Communist Chinese had reinforced some of their own air units in Kwangsi and Yunnan provinces, just over the border from North Viet Nam, and on Hainan Island, on the eastern side of the Gulf of Tonkin.

Military sources said there also was a sudden increase in air traffic between Yunnan and Hanoi Thursday, indicating material was being rush to North Viet Nam from the Chinese province.

Record Heat Still Sears U. S. Sector

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Hardest hit by the searing, lingering heat were Oklahoma, southern Kansas, Arkansas, Texas and Northwestern Louisiana.

A reading of 113 degrees Thursday at Wichita Falls, Tex., was the highest temperature ever recorded there.

Early morning readings today ranged from the 40s in the northern Appalachians to the 90s in northwestern Texas, Oklahoma and scattered areas of the Southwest.

Philadelphia recorded 54, setting a record low for the date. The previous mark of 55 was set in 1957.

Elsewhere a few thundershowers fell along the Gulf Coast, north into the central Plains and across the Western mountains.

CORE to Collect Clothes, Books For Mississippi

Ulster County Chapter of the Congress of Racial Equality is conducting a collection drive for new and good used clothing and books, especially school books to be sent to Mississippi.

The first of a series of collections will begin Saturday in the Sixth Ward area between 1 and 3 p. m.

A pick-up truck marked with signs will drive through the area to make pick-ups.

ALBANY, N. Y. (AP) — Extended forecasts, prepared by the U.S. Weather Bureau, from 7 a.m. Saturday to 7 a.m. Thursday:

Eastern New York — Temperatures will continue below normal with little day-to-day change indicated. Precipitation will be generally light and spotty with scattered showers early Saturday and about mid week.

Western New York — Cooler weather, averaging 3 to 5 degrees below normal, is indicated for Saturday through Wednesday night. It will be coolest Saturday and Sunday and warmer toward the middle of next week. Rainfall will average one half to three quarters of an inch in scattered showers and thundershowers around the middle of next week.

The Chatham planning unit, it was noted, has repeatedly pointed out that if the Ghent dump is closed it would result in an acute and dangerous condition for all residents of the township.

Since the state law was passed on landfill operations, many Columbia County towns and the City of Hudson have converted to landfill operations.

The Columbia County health officials said that Chatham and Ghent are among a few townships in the county that have failed to take appropriate action on switching to landfill operations.

Commenting on the Kingston sanitary landfill site at Kingston Point, Mayor Schwenk said, "The county Health Officer has approved both the site and the method to be used, and the State Health Department has inspected the site and reviewed the planned disposal method for compliance with the state sanitary code."

Notes Aid on Purchase

The mayor reported the city has entered into conditional contracts for the purchase of the necessary land under state and federally financed programs for the acquisition of recreation land. Under these grants, the mayor noted, the city will receive 95 per cent of the purchase price of the land for the John F. Kennedy Park at Kingston Point.

"Permission has been granted," the mayor said, "to use the land for a sanitary landfill—reclamation project without payment to the present owners, nor is any tax concession to be granted."

Mayor Schwenk further stated that all necessary funds to set up and operate the sanitary landfill project are covered in the 1964 budget, with the exception of $1,300 for fencing which was provided by a budget note approved by the Common Council at the July 7th meeting.

More than 27 million Americans ride bicycles, according to the Encyclopaedia Britannica.

Barry Seeks Advice From Colleagues

WASHINGTON (AP) — Republican presidential nominee Barry Goldwater told congressional colleagues today he wants their advice on issues and strategy in the coming campaign.

Rep. John Rhodes of Arizona and Sen. John Tower of Texas gave that report after Goldwater spent an hour at a closed-door breakfast meeting with GOP Senate and House members.

Keating on Hand

About 100 were invited to the session, second in two days. Goldwater aides said most of them were on hand.

Among them was Sen. Kenneth B. Keating of New York, who has said he cannot as of now support the national ticket. Keating left with no comment as to whether the session had affected his views.

"It was a cordial, personal meeting" he told newsmen.

Rhodes said Goldwater plans to open his presidential campaign formally at Prescott, Ariz., on Sept. 4.

Meanwhile, Goldwater's press secretary, Tony Smith, said the senator has written a letter to former Vice President Richard M. Nixon explaining his declaration at the national convention that "extremism in the defense of liberty is no vice."

Smith said Nixon apparently wrote Goldwater asking for clarification of that statement. He said the former vice president is expected to make the letter public in New York.

Rep. William E. Miller of New York, the vice-presidential nominee, said after the meeting he thinks both Keating and Sen. Hugh Scott of Pennsylvania eventually will support the ticket.

Plans Thorough Coverage

Tower said Goldwater indicated "a desire to get some consensus of thinking" from Republican members of the House and Senate on campaign issues.

He said Goldwater told the congressmen he intended to "cover the country as thoroughly as possible" during the presidential campaign.

Rhodes said Goldwater and Miller declared "they intend to have a united party behind them if it's at all possible to do so."

Thursday, Goldwater spurned the support of people who act "in a violent way against law and order."

Released From Jail

Rabbis End Fast, Gobble Up Steak

TALLAHASSEE, Fla. (AP) — Two rabbis, who were jailed Monday along with seven other clergymen on a three-year-old sit-in charge, got out Thursday night and headed straight for the dinner table.

They said they had been fasting for the four days.

'Best Fast Ever'

"It was the best fast I ever had," said Rabbi Israel Dresner of Springfield, N.J.

He and Rabbi Martin Freedman of Paterson, N.J., said the fasting had been a personal protest against racial injustice.

The clergymen — six whites and three Negroes — were released from jail Thursday night by the same judge that had found them guilty of unlawful assembly in 1961 during a "freedom ride" testing an Interstate Commerce Commission order wiping out segregation at transportation terminals.

"The judge, in effect, threw us out of jail," said the Rev. John W. Collier of Newark, N.J., Negro pastor of the Israel Memorial AME Church. "He said we were not needed in Tallahassee. He said we were needed in the North to quell riots."

The clergymen, still in blue denim uniforms, were taken from jail to the courtroom late in the day. Municipal Judge John Rudd read an order reversing a previous decision on a petition for mitigation of sentence.

Sentence Reduced

He reduced the 60-day sentence, which the clergymen had chosen over $500 fines, to the time they already had served. The surprise action ended three years of fruitless appeals and came just as new appeals were being started.

"One result of Judge Rudd's action was that each of us now has a permanent criminal record, a fact that Judge Rudd informed us about with considerable relish," the clergymen told a news conference in a prepared statement.

However, they said: "We interpret our release as a victory for the cause of civil rights and an admission by the city that the original case was without foundation."

They said they had been treated fairly in jail, although the Negroes were cursed one day by a guard while stacking brick. They said a complaint had been made to prison officials and profanity had stopped.

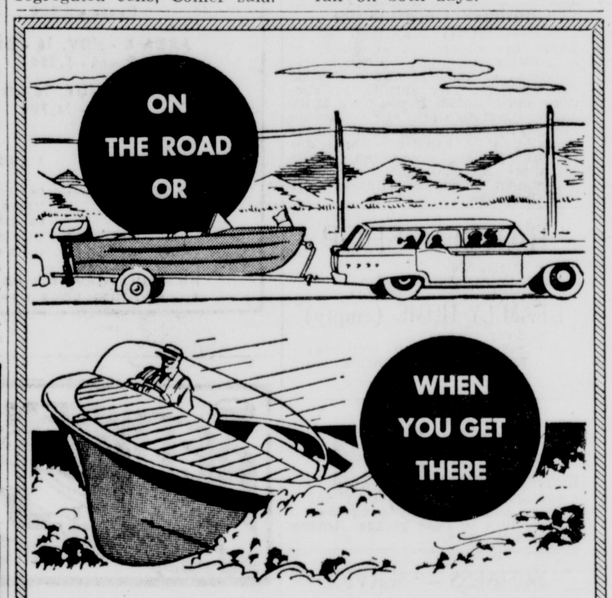

Their only objection to the four-day stay in prison was the segregated cells, Collier said.

Directors Wind Up Arrangements For County Fair

Final plans for the 1964 Ulster County Fair, here on August 19 and 20, were made at a meeting of the board of directors of the Ulster County Agricultural Society, sponsors of the fair, Tuesday night.

C. Chester DuMond Jr., of Ulster Park, president of the Agricultural Society, said that more entries are being received in some departments, especially the 4-H. Being a free admission fair, DuMond said that he would like to see more commercial exhibits to help cover the cost of staging the fair. "Practically all of the work is done by volunteers but the expense of tent rentals, providing special electrical service, interest on the premium money, liability insurance, equipment storage, etc., must be covered if the fair is to continue year after year."

The County Fair takes place at Forsyth Park in Kingston, starting at 10 a. m. on Wednesday, Aug. 19. The fair will be open Wednesday night and all day Thursday, closing at 5 p. m. Everyone is invited to visit the fair on both days.

Your boat, trailer and accessories should be protected by insurance. They represent a big investment.

Fire, theft . . damage to other boats and liability insurance are available in any combination. The cost is reasonable.

Sentence Reduced

He reduced the 60-day sentence, which the clergymen had chosen over $500 fines, to the time they already had served. The surprise action ended three years of fruitless appeals and came just as new appeals were being started.

"One result of Judge Rudd's action was that each of us now has a permanent criminal record, a fact that Judge Rudd informed us about with considerable relish," the clergymen told a news conference in a prepared statement.

However, they said: "We interpret our release as a victory for the cause of civil rights and an admission by the city that the original case was without foundation."

They said they had been treated fairly in jail, although the Negroes were cursed one day by a guard while stacking brick. They said a complaint had been made to prison officials and profanity had stopped.

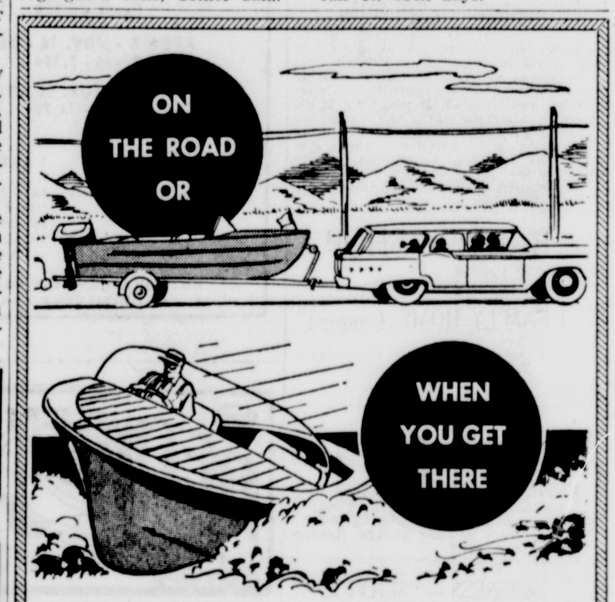

Their only objection to the four-day stay in prison was the segregated cells, Collier said.

Directors Wind Up Arrangements For County Fair

Final plans for the 1964 Ulster County Fair, here on August 19 and 20, were made at a meeting of the board of directors of the Ulster County Agricultural Society, sponsors of the fair, Tuesday night.

C. Chester DuMond Jr., of Ulster Park, president of the Agricultural Society, said that more entries are being received in some departments, especially the 4-H. Being a free admission fair, DuMond said that he would like to see more commercial exhibits to help cover the cost of staging the fair. "Practically all of the work is done by volunteers but the expense of tent rentals, providing special electrical service, interest on the premium money, liability insurance, equipment storage, etc., must be covered if the fair is to continue year after year."

The County Fair takes place at Forsyth Park in Kingston, starting at 10 a. m. on Wednesday, Aug. 19. The fair will be open Wednesday night and all day Thursday, closing at 5 p. m. Everyone is invited to visit the fair on both days.

Your boat, trailer and accessories should be protected by insurance. They represent a big investment.

Fire, theft . . damage to other boats and liability insurance are available in any combination. The cost is reasonable.
